dale school for September and October: Perfect attendance during September were, La Vern Stahley, Walter Schmoher, Naydene Kee, Myrlen Beckwith and Arlene Beckwith.

We had organized our Knight-hood of Youth Club the first month. The term of the officers is eight weeks. The ones that were elected for the first term were La Vern Stahley, president; Florence Winkler, vice president; Leona Winkler, secretary. The ones that have been elected for the second term are, Walter Schmoher, president; Geneva Crawford, vice president; Naydene Kee, secretary.

The Club meets every Friday at which we discuss our business. Then a short suitable program is given. The ones in charge of the program are Naydene Kee, Geneva Crawford, Myrlen Beckwith. Our Club has established a Golden Key Courtesy Club in which each member is taking an active part.

The following have had a perfect attendance for October: La Vern Stahley, Walter Schmoher, Clyde Allen Crawford, Vernon Beckwith, Neama Crawford, Arlene Beckwith.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The Union Revival conducted by Evangelist Enslow for the Methodist and Presbyterian churches is in full swing and, considering the stormy weather of last Sunday and Monday, the attendance is very en-

Walter Roberts was down from Atkinson Wednesday.

Howard Sniffert was here from Norfolk last Monday.

A. M. Dewey, of Norfolk, was in the city Wednesday.

A visitor from Atkinson Wednesday was Harry Abbott.

C. W. Hashberger, of Omaha, was in the city Wednesday.

Leon Dickinson, of Atkinson, was a visitor here Tuesday.

William Hitz, of Sioux City, was here on business Wednesday.

Attorney J. J. Harrington was in Butte Monday on legal business.

W. V. Balm, of Grand Island, had business in this city Wednesday.

J. B. Long, of Opportunity, was in the city Saturday on business.

Attorney H. D. Greenmyre, of Norfolk, was here on legal business last Friday.

Attorney W. J. Hammond had business at Ewing the latter part of the week.

Babe Haines, of Page, was transacting business at the court house this afternoon.

Cracking good duck shooting is reported by several youthful hunters on the Elkhorn here. Last Sunday one 15-year-old boy bagged nine. Officials say there was a much larger duck hatch this summer in Canadian retreats than had been expected.

Henry Straka, daughter Gertrude and son, Bernard, of Stuart, were in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kahler, of Atkinson, were transacting business in the city Thursday.

Attorney D. R. Mounts, of Atkinson, was looking after business matters in the city Saturday.

H. N. Galleher, Stuart businessman, spent Thursday in the city looking after business matters.

Ernest Tesch, prominent farmer living northeast of Atkinson, attended to business here this morning.

The small flock of quail in southeast O'Neill have been getting bolder lately. One was seen picking scraps at a rear door of a residence. On being disturbed, it ran through weeds to a lair quail occupied last winter. Cats give the quail in town much concern.

Following a score of bad starts, the weather today, Thursday, has peeled its overcoat and dour expression and is delivering some Indian summer. For a time, it looked as though we were to have no weather this fall. Now we feel like singing, "good bye early winter, hello late summer."

An employee of the Armour Creameries here reported that the run of chickens there which are processed daily is an average of around 3,000. That would make about 1,000,000 chickens a year under steady operation and indicates the importance of this institution to this city and vicinity. Besides, a great number of ducks, turkeys and geese are prepared there for the ovens of the great cities.

Interest Aroused In Oil
Interest in the possibility of oil in Nebraska was roused again a short time ago by the announcement that two Texas companies, the Bryd-Frost Co., Inc., and the Magnolia Petroleum Co., had leases on over a half million acres in western Nebraska. The leases take in most of the lands in Sheridan, Cherry, Garden, Grant, McPherson, Arthur and Hooker counties. The reason given for signing of the leases was because of "general geology of the region."

Wells drilled deeply in various parts of this state have yielded no indications of oil but experts say that is no sign oil may not be present. It is admitted that oil may have been missed by only a few rods or even feet in previous attempts.
