SOUTHWEST BREEZES

May rains may quickly evaporate under the persistent fanning of June winds.

It is about time for annual school meetings again. There are no serious problems confronting districts down here.

The condition of the roads deterred the folks at the Riley ranch from going to Albion for the Memorial Day exercises. The day previous cars were stalled on the road from Amelia to Chambers.

Mrs. Tom Baker and Mrs. E. E. Young went to Atkinson Friday last, arriving safely back at the ranch before the great rain.

William Carpenter and son, Darold, have been in the country north of Atkinson for some two or three weeks putting a tract of land they have rented into crop.

Miss May Lierman returned Sunday from a brief visit at Hampton, near the scene of the cyclone at York, where she had gone in company with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Greenstreet and family have been spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Greenstreet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watson, expecting to depart some time during the week by automobile for the Pacific coast country. Mr. Greenstreet was one of the firm of Greenstreet Bros., merchants of Chambers and Amelia, and has disposed of his interests. They are making the move because of poor health.

Jay McCarthy, of Inez, was over in the Art Doolittle neighborhood Monday and bought a young bull, which he drove home single handed. The critter that Jay can't pilot where he wants it when he has a good horse under him there is no use in others tackling.

The rain last Friday in this territory was the most copious since the 7-inch down pour of two years ago. The mail from Atkinson to Amelia, routed via Mike Higgin's Inez Valley ranch down the township line, battling with hard going all spring, found it quite impassible Saturday morning. Through the courtesy of Howard Berry those at the south end of the route got their mail.

An item herein a week ago mentioned Sam Elwood, southern Holt county rancher of the eighties and nineties. Sam, aboard a splendid chestnut gelding—boxtoed boots, white hat and all—could ride with the best of them—and there was some horsemanship those days. Unlike the late Jim Dalman, who comes from the northwest Nebraska ranges and was many times mayor of Omaha, Sam did not succeed in politics. He was a candidate at one time for county treasurer but was defeated by Barrett Scott, whose tragic end wrote a disgraceful chapter in the history of Holt county.

John Bower moved a herd of cows and calves on Monday to his pasture east of Swan lake. Some cowboys of the ranch being otherwise employed, Miss Hall came to the rescue. Mounted on her handsome brown pony she was an efficient helper, besides being a charming figure riding about among the bellowing and slow-moving cattle urging them on. Girls can do things yet, notwithstanding the assumption of the cynic that the present generation of youth are about worthless. The late Neil Brennan of O'Neill, used to be a consistent and perpetual booster for Young America. Let us have more Neils. R. S.

An Invitation To The Coroner

Your chances of being involved in a fatal automobile accident are much greater on highways than anywhere else. Bad as the urban accident rate is, the death toll is mounting fastest in rural territories, even though traffic is less dense. Last year 167,000 accidents occurred on highways. The result was 160,000 injuries—and 13,000 deaths. In 1934, the rate of death per accident on highways was more than 100 per cent greater than the average for all accidents combined. The reason isn't hard to find. The modern highway is wide and smooth, rarely congested. It looks as safe as your own back yard. And, as a consequence, thousands of drivers relax behind the wheel, and step hard on the accelerator. When a crisis arrives, they react too slowly, or are going too fast to avoid a smash—and death follows.

That is especially worth remembering now, with the appearance of summer. Most motorists will be making trips into the country—and they should keep in mind the unhappy fact that somnolence on the highway is an invitation to the coroner.
