SOUTHWEST BREEZES

Rhody Adams, the indispensable factotum in the flourishing village of Amelia, returned Saturday from a trip north of O'Neill, having his office closed here for a week.

Several truck loads of cattle were hauled out Sunday for market, reported to be from the Hazel-baker herd at Long Lake.

It is said a hundred million pairs of frog legs are being annually consumed. Another "basic industry" that the gents at Washington will have to be looking into.

George Holcomb, the confirmed but genial bachelor of Amelia, made one of his periodical trips over this way Sunday, finding everybody on their good behavior.

Lloyd Clemens was a visitor at the Saunders home Saturday afternoon. In the evening the boys were joined by Lloyd's brother and Gene Hansen and Charles Coolidge and went to the hustling village of Chambers.

A movement has begun—whether beyond the limitations of talk is not ascertained—to build an electric transmission line from Burwell to Atkinson for the purpose of furnishing electricity to farms and ranches along the route. Such an enterprise would no doubt meet with great favor among residents of this section.

It appeared during the hot days of late July and early August that there would be no potatoes in this part of the vineyard for the new federal frame-up to worry over. At the time potatoes should have been setting on the vine roots, the excessive overhead heat prevented, but since rains and cool days have come the potato vines are "coming back," so that should the autumn freeze-up hold off a few weeks there will be a fair crop of spuds hereabouts.

Re-wiring a Nation. President Roosevelt in an address at Hyde Park the other day said: "We are re-wiring the White House with up-to-date type of wiring." Yes, Haywire.

Bones, probably of a long dead Indian youth, were picked up near the Nebraska-Wyoming line by a representative of an eastern university who gives out the unqualified, reliable and convincing information that they are the remains of a monkey progenitor of man and 90 million years have gone into prehistoric past since he dropped in his tracks. How this gentleman of letters is able to fix the date is not clear but to the ordinary layman believing in the only authentic record of creation it looks like a clumsy if not an absurd guess. R. S.

EMMET ITEMS

Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Hindmand, of Crookston, Nebr., visited in Emmet Monday, with friends. They were on their way to the Methodist conference in Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barnes and Clinton Lee returned home a week ago after spending the summer with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albretch. Clinton's home is at Norfolk and he went home to attend High school.

Mrs. Vernon Keeney and daughter returned home Thursday, after a weeks visit with relatives here. Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Dillon drove up from York last Tuesday, Sept. 3, to the home of J. K. Ernst where on the following day about forty friends and relatives assembled in honor of Mrs. Ernst and Mrs. Dillon, whose birthdays it was. A bountiful lunch was served at noon and the afternoon was devoted to singing and short and instructive talks by Rev. Dillon and Rev. S. M. Ohmart and other appreciative friends. Useful gifts were presented to both ladies. Rev. Dillon delivered a sermon at the church Wednesday evening.

MEEK AND VICINITY

Married Hubby and daughter, Bonnie, of Atkinson, were overnight guests at the Eric Borg home on Thursday.

Mrs. Art Auker entertained the Ladies Aid on Tuesday afternoon. Owing to the rain not so many attended as usual. Mrs. Auker served a delicious lunch.

Lawrence Rouse was an overnight guest at the Griffin home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Griffith called at the Orville Harrison home on Friday and also at the Howard Rouse home.

The showers the past week have been a little hard on threshing and haying, otherwise we have had none too much moisture.

Mrs. Howard Rouse and sons, called on Mrs. William Hubby at the Albert Kaczor home Friday afternoon.

Arthur Hayward was a dinner guest of Cecil Griffith on Sunday.

A birthday party was held for Muriel Graham at her home last Saturday evening. A jolly time was reported.

ficials who have charge of state finances. The income for the past three months was $453,092, and the state treasurer, et al, would still have figured it a pretty good total had it been $100,000 less.

Eight hundred and forty-five of the approximately 1,150 inmates of the state penitentiary and men's reformatory at Lincoln are now at work under the recently launched program of prison industries. Walter Hager, chairman of the board of control, says that more men will be put to work in the near future as additional projects are launched.

About 500 of the 800 penitentiary inmates are busy in the broom factory, canning factory, refrigeration plant for slaughtering and butchering, mattress factory and shoe factory, in addition to the clothing and furniture factories which have been in operation ever since last summer.

All of the 345 men at the reformatory are again busy at gainful tasks. New projects include manufacture of badges for hunters and fishermen, while a dairy industry will be started as voted by the 1935 legislature.

Plans are underway to provide a machine shop and bakery at the penitentiary. The last legislature appropriated $80,000 to finance the program of setting up prison industries, the manufactured products to be sold only to other state institutions and departments.

Farm property in Nebraska bears approximately 64 per cent of the total burden of direct property taxation, as computed by State Tax Commissioner Smith from official records of his department. This is about the same as for the past five years.

There's lots of room in the FORD V-8

EVERY ONE who steps into the Ford V-8 for the first time is surprised at its roominess. There's exceptional seat room, leg room and head room in all body types — the whole car gives you a feeling of substantial size.

The Ford gives you extra body room because of the compact design of the V-8 engine — an exclusive Ford feature at a low price. This V-8 engine takes up less space in the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used for passenger comfort. Many a car selling at a higher price does not give you as much interior room as the Ford V-8.

Rear seats are wide and restful . . . three people can ride comfortably in the front seat of the Fordor Sedan, Fordor Touring Sedan, Convertible Sedan and Phaeton, and in the Coupes and Roadster. The seat of the Ford V-8 Roadster is 52 inches wide. A ride in the Ford V-8 will show that it combines unusual body room with fine-car performance, safety and comfort.
