SIMMONS FLAYS THE NEW DEAL IN TALK HERE WEDNESDAY

Says Democrats Have Failed In Their Promise To Cut Cost Of Government 25 Percent.

Former Congressman Robert G. Simmons, now the republican candidate for United States senator, addressed the people of O'Neill last Wednesday evening. Owing to the weather the crowd was not as large as it would otherwise have been, but those who were there listened attentively to his remarks and at the conclusion of his address he was warmly congratulated by many of his audience for his enlightening address.

"You can repeal the NRA, the AAA, and all the other alphabetical mixups but you can't repeal the staggering debt burden placed upon us in the past 18 months," declared "Bob" Simmons, republican candidate for U. S. senator, in an address in O'Neill Wednesday evening in which he denounced the wholesale repudiation by the democratic party of its pledges made two years ago.

The fighting candidate who declares that the hog processing tax is the most brutally unfair tribute ever levied upon any industry said that estimates show Nebraska's share of the eighteen months' deficit under the present administration amounts to $60,000,000.

"Neither you or I, or our children," he said, "will see the day when the cost of the 18 months' spending by the new deal will be paid. If anybody tells us Nebraska won't pay its share they are insulting your intelligence. Nebraska is paying its share and will continue to do so. The farmer is getting it "in the neck" four times for his recovery.

"People talk about Santa Claus but even your six-year-old child knows that the bills for Santa Claus come out of papa's pocket. And this Santa Claus spending of the new deal is coming out of the taxpayer's pocket."

Simmons said that the administration would seek to soothe the fears of the farmers, just before election, by giving them corn hog checks.

"That money comes out of the farmer's pocket," he said, "and he only gets part of what he paid. The rest went to pay the salaries and mileage expense of an army of bureaucrats who roam the middlewest meddling in the farmer's business, at his expense."

All these measures were originally described as emergency legislation, Simmons said, but now Johnson, Tugwell, Wallace are attempting to fasten them permanently upon America, with added living costs and middleclass interfering, bureaucratic government under the guise of what they call planned economy.

"The democratic party received its mandate from the people two years ago," said Simmons, "and their platform pledged a 25 percent reduction in the cost of government, the lifting of government hands from business, the curbing of monopolies and trusts, halting centralization of power in Washington and the growth of bureaus and commissions.

"The extent to which these promises have been broken is a matter of common knowledge.

"The pledge of economy would have been a farce, if the staggering debt burden placed upon us in 18 months of wild and unchecked spending wasn't such a staggering blow at our economic well being. All the savings of 10 years of republican economy have been wiped out, and the president says that unless Congress stops his spending the debt will reach 32 billion.

"The interest rate on the public debt of 32 billion would be a billion dollars a year."

In a slashing attack on the increased cost of living that has resulted from the NRA, Simmons said that everybody is paying for the recovery program in the form of processing taxes, income taxes, corporation taxes and nuisance taxes.

"Everyone in the middlewest," he said, "is affected every time he buys a spool of thread or a plank of lumber, whether it is a sack of sugar or a sack of cement.

"Nebraska with one per cent of the population is paying one per cent of the recovery program and if any demagogue attempts to tell you Nebraska won't have to pay its share he is insulting your intelligence."

"Word comes from Washington that another $500,000,000 is needed (Continued on page 8, column 1.)

Sheep To Be Purchased By The Government At $2 A Head For Ewes

Holt county farmers having distressed sheep have been asked to list them with local committeemen if they care to sell them to the federal government. Buying, it is indicated, will start soon in counties where large numbers of sheep are listed.

Prof. H. J. Gramlich, state director of the drouth relief service, has notified Agricultural Agen F. M. Reece that the buying of sheep will be done with about the same machinery utilized in purchasing cattle. Ewes, 1 year and over, will be purchased at $2, per head. Fifty per cent of the payment goes to the producer and fifty per cent to the lienholder. The latter's consent must be had before any purchases can be made.

In regard to cattle buying, producers are also being asked to list their needs with their drouth committee members so the second half of the purchasing program can be completed. Up until September 18, a total of 5,362 head had been bought by the federal government in Holt county.

"We would be tickled to death if we did not have to buy another single animal," Prof. H. J. Gramlich said in Lincoln this week. "We are hoping that prices on the open market will advance so producers can get more for their animals. One thing everyone should keep in mind is that this program is an emergency one and is not a buying agency. We are particularly anxious that cattlemen get the highest price for their animals wherever possible."

The buying of purebred cattle will start as soon as the necessary organization is completed. People having purebred cattle to sell are urged to write Agricultural Agent Reece the number of such cattle they wish to sell. No strings will be attached to the purebred sales as it is to be an out and out sale to the Department of Indian affairs.

4-H Club Baby Bees Calves Sell Higher

Nebraska 4-H baby bees exhibited at the state fair last week and sold in public auction have pleased packer buyers, Agricultural Agent F. M. Reece has been informed by L. I. Fribbie, state club leader at the college of agriculture in Lincoln.

Packers expressed themselves as being pleased with the condition of the carcasses. The dressing percentage on the steers was 63.6 per cent and on the heifer was 63.1 per cent.

The 4-H beves auctioned off at the close of the fair netted boys and girls more than did those exhibited in 1933. The steers averaged $9.07 while the heifers averaged $8.30. This was $2.45 higher on the steers and $2.15 more on the heifers than in 1933.

BINDWEED CONTROL DEMONSTRATION TO BE FRIDAY, SEPT. 28

Demonstrations Will Be Held On Three Farms At 10:00 A. M. 1:30 P. M. And 3:30 P. M.

Demonstrations in the control of bindweed will be held in Holt county next Wednesday, Sept. 26. These demonstrations will be held on three different farms, namely: Fritz Vogel farm east of Stuart at 10 a. m.; the J. K. Ernst farm northwest of O'Neill at 1:30 p. m., and the Anton Soukup farm north of Page at 3:30 p. m.

Farmers in these vicinities are cordially invited to attend as Mr. Peterson is a very interesting and instructive speaker.

Several Nebraska farmers are getting the best of their bindweeds by following four definite steps which cost practically nothing in cash outlay, Arthur Peterson will tell farmers of this county who come out to the meetings.

The first step is to begin summer fallowing stubble land immediately after the small grain is taken off in June or July. A duck foot cultivator is used. The second step is to summer fallow again in the spring until June. The third step is to plant some heavy, smother crop like cane when the growing conditions are good in June or early July. The fourth step is to put the land in a row crop like corn the following year and watch for the surviving weeds.

This procedure, Nebraska farmers have found, does not cost much except the work, and loses no crop if the growing conditions are good. It may be necessary to extend the procedure over another two year period in order to finish the job, but that can be done if necessary.

Boy Injured When Struck By An Auto

Richard, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Clark, of Emmet, was injured when struck and knocked down by a car on the intersection of Fourth and Everett Tuesday noon. The little lad was crossing the street as the car came along. The driver saw the little boy and stopped the car. Then, after he had crossed the street, and the driver had again started forward he started back across the street and was hit by the car and knocked down, but the driver managed to stop the car before it passed over the little fellow. Richard was taken to the hospital and his injuries dressed. He was bruised and scratched up some but was not seriously injured and was taken home Wednesday morning. The driver of the car, a gentleman from Neligh went to the doctors office as soon as he had parked his car, and expressed his sincere regret over the accident. He was held blameless in the matter.

Her husband died on April 19, 1893, leaving her with a large family of children which she kept together, and who have grown to manhood and womanhood, and have loved and respected her always, as a good mother.

Mrs. Jones was one of the oldest settlers of the county. Fifty-five years ago she came to this county with her husband. Holt county at that time was a bleak and barren prairie, no trees, except a few along the creeks. Like the other pioneer settlers she endured all the hardships and privations of pioneer life. Grasshoppers, which infested this section in the later seventies, blizzards and drouth and hard times. But like all true pioneers she persevered and lived to see the section that was selected for their future home fill up with a fine class of thrifty, intelligent people and the county become one of the leading ones of the state.

EMMA B. JONES PASSES AWAY

Death Comes Tuesday Morning To One Of County's Pioneers.

Mrs. Emma B. Jones died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dave Loy last Tuesday morning, after an illness of but a few days of the flu, at the age of 83 years, 5 months and 5 days.

Emma Bonney was born in Connelville, Pa., on April 13, 1851. At the age of four years she moved with her parents to Wisconsin. She received her education in the schools of Crawford county, Wis., and in a private seminary in Battle Creek, Mich. She was later a teacher in the public schools of Crawford county, Wis.

She was married on Jan. 24, 1871 to George W. Jones. To this union 11 children were born: Mrs. Dora Walmer, Mrs. Jennie Binkard, Charles L. Jones, Walter S. Jones, Fred B. Jones, Bert J. Jones, George H. Jones, Lila J. Loy and Ben F. Jones, two daughters, Mammie and Bessie having preceded her in death.

She passed away at her home on Tuesday morning, Sept. 18, at the age of 83 years, 5 months and 5 days, having spent the past 55 years with her husband and family from Wisconsin in 1879, in a covered wagon. For 47 years of that time she lived in O'Neill.

Together they bore the many hardships of pioneer life. The first sermon in her community was preached in their home, and the first election in Iowa township was held there, as was part of the first term of school. Many new settlers coming into Holt county seeking homesteads spent their first night in their home.

Her husband died on April 19, 1893, leaving her with a large family of children which she kept together, and who have grown to manhood and womanhood, and have loved and respected her always, as a good mother.

But like all true pioneers she persevered and lived to see the section that was selected for their future home fill up with a fine class of thrifty, intelligent people and the county become one of the leading ones of the state.

Despite her years Mrs. Jones had a remarkable memory and loved to talk of the pioneer days of this county. She was a loveable character and her passing will be sincerely mourned by a large number of relatives and friends.

FREE DAY CELEBRATION HERE TUESDAY DRAWS A RECORD CROWD TO CITY

Managers Of Entertainment Do Well In Keeping The Program Up To The Advertised Time Schedule.

RED BIRD WINS FROM NELIGH 11-9 IN FEATURED ATTRACTION

The Free Day celebration put on by the business and professional men and women of this city last Tuesday was the most successful event of its kind ever staged in this section of the state. A crowd estimated at between eight and ten thousand people was in the city, coming from all the towns of this county, as well as from the adjoining counties, and every one had a good time. The weather was also very favorable for the event which added much to the pleasure of the participants.

The crowd started coming to the city early in the morning and at 10:30, when the opening number on the program started, a very large crowd was on the streets, and cars loaded with prospective participants in the joyous occasion were coming into town from every direction.

The opening event on the program was the children's school parade, at 10:30, and this was right on the dot. In fact the management made efforts to have every event as near as possible on the hour scheduled on the program, and this added much to the enjoyment of the various events, as the crowd was kept busy watching the various performances, and there were no long tedious waits.

For their promptness in this respect those in charge are entitled to the thanks of the people of this city and community. The parade was headed by the Ewing band, and consisted of all the children of the O'Neill public school and from many rural districts, and any one who witnessed this parade must be convinced that there is no race suicide in this county. The little tots with their teachers, as well as the older pupils, made a very pretty sight, and the young folks apparently enjoyed it too, judging from the smiles that illuminated their countenances as they marched along the street. Some of the pet animals that the little folks had in the parade caused a good deal of merriment to the grown-ups as well as commendatory remarks on the ingenuity of the little folks in getting their exhibits in shape for the parade.

During the parade, as well as the following were the winners of the various float prizes in the parade:

Autumn: First, Beulah Johnson and Helene Powell.

Doll Buggies: First, Old Lady in the Shoe, School Districts No. 27 and 225, combined; second, Yvonne Ernst; third, Joan Burgess.

Pet Parade: First, Ralph Brown, Shetland pony; second, Goat, Wayne Lampher. during the entire day's program, a loud speaker was in use, presided over by Col. James Moore, who informed the crowd of the various events as they came up and gave the names of the winners. This was of great advantage to the crowd, as it permitted those unable to witness the conclusion of the various contests—because of the large crowd—to learn the outcome of the contests.

The sport events started promptly at 11:00 and were presided over by J. W. Rooney, assisted by several other local sport enthusiasts. The results of the various races were as follows:

Boys under ten years of age, 50 yards: First, Francis Holtz; second, Duke Kersenbrock.

Boys, ten to fourteen years of age, 75 yards: First, Floyd Bellar; second, Robert Ott.

Boys, 14 to 16 years old, 75 yards: First, Virgil Ott; second, Clinton Bellar.

Girls, 10 to 14 year old, 50 yards: First, Eunice Hunt; second, Mary Bellar.

Girls, under 10, 50 yards: First, Maxine Derickson; second, Mary Bellar.

Girls, 14 to 16 years, 50 yards: First, Mildred Stewart; second, Lida Wilkenson.

Three-legged race, free for all: First, Bobbie Sauers and Don Martin; second, Howard Jeffrey, and Floyd Jareske.

Backward running race: First, Vernon Gorgen; second, Merle Caster.

Fat Men's Race: First, L. W. Hines; second, John Kersenbrock.

Sack Race: First, Ross Harris; second, Floyd Jareske.

Pie eating contest: First, Willis Bachman; second, Leo Valla.

Half mile bicycle race, for boys: First, Robert Sauers; second, Don Martin.

Quarter mile bicycle race, for boys 10 to 14 year old: First, Leonard Lorenz; second, Robert Shoemaker.

Quarter mile bicycle race, boys 14 to 16 years old: First, Robert Calvert; second, Robert Sauers.

Quarter mile bicycle race, girls 10 to 14 years old: First, Margaret Cadwell; second, Gene Biglin.

Quarter mile bicycle race, girls 14 to 16 years old: First, Louise O'Donnell; second, Jane Mains.

Tricycle race: Robert Eby, first.

Freckle contest: First, Milford Coats; second, William Grady.

During the races the merry-go-round and the ferris wheel were entertaining the little folks by the hundreds, giving them free rides. The Ferris wheel ran far into the night and was busy all the time.

At 1:00 o'clock the exhibit hall, on the court house lawn was dedicated, the dedication address being delivered by State Superintendent Charles W. Taylor.

At the conclusion of the dedication services the crowd went to the fair grounds to witness the big attraction of the day the baseball game between Red Bird and the Junior American Legion Team, of Neligh. And it was some ball game. We'll say it was and it kept the thousands of spectators enthralled until the last man was out in the last of the ninth inning. This last inning provided lots of thrills for the real base ball "bug."

Neligh took the lead in the fourth inning, when a home run, a couple of misjudged flies and an error led in four runs, making the score stand 7 to 3 in favor of Neligh.

This was cut down two in the next inning when Red Bird made two runs, but in the sixth Neligh got the two runs back and held Red Bird scoreless. Neligh was held scoreless in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings, while Red Bird scored three in the seventh and one in the eighth and two in the ninth, winning the game with a score of 11 to 9.

In the first of the ninth Red Bird made two scores, on good clean hitting and Neligh entered the last of the ninth two scores behind. The first man walked, but was soon caught off first. The next batter got on, the next went out easily and the next batter got on. The next went out, but the runners were held. Then the Legion's home runner came to bat, with two on, two down and two runs needed to tie the score. It was a tight place for a manager. But Ernie Richter, manager for Red Bird, wanted to hold the lead they had and win the game so he instructed Pitcher Conard to walk the home run hitter. This was not very satisfactory to the crowd and they booed a good deal, but it was base ball. Walking of this man loaded the bases, but Red Bird was in no worse position than before, as a hit would tie the score or possibly win the game. But the hit was not forthcoming, as the next batter was an easy out, knocking an easy one to the pitcher, ending the inning and the game.
