They witnessed one of the best games played on the Nebraska gridiron this season, and what was the best part of it to all Nebraska spectators, the Nebraska team won with a score of 22 to 0. They returned home after the game.

This office received a card from Robert Vierboom, of Highland Falls, N. Y., who was here for a visit of several weeks this summer. The card was mailed from New York City and was as follows: "I am here with the army team; we hope to take Notre Dame over this afternoon." But Robert was disappointed as Notre Dame took the army to a surprise cleaning with a score of 13 to 12. It was one of the biggest football upsets of the year.

John Barrett, of Omaha, drove up Tuesday morning to attend the funeral of Monsignor M. F. Cassidy. Mr. Barrett is a member of the Douglas county bar, with offices on the south side, and during the legislative session of 1917 was one of the representatives from Douglas county in the state legislature. Mr. Barrett was a traveling salesman about twenty-five years ago and made his headquarters here for several months, so that he became well acquainted with the young people of those days. He left for his home shortly after the funeral.

Last Friday the Epworth League of the Methodist church sponsored a Sunset Social, the guests being folks of 60 years and over. Over forty invitations were sent out, but owing to age, sickness and rain only about half were able to respond. An interesting program of music and a talk by Rev. Aucock opened the program. This was followed by a stereopticon lecture on the Hawaiian Islands. The social ended with a delightful dinner at five o'clock, after which the guests were taken to their homes. It is hoped that this may become an annual event.

STEPHEN DONLIN

Stephen Donlin died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Sullivan, in this city last Saturday evening, December 2, 1933, after an illness of about one year of cancer of the stomach at the age of 75 years, 11 months and 19 days.

Stephen Donlin was born in Audenreed, Pennsylvania, on December 23, 1857, the oldest son of John and Margaret Donlin. When he was a young man of twenty, in the spring of 1887 his parents moved to this county and located on the Eagle about 20 miles north of this city, where Stephen lived for several years, before he purchased a place on the Eagle about four miles west and a mile south of the home of his parents, when he moved to his own farm.

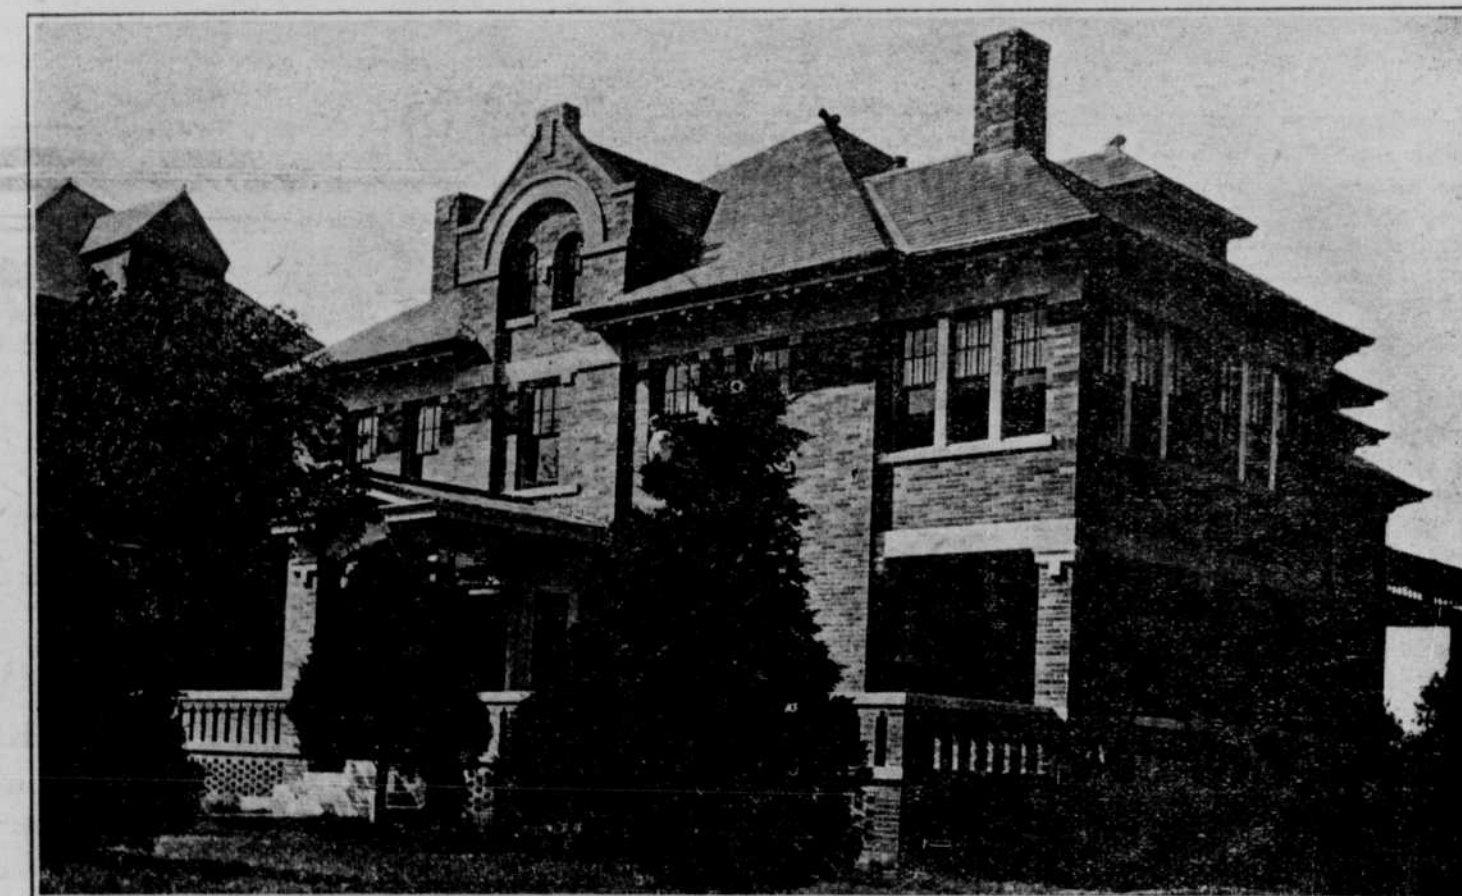

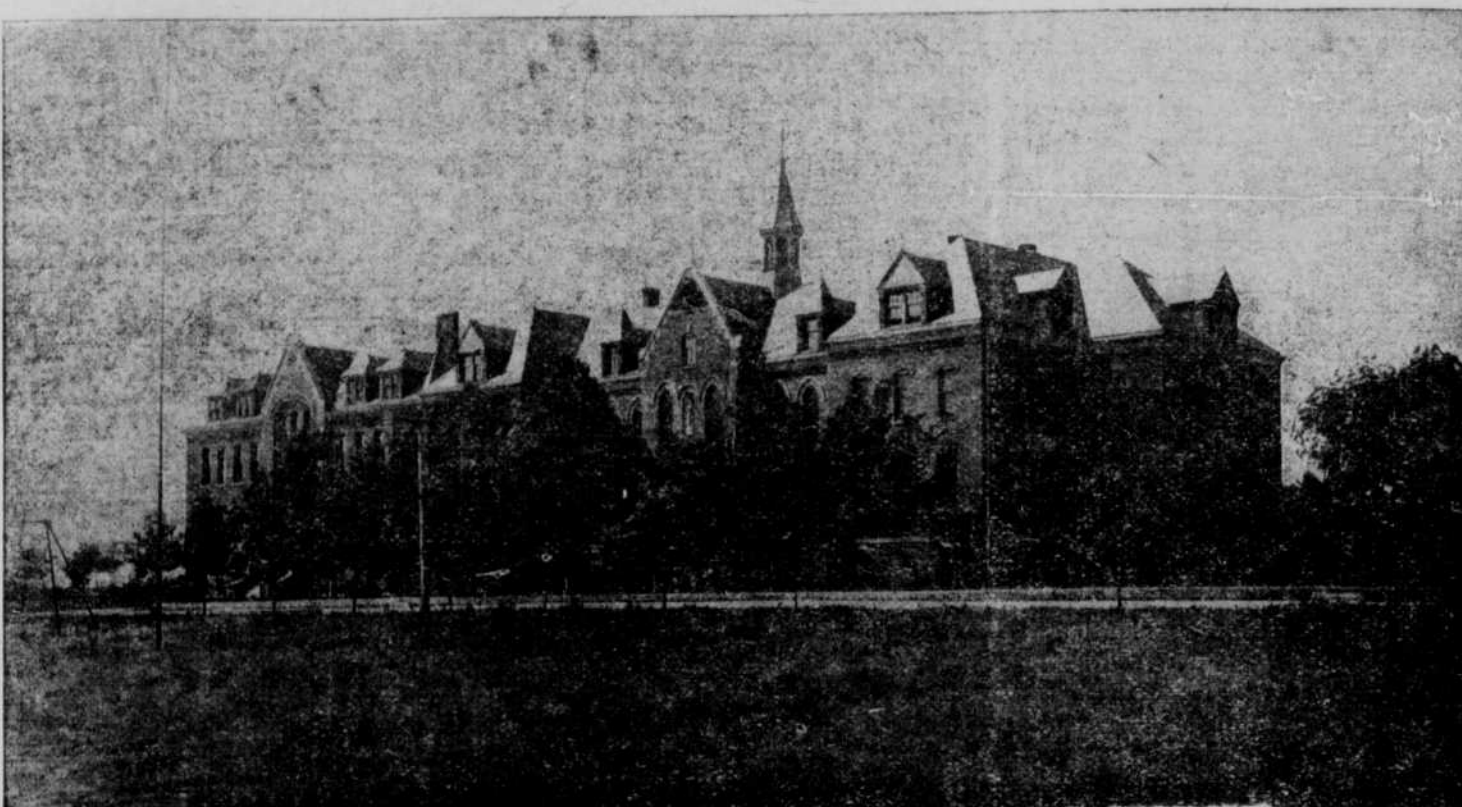

In 1892 he was united in marriage to Miss Catherine Mullen. To this union two sons were born, John J. of this county and Edward W., of Omaha. Mrs. Donlin passed away on October 13, 1895, and shortly after this Mr. Donlin went to Pittsburg, Pa., where he was in the employ of his brother-in-law, John McCaffrey, for 16 years. In 1911 he returned to this county and farmed his place, northwest of this city, since that time.

In 1913 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Gregory, of County Wicklow, Ireland, who with four children, John J., Edward, Mrs. Harry Sullivan and James Donlin, are left to mourn the death of a kind and loving husband and father. In addition he leaves one sister, Mrs. John McCaffery, of Pittsburg, who came here to assist in caring for him during his last illness, and two brothers, Thomas and John Donlin of this city. He is also survived by one grandson, Robert Donlin, of Omaha.

Mr. Donlin was a robust man and always enjoyed good health, until the past year, when he began failing. Physicians informed him that he was suffering from cancer, but he failed to give up and continued active until about seven weeks ago when he had a severe spell and he was brought to O'Neill by his wife and son and taken to the home of his daughter in this city, Mrs. Harry Sullivan, so that he could receive better care than he could out on the farm, so far from town. For the past week his condition had been serious and he passed peacefully away last Saturday evening.

Mr. Donlin was one of the pioneers of the county, coming here with his parents 56 years ago last spring, and, except the 16 years he spent in Pennsylvania, had been a resident here ever since. He endured all the hardships and privations of the early days, drouth, grasshoppers and Indian scares and succeeded in making a splendid home for his loved ones. He was a splendid citizen, a good neighbor and a loyal friend. It was such men as

Catholic Church and Buildings In O'Neill Erected Under the Direction of Monsignor M. F. Cassidy

(Top) St. Patrick's Church, O'Neill. The corner stone was laid on August 9, 1909, and the church was dedicated on October 19, 1910.
(Center) St. Mary's Academy. The original building was built in 1900. A large new addition was added in 1911, and now twenty-two Sisters are looking after the educational wants of about 275 pupils, many of them from states other than Nebraska.

Steve Donlin that made this county the splendid place it is today, and his passing will be sincerely mourned by a large number of friends and acquaintances thruout the county.

His remains were taken to the home of his brother, Thomas Donlin, Sunday afternoon. The funeral was held from St. Patrick's church last Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Leahy celebrating the mass. The pall bearers were: John Sullivan, Peter Duffy, Thomas and John Donohoe, Martin Langan and B. J. Grady, all old-time friends of the deceased. The high esteem in which Mr. Donlin was held was shown by the large number who attended the funeral to pay their last respects to their departed friend. The following out of town relatives were present at the funeral: Mrs. Thomas Regan, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Donlin, Fort Randall, S. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kirk, Spencer, and Mrs. Vernon Koenig, Bonesteel S. D.

OVER THE STATE

The Nebraska Cornhuskers closed one of their most successful football seasons on the Lincoln gridiron last Thursday when they took the Oregon Aggies into camp with a score of 22 to 0. Oregon had previously defeated Fordham 9 to 6; held Southern California to a scoreless tie. Nebraska had been beaten by Pittsburg, the only game lost this season. Pittsburg was defeated by Minnesota and Minnesota was tied by Indiana, Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan. Iowa defeated Purdue and Nebraska defeated Iowa. So figure out for yourself the position this gives Nebraska in the galaxy of star football teams for the year 1933.

Paul Schultz, 38, was being held at Valentine Thursday following a quarrel Wednesday night at the George Denton farm near there which resulted in the fatal shooting of John C. Adams, 35. According to the police, Schultz allegedly shot Adams after a quarrel in which he accused Adams of undue familiarity with Mrs. Schultz. The two men lived in separate houses on the Denton farm. Police state that Adams was in the basement of the Denton home when Schultz entered and accused him. The two were separated by Denton. Schultz returned to his house, secured a small bore gun and returned to the Denton home. Police said that he shot Schultz in the back. Adams died almost instantly.

Frank Day, father of Judge L. B. Day of the Nebraska supreme court, died at his home at Albion last Wednesday after an 18 months illness. A retired farmer, he had lived in the vicinity of Albion for forty years.

Tribute was paid in the supreme court last Monday to Andrew M. Morrissy, a former chief justice of the court, at a memorial service. A formal resolution in honor of Judge Morrissy was presented by Harney Johnson, of Omaha, on behalf of a committee named to draft an appropriate remembrance. Separate tributes were given by Frank Williams of Albion, John W. Delehant of Beatrice and George Turner of Lincoln, others of the committee. Turner also read a tribute to Morrissy prepared by Arthur F. Mullen of Omaha, the other member of the committee who was unable to be present. Tribute was also paid from the bench with brief remarks from Judges Paine, Good and Goss.

Hog thieves are active in the vicinity of Howells. They recently took 37 porkers from a herd of 300 on the Wenzel Simeri farm.

Three Norfolk men, Frank Rost, Joe Abdullah and Frank Finley were injured, the first two seriously, when struck by an automobile while standing on the pavement west of Norfolk early Sunday. Authorities said the car was driven by Roy Rees, young Norfolk farmer. Abdullah's right leg was mangled and his elbow, collar bone and shoulder blade were fractured. Rost suffered a fractured skull, fractures to the right leg and arm and was paralyzed on the right side. Attendants said that he was near death. The three men had stopped to aid a motorist whose car was in the ditch, and were struck while going back to their automobile on the edge of the pavement. Finley was injured slightly.
