THE NEBRASKA SCENE

economic farm theories is presented in the theories advanced by two rural economics experts.
J. E. LeRessignol, dean of the college of business administration of the University of Nebraska, says that controlled production and scarcity is one of the biggest mistakes, economically speaking, that has been made by the nation to date.

He said that recovery is unquestionably to come yet, and if it is to be sped on the way that several faults in the present administration must be corrected.
LeRessignol declared that prosperity can only come thru plenty, and not scarcity. He said that prices must be determined by the market and not arbitrarily fixed, and that labor must be allowed to barter for wages rather than have to submit to a set wage.

William A. Irwin, professor of economics at Washburn college, said that the economist for twenty years has been pointing the way for agriculture. His theory is that the same theory that the manufacturer has been following for 20 years is correct—namely one of scarcity.

Irwin urged retention of the processing tax, which, he claimed, means the same to agriculture that tariff does to industry. In conclusion Prof. Irwin outlined four steps that must be made in the way of adjustment if agriculture is to be saved.
They were the development of a national land policy in the place of a haphazard one, voluntary or compulsory control of crops, a national rather than local tariff act favoring one section of the country only, and the maintenance of a sane mental attitude toward all of the problems confronting agriculture.

The cattle population in the sand hill area, comprising 33 counties, according to a recent survey, totals 497,000 head of cattle, and there are herds of all sizes from 50 to 40,000 head. The ranches vary in size from 640 to 140,000 acres.
This country is the genuine article in the way of range land. It is the third largest cattle range in the United States and cattle roaming over these hills bear 14,000 brands.

The term "sandhills" sounds arid, but these fertile valleys embrace some of the most productive hay lands in the country.
Last fall when cattlemen in other states were selling their herds to the government for lack of water and winter feed, the Nebraska ranchers were able to hang on because they had lakes and thousands of stacks of hay in reserve. The mild open winter enabled them to pull thru with minimum losses.
The Cone delinquent tax act was intended to encourage delinquent taxpayers to pay up under a 10 year cancellation plan which cancelled interest and penalties as an inducement, was stressed by the Woods Bros. corporation in asking for a motion for a rehearing. The supreme court had previously thrown out the legislation on a technical point.
Importance of the act was stressed by the Lincoln company, in view of the increased taxes and anticipated cost of old age pension and other security legislation.

Conn W. Moose, of Omaha, dismissed recently by Governor R. L. Cochran as director of the state department of insurance made a statement to the press in which he denounced the governor's charges against him as "false" and said that he would demand a "full and complete" hearing.
In announcing Moose's dismissal, the governor had charged the insurance director with lobbying despite an order forbidding such practice, with neglect of duty and unwarranted absence from his office, and with "being generally presumptive as to his legal powers with a view to creating an authority not contemplated by the Nebraska statutes."

John S. Logan, Fairfield, has been named by Gov. Cochran acting director of insurance.
State Engineer A. C. Tilley has stated that bids will be called August 29 for and estimated $260,000 of highway work with state funds. Most of the letting, according to Tilley, will be maintenance gravel. Forty-nine maintenance gravel projects are included with two other constructions. They are U. S. highway No. 6 between Funk and Axtell in Phelps and Kearney counties, 5.2 miles bituminous mat surfacing, Nebraska highway No. 2 between Waco and Utica in York county, 3 miles of gravel surfacing.
Nebraska's first WPA projects are in the last stages before final approval by President Roosevelt as the federal allotment board recommended that $180,018 be spent for 16 projects in this state.
The first batch of applications asked $425,328 for 2 projects. Since then three more groups of requests have been forwarded, most recent batch being sent late of last week. Prior to the last request, Nebraska had asked $594,882 for 58 projects almost all of them backed by pledges of local aid for additional sums.
Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, announced recently a six week's leave of absence to D. F. Felton, Nebraska administrator.
J. R. Smith, a deputy administrator under Felton, was made acting administrator during Felton's leave. Hopkins said Felton, who has been ill, asked for the leave on advice of his physicians.

Economic Highlights
The new tax bill—designed to increase the Federal government's annual income by the neat sum of $270,000,000—as framed by the House, is in accord with the President's wishes in general, but goes against them in a number of particulars.
The bill is based on the "Share-the-wealth" idea. It would boost taxes on individual incomes in excess of $50,000 per year; would replace the existing flat corporation tax with a graduated levy; place new levies on inheritances and gifts and tax excess corporation profits from 5 to 10 per cent.
Thus, it broadly follows Mr. Roosevelt's recommendations. However, as an Associated Press dispatch recently pointed out, it differs from them in four important instances:
First, the President proposed that the existing 13 per cent corporation tax be replaced with a levy graduated from 10 per cent to 16 per cent. The House bill provides a graduation of only one per cent—from 13 1/2 to 14 1/2 per cent.
Second, the President strenuously objected to letting corporations deduct from their taxable income gifts made to charity. This recommendation stirred up a flood of opposition throught the country, resulted in many unfavorable editorials in papers usually friendly to Mr. Roosevelt. The House apparently taking notice of what seems to be the popular side, has put in the bill a provision allowing corporations to make tax-exempt gifts to charity to the extent of 5 per cent of their income.
Third, the President recommended that a new tax be levied on dividends paid by one corporation to another. The House bill does not provide for this.
Fourth, the House bill contains an excess profits tax, something that was not mentioned in Mr. Roosevelt's message.
Aside from these discrepancies, the bill's course thru the House was all that the Administration could have desired. Amendment after amendment designed to take some of the sting out of the bill was overwhelmingly defeated. Only amendment adopted was the one concerning corporation gifts.
Attitude of business is one of complete, unqualified opposition to the bill, and to the principles it represents. Harper Sibley, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, spoke for industry at large when he said passage of the bill "would increase the forces of disorganization," and that the Chamber would not relax its efforts to defeat the measure. Republican spokesmen in the House denounced the bill as "confiscatory, socialism and demagoguery."

The new and increased taxes provided by the bill will produce relatively little revenue, in the light of the government's vast spending. They will tend to frighten investors, force more money in to tax-free government bonds. (Mr. Roosevelt has said that these bonds should be taxed, but that requires a constitutional amendment.) However, the President appears to believe that the benefits of the bill will outweigh the disadvantages. That, like the bill's fate, remains to be seen.

Tundra
Tundra is the cold, desert, treeless plains which form the Arctic lowlands of Europe and Asia. The name is also generally applied to a similar srea in North America. The word is of Russian origin and means a marshy plain. The prevailing low temperatures are consequent on high latitude and proximity to the frozen northern ocean and result in very scanty vegetation.

BRIEFLY STATED

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kraval and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith and family, of Osmond, were guests at the home of Mayor and Mrs. John Kersenbrock last Sunday.

Pete Todsden was down to Norfolk last Tuesday attending a meeting of the managers of the J. C. Penney stores in this section of the state, returning that evening.

At the state convention of the Isaac Walton League, held the forepart of this week, Mrs. Mildred Spann, of Atkinson, was again re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Mrs. A. B. Gladson and daughter, Gene, of Omaha, who have been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McPharlin the past week, left for home last Saturday morning.

Peter Reifers, who went to Omaha three weeks ago where he submitted to an operation, returned home the first of the week and is said to be in a serious condition and failing rapidly.

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown returned last Saturday from a two weeks vacation trip spent in the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado. They visited Yellowstone Park and then took in the scenery in the adjoining state of Colorado.

Miss Angie Kohland, the efficient and popular clerk in the Corner Drug store, went down to Tilden Thursday morning for a few days visit with the home folks. Bobby Biglin is officiating in the drug store during her absence.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pierce and Mrs. Pierce's mother, Mrs. Mary Keenan, of Lincoln, who have been visiting at the home of Mayor and Mrs. John Kersenbrock the past two weeks left for their home at Lincoln Thursday morning.

Ray Wilson had a field of nine acres of oats on the John Liddy farm in Coleman precinct, 20 miles north of this city. The oats were threshed last Friday and the yield was 60 bushels per acre. The oats were of a very fine quality.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heitman returned last Monday from a two weeks vacation spent in North Dakota and Minnesota. Jack says the weather was very cool up in that section the past two weeks and he came home with a good cold.

S. J. Weekes returned Wednesday evening from a three day business trip to Omaha. Mr. Weekes says that it is "very dry and hot in the metropolis and that a good deal of the corn in that vicinity is badly burned with the heat and drought."

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weier left Wednesday night for Fairbury, Neb., where they will spend a week visiting at the home of his parents. Mr. Weier is the deputy county superintendent and is having his annual vacation of one week.

Those who were entertained at the J. P. Miller home last Sunday were Adam Hays, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Johnson and son, Virgil, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Harmon, of Scottsbluff, and Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Johnson and Betty Jane.

Cecilia Edwards went to Plainview Wednesday to visit her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Johnson. Gale Rice, here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Edwards several weeks, went with Cecilia and stopped off at his home town, Royal.

At Bartlett Wednesday night under floodlights O'Neill lost to the Bartlett nine 12 to 5. The Bartlett players made several home runs, putting the game on ice so the O'Neilites could not open the door of the refrigerator.

Several federal tree shelter belt representatives were here Thursday scanning the countryside for choke cherries. The men want 50 bushels of the berry seeds but found that berry pickers had been at the trees first, even those out on the Eagle creek.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dishner, Mr. and Mrs. Max Golden, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Biglin and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Reardon drove up to Long Pine last Sunday morning and spent the day in the park there, returning home Monday morning.

The city tennis courts are proving the most popular amusement center ever in the city. Tennis now seems to be supplanting golf, that is among the younger generation. Of course with the older boys and girls the exercise is a little too vigorous.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell and children, Merle, Phyllis and Robert, left last Tuesday to visit at Brunswick, Hooper, Dodge and points in Iowa, and about one week will be at Lincoln. Mr. Mitchell, engineer here on the Burlington, is on his annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Froelich and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Birmingham left Tuesday morning for an auto trip to California, which they expect will last two weeks. They went by way of Riverton, Wyo., where Hugh will look over the city where he resided for one year.

Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson, Sr., and James, Jr., returned last Monday from a two weeks visit with relatives at Casper, Wyoming, and points of interest in that section. James, Sr., says that he did not do any fishing but that he had a splendid time viewing many points of interest in that section.

The beer parlors of George Melior, Howard Bauman and Edith Castleman have not been selling beer this week. Their licenses expired last Saturday night and as they had not received a renewal of their licenses from the State Liquor commission, they were unable to sell beer. They hope to secure their licenses by the end of the week.

A petition nominating O. S. Spillman, of Norfolk, formerly attorney general of Nebraska for the republican nomination for governor, was filed with the secretary of state the first of the week. A receipt showing that the filing fee had been paid was also filed with the petition. So far Mr. Spillman has not indicated whether he would consent to be a candidate or not.

A fierce looking 2-inch pea-green worm as thick as a man's thumb, was found in southeast O'Neill Tuesday. This worm is somewhat like the "tobacco worm" but this one has 19 bright yellow horns in two rows on his back and four rows of blue horns on his side. His eight legs are thick like those of the elephant and the creature always is looking for something to fight.

From the south country comes the word that the Holt county hay crop this year is the heaviest harvested in several years and the quality is exceptionally good. While the price will not be very high this season, on account of the abundance of feed, farmers and stockmen are jubilant because they will have a lot of feed for their stock the coming winter.

Monday night was spent here by several officials of the Burlington railway. Vice President Taylor, on the job only several weeks, came in on the Ford railway automobile and went west Tuesday on the Northwestern tracks to Crawford. Others were J. H. Aydelot, general manager, Omaha; E. C. Hale, assistant superintendent, Omaha, and Ray Hurlbut, road master, Sioux City. The officials were making inspections of one kind or another.

Tuesday John Vanderlinden opened the door to a sort of cave at the Burlington railway waterworks north of the roundhouse and was confronted with a fat and sassy black widow spider. The spider at first retreated on her web, more than half the size of the door, then rushed Vanderlinden who flourished a stick, knocking the widow for a row of knotholes and exposing the contents of her traveling bag, about 300 whitish eggs the size of mustard seeds. Most of the eggs were destroyed. The body of this spider was the size of a dime. Several days ago Vanderlinden killed another black widow at the round house when he sought George Mitchell on business.
