SHIELDS

On Sunday evening, March 3, 1935, a large and enthusiastic audience was present at the program given by the Community Club at the John Cleary home in honor of his daughter, Nellie. Several of her relatives and friends remembering that she had a birthday anniversary on this day and came prepared to do her honor by presenting several birthday cakes. They were enjoyed by her many friends that participated in the wonderful spread. This in itself speaks volumes for her rating and value in this community by her loyal supporters all of whom wished her many more years of health and happiness.

Mr. Cleary erected a very commodious mansion about two years ago with a spacious interior. Those in attendance at the party came prepared to test out the oak floor and it proved to be in excellent shape for the occasion. The various committees were assigned to their various stations and every thing went off like clock work and soon the entertainment was on in full swing, in the dance hall, the entertaining room and the club rooms. Albert Roseler, Minnow Bellar and Miss Carborn from Phoenix furnished excellent music.

The flying dutchman was the initial step, led by Harry Lansworth, Marie Grutsch and Louis Sullivan. This created quite a sensation as it was something new, right from the mint.

Dave Bellar gave us a short talk and claimed the N. R. A. was only a modified repetition of the old Roman attempt to neutralize the evil effect of a long standing system of social injustice by the device of handing out government money to prevent confusion.

Several new members were admitted to the circle that were musically and vocally inclined and who were anxious to vent their pent up energy, and this added considerable pep to the occasion.

Everyone enjoyed the evening and all expressed themselves as repaid for their attendance and before leaving extended their thanks to the committee and to Miss Nellie in particular. E. S. E.

Small Grain Seed With small grain seed held by the federal seed stocks committee as a conservation measure starting to move now, Holt county farmers who have made application for the seed were reminded this week that the original price was based on January delivery and prices have advanced 2 cents since that time to take care of storage costs. This is in line with the first announcements made before the first of the year.

Oats delivered to farmers in January were priced at 75 cents. After January, one cent per bushel is added per month for extra cost of storage. Oats delivered to farmers thru local elevators in March will cost 77 cents and 78 cents in April. Likewise Trebi barley was priced at $1.10 for January delivery, was $1.11 in February, will sell for $1.12 in March and $1.13 in April.

Approximately 100 cars of the seed now have been shipped to country elevators from Omaha and Sioux City. The seed was bought during the late summer and fall, has been cleaned up during the
