WHAT'S DOING AT THE STATE HOUSE

By James R. Lowell
Taxes and state expenditures are coming into the limelight again as the provisional state budget is being drawn up by State Tax Commissioner Smith for the next biennium, and assessments for counties are being filed in the same office.

Smith says the state budget will be about the same as for the last biennium, as few material reductions can be expected below the previous budget unless some of the services now being rendered should be discontinued. This budget will be submitted by Governor Bryan as his last official act before leaving the office, but the budget which will be official and which the legislature must take as the basis to work upon will be submitted by Cochran, the incoming governor.

Judging from the tax rates submitted by 34 counties, there will be a small increase, amounting to about one-fourth of a mill, in the average tax rate for county purposes next year. The average levy in these divisions for county purposes is 4.01 mills compared with 3.761 a year ago. The increase is caused by relief demands, according to the state tax commissioner. Scottsbluff tops the list of counties for high county levy among the 34 reporting, with 8.5 mills for county purposes. Seward county is low with 2 mills.

The state university is asking for approximately the same amount for the next biennial period, starting July 1, 1935, as was appropriated during the fiscal biennium of 1931-32. The regents point out that under the radical cut made in the university appropriations in 1933 its operations have been severely hampered, not to mention large salary cuts. Confronted now with an increased enrollment and advancing costs of all supplies, the regents ask $4,164,000 from tax funds, against $3,331,680 provided by the last legislature. The university cash fund is estimated at $2,000,000, the same as two years ago, while federal funds to be provided are estimated at $590,000, also the same as two years ago. The regents also suggest that a new library be erected.

An increase of $2,800,000 over the present biennium is asked by the state board of control for the coming two years, the total being $6,624,000. Most of the increase is for construction. An increase of $842,000 is asked in funds for maintenance of the 17 state penal and charitable institutions and payment of wages and salaries. Increasing number of inmates and higher cost of supplies along with higher living costs for employees are given as the reason for this boost. The total asked for such expenditures is $4,243,480.

New buildings, new lands to be purchased and other permanent additions and improvements in connection with the 17 institutions will cost the state $2,215,650 if the budget request is allowed. This is about five times greater than last year. Included in the proposed structural projects are additions to the men's reformatory at Lincoln, Lincoln state hospital, Beatrice institute for the feeble minded Norfolk hospital, sewage disposal plant at Hastings hospital, Kearney hospital, and new buildings at Omaha. The board proposes an outlay of $260,000 for prison factories. Nothing is included in the budget request for the old Genoa Indian school plant turned over to the state by the federal government last winter. This property hasn't been turned over to the board yet, altho it will be in the next legislature.

When the federal emergency purchasing program for drouth cattle comes to a close late in November, approximately 465,000 head will have been bought, in addition to about 25,000 head of sheep. Most of the cattle have been or will be slaughtered to provide food for the needy of Nebraska, altho several thousand head were shipped to southern states which escaped the drouth.

Howard J. Gramlich, who had charge of drouth cattle buying, estimates that the state's cattle population now stands at two and a half million head, or about a million less than at the first of the year. Despite this reduction in numbers, however, the state is still faced with feed shortage and the FERA is purchasing feed for livestock to go to rural families on relief. Total expenditures by the government for drouth cattle and sheep will be about $6,275,000, of which all but $50,000 went for cattle.

Altho the livestock feed situation for this winter is serious, the cattle are in fair condition now, according to A. E. Anderson, state and federal statistician. Nebraska range conditions are still unfavorable, being estimated at 61 per cent of normal compared with 78 per cent condition a year ago and a 10 year average of 86.7. The condition of cattle is estimated at 75 per cent of normal, against 88 per cent a year ago and a 10 year average of 91.8 per cent.

Four different Nebraska communities are angling for the federal government to establish national preserves. Senator Norris is going to back at least one of them, the proposal to make a national park of the old Freeman homestead near Beatrice, first homestead taken out in the United States. Norris proposed that the United States government buy the tract and establish shelterbelt headquarters there. He also expressed hope that a national museum may be established there.

The other three national park proposals include a national arboretum at Arbor Lodge, a national preserve in the Missouri river bluffs in the Decatur vicinity, and a similar preserve along the same river in Knox county.

The card party given at the K. C. hall last Friday evening as a benefit party for the Cardinals, St. Mary's basketball team, was a splendid success, both financially and socially.

The Roberts Construction company finished the O'Neill paving the latter part of last week and the first of the week the paving gang left for York, where the company has a contract for some work.

Miss Mabel Erskine entertained the Bridge Club last Tuesday evening with a luncheon at the Grand, and cards at Mrs. Wilcox's residence. Miss Helen Givens and Miss Marion Dickson won the prizes.

December 5 has been tentatively set as the date for the tri-county American Legion convention to be held in O'Neill. Representatives from Holt, Boyd and Antelope counties will attend this meeting.

A large party of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Valla, southeast of this city, last Wednesday evening and helped them celebrate a wedding anniversary. An enjoyable time is reported by all.

Rev. A. J. and Mrs. May drove down to Chambers last Tuesday evening where Rev. May delivered an address that evening at a get-together banquet of the members of the Chambers M. E. church and the Keller Presbyterian church.

The experts at Washington excuse themselves of the charge of making campaign capital out of federal relief by claiming that the Republicans did it first. This is the first time on record that any New Dealer has admitted that the Republicans ever did anything "for the people."

Archie Bowen, of the Bowen Variety store, is also one of the business men who believes in an early start in the sale of Christmas goods. He has the store well stocked with a very large line of Holiday goods and they are now on display, so the early shopper can get his or her pick of the large and complete line.

Lawrence Wulf, an old time Frontier reader living in the southeast corner of the county, was an O'Neill visitor last Tuesday and made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Wulf says that fall gains are looking exceptionally fine in his section of the county, the splendid rains of the past six weeks putting the grains in splendid shape.

This section was visited with a half inch of rain last Saturday night. Since then it has been cloudy and misty most of the time, the moisture, adding .10 of an inch to the rainfall. Last evening the thermometer dropped to 20 degrees, the lowest so far this season, and it is still a little cold today, but we appear to have escaped the snow storm that had been looked for.

United States re-employment officers are now making a drive for young men for service in the army. To be qualified applicant must be between 18 and 35 years of age, single and without anyone depending upon him for support. Anyone interested should contact L. B. Youngworth, manager of the local re-employment service, relative to applications for entering the service.

H. F. Beckman, junior member of the firm of Andresen & Beckman drugs, believes in getting ready for the Holidays early. He has been busy the past couple of days decorating the store and unpacking his Christmas goods and placing them on display. They have secured an unusually large stock and feel that they will be able to take care of the needs of the people of this vicinity in this particular line.

The Junior Project Club met at the home of Mrs. L. A. Carter on November 13. Nine members were present. Other guests were Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Pace and Miss Cox. The lesson, "Food Needs," was given by Mrs. Heriford and Mrs. Quig. The next lesson "Buying Needed Foods" will be at the home of Mrs. Heriford, Mrs. Bennett Gillespie assisting. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Carter.

That there is quite a lot of real estate available in this city is evidenced by the fact that fifteen applications have been taken out in order to submit bids to the government for land upon which to erect the new federal building. Some of the proposed locations are three blocks from the center of the city, while other are two blocks, others one block and a few sites within a block of the main corner of town. The bids are to be opened next Monday morning and those desiring to bid have only a couple of days within which to act, if they wish to have their bids considered.
