

Over the County

SOUTHWEST BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders

E. E. Young and C. E. Sigman made a trip to Butte, Boyd county, Wednesday last.

Mrs. E. E. Young is expected home Friday from a three weeks' visit with friends in Kansas.

Does "Uncle George" read the handwriting as he passes out the word that he becomes a candidate against his better judgment?

Arthur Dexter has erected a building at the junction two miles and a half west of Amelia and will open a store and filling station.

George Withers and Elliot Carpenter and family went to Burwell Monday. Elliot is planning on moving to the Garfield county seat.

Victor Howarth has called a republican caucus for Swan Wednesday, the 30th, at the polling place. As Swan precinct expects to make it unanimous this time there ought to be a good turnout at the caucus.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, of Boleus, Nebr., and Mr. and Mrs. Dethlefs of Fairwell, Nebr., were guests at the Riley ranch Thursday last. Mr. Dethlefs has a quarter of hay land here and will have the stacks baled and hauled to Fairwell.

Popular fancy still clings to Buffalo Bill as the west's greatest. A big ranch down at North Platte is the principal monument to his memory. Nebraska had others—not so sure but they were right here in Holt county—who did more to develop the great plains; but then, hero worship centers upon one, not many.

Things are not what they used to be down at the lake. The lake itself has just about faded to a frog puddle, rendering it no longer an attraction for tourists. The old dance hall has been moved to Burwell where it goes into service as a sale barn. Cabins are deserted and the store closed. Drouth has an effect other than on the struggling corn fields.

It doth appear an interrogation point was fancied from what appeared in an item or two in the last puff of Breezes as to whether the compiler of these highly important and edifying paragraphs was on short rations or full feed. The obvious may also be ambiguous. Responsible for a few days for what was served at the festival board, don't get an idea there was any shortage.

Mrs. J. Roblyer, of Atkinson, entertained the Women's Club of this community at the home of Mrs. Saunders Thursday last. Not all members of the club were able to attend though eight automobile loads, members and guests, were present. One o'clock dinner was served. The theme of the afternoon study was child training. This evoked much discussion under the able leadership of Mrs. Fred Watson, president of the club. It was the first meeting, opening another round of club meetings after the summer season and proved an interesting and profitable gathering.

EMMET ITEMS

Mrs. John Conard and daughter, Mary Lou, returned home from O'Neill Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pribil and daughters, Angela and Margaret Ann, and son, Lawrence, were dinner guests at the Joe Winkler home Sunday.

Dean Beckwith and his sister, Mrs. Edith Garvin and daughter, Leslie Merl, of Scottsbluff, arrived here Thursday night and spent the week-end at Fred Beckwith's, returning home Monday morning. Clement Cuddy, of O'Neill, accompanied them.

Edward Winkler is helping William Luben at the hay baler.

The Misses Evelyn Tomjack and Angela Galligan, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Troshynski and Marjorie were dinner guests at the George Pongratz home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Beckwith and Leona Fern, and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hitechock and daughter, Eileen, enjoyed a picnic at the park in Neligh Sunday. They went to see the Sunken Land near Neligh, while there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heeb and Mr. and Mrs. John Babl and sons were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pongratz Sunday. Mrs. Babl baked a delicious birthday cake for Duane Pongratz and Elwin Babl. Mrs. John Kee and Mrs. Guy Beckwith attended the business meeting of the Ladies Aid Wednesday. Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Guy Beckwith, president; Mrs. Homer Lowery, vice president; Mrs. John Conard, treasurer; Mrs. Leo Beckwith has charge of the flower fund.

The Guy, Ralph and Verne Beckwith families and Mrs. Edith Garvin and daughter, were dinner guests of Fred Beckwith Sunday. The Misses Nona Bressler and Minnie Seger, Dean Beckwith and Leon Beckwith came later in the day.

Mervin Kee took care of the Spengler farm this week-end.

Mrs. Ed Heeb and little grandson, Duane Pongratz, spent Thursday with Mrs. Lillian Babl. Duane remained for a longer visit and accompanied his cousins, Lionel, John, Edwin and Elwin to school Friday.

INMAN NEWS

Quite a number of Inman people went to Ewing Thursday to take in the Free Day, that was being sponsored by the business men there.

The Coffee Club met with Mrs. G. E. Moor on Thursday. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed the day immensely.

J. H. Butler, of Neligh, was here Saturday visiting relatives and looking after business.

Miss Lois Moor, who teaches at North Bend, was here over the week-end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Moor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hansen and son, Gerald, returned from their Washington trip last Wednesday. They had a very enjoyable trip and motored to Sioux Falls, S. D., to spend the week end at the Dave Hansen home and expect to be back Monday.

On Tuesday morning, about 4 a. m., the barn on the A. L. Rouse place and all its contents burned to the ground. Arthur and Howard Rouse live on the place and they lost six head of horses, a registered bull which they had recently purchased, three calves, five sets of harness, two saddles, and about 100 bushel of oats. No one knows how the fire originated and it burned too rapidly to save anything. Had there been a wind other buildings would have gone also.

Word was received here recently of the death of Mrs. Jane Miller at Bellingham, Washington. Mrs. Miller was a pioneer resident of this community, coming here in the spring of 1882 and settled on a homestead where she resided for thirty years. Mrs. Miller was formerly Mrs. John Hoyer. Her first husband passing away many years ago. She was later married to Michael Miller. They moved to Washington about 25 years ago. Mrs. Miller endured all the hardships of the early pioneers of Holt county and she used to interest the younger generation telling of the happenings of the early days here.

Cold But No Frost Yet

It has been quite chilly here the past week but so far has not got down to the freezing point. The thermometer registered 35 last night, or three above freezing, and was one degree colder last Saturday night. At Denver, Colo., they had 17 inches of snow last Sunday night and the daily press reports that the storm damaged property to the extent of thousand of dollars in that city and vicinity.

BUSY HOUR CLUB

The busy hour club met at the home of Mrs. M. E. Gray. All members were present. Visitors were Mrs. Claude Johnson, Mrs. Lowell Johnson, Mrs. Otto Lorenz, Mrs. John Dick and Mrs. Fred Lorenz. It was voted to spend our collection now on hand for a Halloween feed for the members and their families. The time was spent with games, embroidering dish towels and piecing quilt blocks for the hostess. A delicious luncheon was served, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, fruit salad and coffee. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ralph Ernst on Thursday, Oct. 29.

BANKERS WILL MEET HERE

Bankers of the North Central district of Nebraska, will meet in O'Neill on the evening of Oct. 6, 1936. Mr. J. O. Peck, of Creighton, who is president of this group, announces that there will be two speakers who will make addresses of interest, C. J. Mortensen of Ord, and Fred Duetsch of Norfolk. At a former meeting about fifty were present. A dinner will be served for attending bankers at the Golden hotel beginning at 6:30 p. m.

SIMMONS WANTS AMERICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT

lects in taxes or what it receives from the sale of bonds which are mortgages upon the property, the income, and the earnings of the American people. As taxes go up, living costs increase, standards of living go down. Money paid in taxes cannot be spent for wages, nor food, nor clothing, nor fuel."
He stated his belief that we can take care of the needs of our people for relief, and grant adequate pensions to those who by reason of age or disability are no longer able to care for themselves, and we can do it at less cost and get more money thru to the people who are entitled to receive it by eliminating political spending and "political relievers." "I venture the opinion that the county board of this county, and I do not know them, can more adequately and more cheaply administer relief and get it thru to the people who need it in the proper amounts better than any bueraocrat that any administration Republican or New Deal, can send here from Washington.

Mr. Simmons further declared that relief for our unemployed, relief for our farmers, while necessary, is not the end of a government program. The objective should be to so restore the economic conditions of the country that need for relief will be reduced to a minimum. "The opinion is current thruout the country that those who are receiving relief from the government are not concerned with the maintenance of the nation's credit. May I suggest to you that those people in America who have no other present source of livelihood than the relief funds of the government should take the side of those of us who insist upon maintaining the nation's credit, for if that credit ever fails, there will be no further source of funds for relief, pensions, or assistance."
"There are two issues in the campaign; one, economic, the other, a change in our form of government. No person and no political party has a monopoly upon the humanitarian desires of the American people. We all want America to prosper. We all want jobs for people who want to work at adequate wages. We all want business to recover. We all want the country to go ahead. The question is one of methods by which that is to be done."

"I am unalterably opposed to changing the fundamental structure of our American system of government. That issue we shall neither evade nor compromise."

NORRIS

We think that Senator Norris shows himself in rather a shabby way if he permits himself to be used as a tool to eviscerate the primary system of which he himself is so ardent an advocate. It would not be surprising if a great many Nebraskans were to be found sharing that opinion. If Mr. Norris desired to remain in the senate, with democratic support, he should have presented himself as a primary candidate. If he meant to run as an independent, he should have so announced. To have proceeded in the regular order would not be open to criticism. But the way the game is being played doesn't appeal to the sense of good sportsmanship. It casts a suspicion on good faith. Nebraskans voters are free, untrammelled and independent. They do not relish having men, even great men, play horse with them and their institutions.—Omaha World-Herald.

The past week has given us a hint that winter is on the way.
