SOUTHWEST BREEZES
By Romaine Saunders

Al Smith has the folks on Capitol Hill badly worried.

E. E. Young and Tom Baker hauled a load of coal from the highway one day last week, a truck bringing it from Atkinson to the turn in the road.

Our governor didn't have time to greet the former president, but takes a day off from the arduous duties of state to take in a sporting event at Omaha.

Howard Berry was seen riding the snowpelted prairie Sunday with the dogs looking for something to give chase. Black tailed jacks are clustered in packs in sheltered places, finding the bark of the young growth of the box elder a good winter diet.

We have not gone on an exploring trip to ascertain the extent of destruction to the game birds but observation within a limited scope disclosed that pheasants have suffered greatly. Crows are perceptibly reduced in numbers and it is no trick at all for any scrub dog to nab up a jack rabbit.

With a V-shaped rig made of heavy planks Alfred James has been making tracks for traffic thru meadows and pastures and on the regular routes. Supplemented by considerable shoveling activity on the part of various citizens some coming and going has been made possible. A difficulty has been the snow drifting in about as soon as tracks were opened. The Atkinson-Amelia mail carrier has not transversed his regular route for more than one week and the Kola carrier has had similar difficulty.

Added to the hardships of caring for a herd these many terrible weeks, Art Hazelbaker has had to dope his cows with carbolic crystals as a loss of calves begun among them. Securing the necessary drugs is a feature in itself. Wilson's drug store starts the package out from Atkinson. Tom Baker gets it at the highway. Ned Saunders brings it over another mile and Alfred James comes on next morning to take it as far as the James place where Art comes to get it.

Some of the Breezes were prepared for the issue of Feb. 6 but getting letters mailed down here in the southwest has been an uncertain affair. The mail routes are closed from a month's blizzard and a subzero temperature. Ferman Welton and Floyd Adams, two carriers out of Amelia, have been doing their level best to cover the routes horseback. Telephones jangle with tobacco-hungry men over in the interior of Swan asking that a pound or two be sent with the mail carrier. But his visits are uncertain and more likely not at all. With others the matter of bread and fuel is becoming serious. Some have already resorted to fence posts for something to burn. I can imagine it is no fun out in these February blasts at 10 or 12 below cutting down fencing.

As I write today, Feb. 9, it is 18 below which has just about become a daily weather diet. Ed. Turner, the mail carrier from Atkinson to Amelia via the former Inez postoffice, abandoned his regular route weeks ago and those living along the township line have no mail service only as they are able by hook or crook to get to highway 11, two miles to the east. Tom Baker makes trips to the highway for mail and brings along the neighbors' papers and letters. It has been a real battle with the elements feeding stock and more than one old timer has a frost-nipped proboscis or frozen heel as a souvenir.

INMAN NEWS

Inman and vicinity is recovering from the storm of the past several days. Temperatures have been 22 and 23 below zero most every night. There is considerable snow which has drifted and is packed so solidly that only by hand labor can it be moved. Roads all over this part of the country are blocked, drifts 12 feet high being reported. Crews of men have been out opening up roads for the past several days but it will be several days yet before roads are opened sufficiently for the school busses to make their rounds. Consequently there is no school yet this week. Owing to the condition of streets and roads and the severity of the weather no services were held at the churches Sunday. Livestock weathered the storm fairly well as there is plenty of feed this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moor were called to Mason City, Ia., last week on account of the serious illness of Mr. Moor's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. George Killinger received word this week that their son, Harold and wife of Omaha, were moving to Hebron, Nebr. Mr. Killinger has had a position in a bank at Florence for a number of years and goes to Hebron to accept a similar position. He will enter his new duties March 1.

George Colman was a Neligh visitor one day last week, going to that city to transact business.

George Geary, living about six miles south of Inman has been quite ill for a week on account of advanced age.

One might think time had turned back its pages about 40 years to look at the streets of Inman. Bob sleds and wagons are the only means of conveyance these days. The drayman, C. P. Conger, was seen hauling coal in a bob sled a few days ago. As yet we haven't seen any old fashioned cutters.

amount sued for and if same is not paid within a reasonable time that the land be sold.

The Federal Land Bank of Omaha has brought suit against Joel T. Widman, et al., to foreclose a mortgage for $1,600 given on Jan. 5, 1918, on the east half, east half northwest quarter and the northeast quarter southwest quarter of section 33, southwest quarter and the southwest quarter northwest quarter section 34, all in township 25, north, range 15, containing 640 acres more or less. That there is now due the sum of $1,560.37 for which they ask judgment and if same is not paid in a reasonable time that the land be sold.

BRIEFLY STATED

Ray Leinhart was up from Chambers Wednesday. He says the road is in pretty good shape as far as Porter's corner, but there is a lot of snow on the road from there to Chambers, altho it was opened up Tuesday morning and is passable.

There have been very few farmers in the city the past week, in fact not very many for a month, on account of the condition of the roads. Urgent need for some of the necessities of life is all that has brought anyone to town for the past ten days.

Mrs. F. M. Meyer entertained the EOT club at her home last evening with bridge and a luncheon. Mrs. Larry Cain won the high prize, Mrs. W. J. Schendt low prize and Mrs. John Melvin the guest prize. A decorative scheme was carried out in the spirit of St. Valentine's day.

The blanks for old age assistance have been received and are now being filled out. All of those who made applications for old age pensions under the old law will have to make new applications on the new blanks. There were about 300 applications for old age pensions filed in this county, prior to the enactment of the new law.

Miss Loretta Enright arrived in the city Tuesday, from Petersburg, Nebr., for a visit at the home of her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Enright. The schools at Petersburg, where she is employed as a teacher, were closed a week ago due to a scarlet fever epidemic, but road conditions prevented her arrival here until Tuesday.

Sunday during inclement weather, Ike, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Van Every at his home here mounted his trusty "trike" to while away time until the outdoor: settled down to something stable and in turning a corner the machine skidded, tipped over and threw Ike. He suffered a cut in his right cheek.

To Hold Meeting For Farm Debt Adjustment

The monthly meeting of the Holt County Farm Debt Adjustment Committee meeting will be held at the court house on Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 1:30 p. m.

The purpose of this committee is to endeavor to bring together both debtor and creditor and work out a settlement satisfactory to both parties. It is not the aim of the committee to cancel just debts without consideration but to bring about a compromise settlement which will meet the approval of both debtor and creditor. Many debtors and creditors are willing to make very satisfactory settlements on debts but neither party is aware of the intention of the other.

Out of the many cases handled by the Farm Debt Adjustment Committee, some have been refinanced thru the resettlement administration or other loan agencies. In other cases a loan extension has worked out between the debtor and creditor.

An invitation is extended to all who need aid of this kind, either on chattel or real estate mortgages to attend this farm debt meeting and discuss their problems with the committee.

Meetings To Discuss Farm Questions

Pertinent farm topics, all the way from hybrid corn to Brome grass, will be discussed in a round table manner by all Holt county farmers at two meetings scheduled for Feb. 21, it was announced this week by Agricultural Agent F. M. Reece.

The farm gatherings will be conducted in a "question box" manner with no formal talks or speeches. Instead producers attending will be able to ask questions regarding sorghums, small grains, soil improvement and conservation, hybrid corn, pastures and general livestock problems.

C. H. Stewart and W. W. Derrick of the Nebraska college of agriculture are to attend the two gatherings in this county and lead the discussion on the various farm topics. Farm experiences, cooperative tests with various crops and experimental station results with various topics will be discussed during the sessions.

The adaptability of hybrid corn in Holt county, cultural methods of handling sorghums, the seed corn situation, ideal pasture plans, Brome grass, improved varieties of small grains and terraces and legumes are some of the subjects around which questions will be brought up and discussed by the farmers.

Farmers attending the gatherings will have an opportunity to give their personal experiences with various crops and cropping practices. Strip and contour farming as a means of conservation will be discussed both pro and con, as well as other timely topics. Notice of meeting places will be announced next week.

ington in June were named this week, Agricultural Agent F. M. Reece has been notified. They are Cora Mae Briggs, Seward county; Mollie Svoboda, Saunders county; Rex Brown, Fillmore county; and Averla Jesperson, of Washington county.

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this —

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer... at the right time and in the right way... no "spotching" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market... re-dried for storage... then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.
