FEATURES OF NEW AGRICULTURAL BILL EXPLAINED

Minority Report Points Out Many Provisions of Interest to Farmers and Co-Operatives.

By Congressman Karl Stefan

The minority report of the house agricultural committee which has been working on the new agricultural bill for many weeks filed its report April 30. This is a report on house roll 7713 which took the place of H. R. 5558 and H. R. 7088. The majority report has not yet been filed. Members of the agricultural committee believe the bill may not come up for action in the house for several weeks due to the fact that the banking bill is now up for fifteen hours debate and some rush bills may come in before the rules committee gets to the agricultural bill altho it had been planned to get the agriculture bill out next week. That seems impossible due to the fact that an open rule was given the banking bill. The minority report on the agricultural bill is most interesting in that it refers to misinformation which members feel has been given out. They make it plain that the bill has nothing whatever to do with the extension or hindrance of the triple A programs or processing taxes or adjustments, that power having been given to the secretary of agriculture by the last congress. The minority report reads in part as follows:

"This is not a minority report in the usual sense, as many of the undersigned members of the Committee on Agriculture favor several provisions of the bill and desire to reserve the right to vote for or against H. R. 7713 on final passage.

Farm Legislation Not Political

"The subject of farm legislation has not been considered by the members of the Committee on Agriculture on the political or partisan basis. All members of the Committee are in general and whole-hearted accord in any constructive effort which seeks to restore equality for agriculture and make farming a profitable enterprise.

"We are opposed to the further granting of additional authority and power by Congress to any governmental agency or officer for the purpose of regimenting farmers and the agricultural industry of this country as is proposed in certain sections of H. R. 7713.

Propaganda

"All members of Congress have received scores of letters for and against the AAA amendments. Nearly all communications have referred to H. R. 5558, which bill has been modified and broadened in certain instances, and is now before the House as H. R. 7713.

"Since April 1, 1935, members of Congress from the Corn-Belt sections have received hundreds of letters from farmers who are members of the local Corn-Hog committees requesting the continuation of the corn-hog and corn-loan program.

"Neither H. R. 5585 or H. R. 7713 seeks to repeal or in anyway curtail the present corn-hog or corn-loan program now in effect in the Agricultural Adjustment Act, and yet the originators of this propaganda, which no doubt was broadcast by interested parties in Washington to farmers in all sections of the country, have sent out misleading information in order to secure pressure for the passage of H. R. 7713 which has nothing to do with the continuation of the Corn-Hog and Corn-Loan programs.

Marketing Agreements and Licenses

"In the hearing before the committee, Mr. Chester Davis, Chief of the AAA, and Secretary Wallace, both stated that the existing law conferred upon the secretary the power to negotiate marketing agreements and impose licenses. As evidence of this fact, the committee was advised that the Secretary had approved sixty-six marketing agreements and issued 7700 licenses to handlers, processors and distributors. We were informed that the necessity for the enactment of the license provisions of H. R. 7713, was largely for the purpose of confirming and clarifying powers already granted to the Secretary of Agriculture by the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

"It is difficult for us to understand the very indefinite and vague reasons given by the officials of the Department of Agriculture for the necessity for this bill, when they already claim the authority and have acted thereunder by the approval of a large number of marketing agreements and licenses unless it is the purpose of the Secretary to further tighten his control over farmers and the handlers, distributors and processors of farm products.

"At the present time it is doubtful if any members of the Committee has a clear conception of the extent of the authority being conferred by the bill upon the Secretary.

Aparent Exemptions

"While Section 4, of the bill, definitely provides that no producer or retailer shall be licensed, your attention is invited to the fact that the moment this producer or retailer attempts to sell commercially any farm product, he immediately becomes subject to all licensing provisions of Paragraphs 1, and 2, of said Section.

Imposed License

"Paragraph 3, of Section 4, gives the Secretary the arbitrary right with the approval of the President, in order to carry out proposed marketing agreements to impose licenses upon processors, distributors, and wholesale handlers of milk and its products, tobacco, sugar cane, sugar beets, and all other non-basic commodities.

"Co-operative creameries, cheese factories, fruit and vegetable associations, livestock associations, poultry associations, and other co-operatives and individuals and concerns dealing in farm commodities, processor otherwise, will be compelled, if the Secretary of Agriculture so deems, to conduct their business under a license issued at his pleasure and according to rules and regulations promulgated by some government clerk, who may know nothing about the operation of any great basic industry, and simply issue orders or regulations to satisfy some whim or pet theory.

"The authority granted to the Secretary of Agriculture is absolute and goes far beyond any authority heretofore conferred upon him by Congress. We do not say that the Secretary will abuse this additional authority, but we feel that Congress is stepping on dangerous ground should the additional delegation be made.

Marketing Areas

"The Secretary is given the authority to establish marketing areas in order to make effective marketing agreements. We are opposed to the grant of this power particularly as to nationally produced agricultural products, as we feel that it is contrary to any American policy to arbitrarily establish trade barriers between regions and states in this country. No legislative barrier should be erected so as to interrupt the free flow of commerce between the citizens of various states.

Minorities

"Subdivision B, of Paragraph 3, of Section 4, provides that producers of two-thirds of the volume of any commodity may propose a marketing agreement, whereupon the Secretary shall dictate the terms and issue licenses to make same effective. The terms of the marketing agreement and licenses could absolutely stop one-third of the producers from having any market whatsoever for their products if they refused to sign the marketing agreements.

Quotas and Allotments

"The provisions relating to the establishment of quotas and allotments by two-thirds of the producers of any one commodity was stricken from the bill. We do not know the reason for the elimination of this important section as it was a limitation upon the authority of the secretary. The removal of this limitation gives the secretary unlimited authority to fix quotas and allotments as to production and marketing.

Development of Domestic and Foreign Markets

"In addition to these provisions, H. R. 7713 contains a separate and new subject matter which deals with the disposal of surplus farm products in foreign and domestic markets under an arrangement whereby the American producer will receive a domestic price for that part of his product which is used in domestic consumption, and making possible the disposal of surplus farm commodities at world price levels in foreign markets by the payment to exporters of the difference between the world price and the domestic price. A large majority of the membership of the Committee on Agriculture favor this plan, and the undersigned minority feel that this proposal should be considered by the present Congress in a separate bill wholly divorced from the many complicated sections relating to marketing agreements and licenses to which provisions we are unalterably opposed. We, also, favor the provisions of the bill relating to the payment in kind and the grain storage loan section of the legislation."

BRIEFLY STATED

The Catholic Daughters entertained at a Mother Daughter party at the home of Mrs. Ella Riley last Tuesday evening, honoring Mrs. R. H. Murray and daughters. A delicious lunch was served and the evening was pleasantly spent with cards.

The state legislature is still in session, altho they had tentatively set May 8 as the date for adjournment. The conference committee is still working on the liquor bill and it may not be ready for presentation to both houses before the first of the week. From present appearances the session will linger along for a couple of weeks more.

Mayor John Kersenbrock and son, Duke, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weier drove to Grand Island last Saturday and met Mrs. Kersenbrock, who had been visiting relatives at Lincoln for the past week and returned home that evening.

ing. John says that the country is looking beautiful between here and Columbus, the hills and grain fields a nice deep green.

Former Governor Charles Bryan was elected mayor of Lincoln at the city election there last Tuesday. The former governor polled 12,556 votes as against 14,003 polled for Johnson for a member of the council, the high man. The electors of the capitolcity made a clean sweep, defeating all the present members of the council who were candidates for re-election.

If you walk along the streets of O'Neill any afternoon or evening you would be convinced, even against your own knowledge otherwise, that there was no depression in this section, when you view the large number of new shining cars that are parked against the curb. The automobile has got out of the luxury class and is now almost a necessity for every business man as well as farmer.

George Morrison of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived in the city last Saturday evening and spent several days in the city looking after business matters. George was a former resident of this city, leaving here something like eighteen years ago and moving to the west coast, where he has since made his home, and where he has been engaged in building residences for sale. He says that things on the west coast are picking up a little.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oberle and Mrs. H. M. Uttley drove over to Hazelton, North Dakota, last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Clara E. Benedict, a sister of the late H. M. Uttley, who was buried at Hazelton last week. While away they also visited a brother of Mr. Oberle's who lives at Mellette, S.D. Mr. Oberle says that things are now looking fine in both North and South Dakota and people are confident that they will be blessed with a bountiful crop this season.
