

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY FOR "SLIVER" TRIGG

One of City's Residents of Longest Standing Dies Monday At the Age of Eighty-Two.

James W. Trigg, better known as "Sliver," passed away Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sanders, where he had been rooming for several months, after an illness of about two weeks at the age of 82 years. The funeral was held at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday, services being held in the Biglin mortuary, Rev. H. D. Johnson officiating and burial in Prospect Hill cemetery.

James W. Trigg was born in Michigan City, Indiana, in 1854. In 1882 or '83 the family moved to this city where "Sliver" lived for fifty-three or four years. In the early days of this city and county the Trigg family were very prominent in the social and civic life of the city. James Trigg, nicknamed "Sliver" on account of his diminutive stature, was very active in the early days. Although a small man he was a splendid ball player and for several years was the star catcher for the O'Neill base ball team, and in them days he had some team. His size did not seem to make any difference, although when O'Neill had a speedy pitcher on the mound every ball he threw would nearly knock "Sliver" over, yet he held on to them. He was one of the active members of the first fire department in the city and a good fire-fighter. He and his brother, George, had been members of the Michigan City fire department prior to their removal to this city and when the department was organized here they were the natural leaders.

The first few years of his residence here he liked to tell of the great Chicago fire. At that time he was a member of the Michigan City department and that department was one of many that responded to Chicago's cry for help.

Over fifty years a resident of one little town is a long time in anyone's life, but "Sliver" lived here for more than fifty years. He was a quiet and unassuming man, even in the days of his prosperity, never quarrelsome, even tempered, and although of late years the way has been rather rough he never complained and seemed to enjoy life. He had a host of friends and in his passing O'Neill loses one of its old time landmarks.

He was married here about forty or forty-five years ago, but he and his wife separated after a few years and she went west. They had one daughter, now Mrs. Edith Yancey, of Long Beach, California, and her daughter, Mrs. Edmund Johnson, also of Long Beach, are believed to be his only living relatives. His two brothers, John and George, passed away a good many years ago. George left here in 1913 and went to the west coast and died in Seattle, Washington, during the World war. A sister was a resident of Minneapolis for several years but we understand she passed away a few years ago. "Sliver's" father died here in 1892 and his mother passed away in 1907.

Grace O'Donnell Deltho Women's Club Pledge

From Chicago comes the information that Miss Grace O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. O'Donnell of this city, was among the 126 University of Chicago women students pledged by the thirteen

Women's Clubs recently at the close of the rushing period.

Miss O'Donnell, a freshman like most of the other pledges, accepted a bid to Deltho, which pledged seven in all. The Club average was ten, although the various pledge groups ranged from five to twenty-seven.

Rushing activities, including a stated number of teas, luncheons, and informals and ending in an announcement dinner, extended over a period of two weeks in November, the second month of the Autumn quarter. Initiation will take place during the winter quarter.

Top hogs brought from 9.25 to 9.40 with 170 to 190 pound averages selling at 8.75 to 9.15; 125 to 150 pound averages brought from 8.00 to 8.65; feeder pigs all weights from 6.75 to 8.00. Sows at 8.50 to 9.00.

HOLT COUNTY FARM BUREAU STARTS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The newly elected board of directors of the Holt County Farm Bureau met Thursday and started the 1937 membership campaign. According to state and federal laws it is necessary for any county to give financial support to the carrying on of extension work in that county before state and federal money is made available. Some counties do this by taxation and 24 out of 26 counties that voted on the question carried at the last election. Others carry on by membership and Holt county will be among this group. The money or pledges must be in this office on January 1, 1937, or the county will be re-districted and headquarters will be moved to an adjoining county. We do not believe the people of Holt county will want this county to be thrown in with another district. However, the memberships must be collected or pledged by that date.

John Kellogg, who had been visiting friends in this city for the past few weeks, left for his home in Sioux City the first of the week. Before leaving John made a call at this office and ordered The Frontier sent to him for the coming year so he could keep posted upon the happenings in this city and county.

Mrs. B. J. Grady entertained the Martez club at her home last Monday evening. The prize winners of the evening were Mrs. Max Goldstein, Miss Marjorie Dickson and Mrs. P. B. Harty.

Four Men Face Charges In Atkinson Robbery

The hard liquor store of Frank Weber, of Atkinson, was broken into on the morning of November 24th last and thirty-seven cases of assorted wines, liquors and whiskeys stolen. Mr. Weber carries quite a large stock of merchandise and keeps it in the rear of his retail store.

The thieves gained entrance through the front door and removed only goods contained in the original cases. The loot included Blackberry wine, Orange gin, Gin, Whiskey and other liquors.

The Holt County officers have been working on the case for some time and on Tuesday of this week Mr. Weber filed complaints in the County Court against Preston Pitcher, Robert Carr, Frank Sesler and George O'Connell charging them with breaking and entering and stealing the whiskey and with receiving it knowing that it was stolen. There had been a complaint previously filed against Pitcher but the last one includes additional charges.

Pitcher resides at Norfolk, Carr west of Atkinson and Sesler and O'Connell near Emmet. It is understood that Carr confessed to his part in the transaction which consisted of receiving five cases of the contraband and permitting O'Connell to leave it on his farm. Preliminary hearings on all cases have been fixed for Tuesday, December 15th at 10 o'clock before County Judge Malone.

Mr. Holland was one of the pioneers of this county, coming here in the summer of 1877 from northern Michigan and filed on a homestead about three miles west of this city where he resided for many years until his removal to this city and later to Omaha. He has many friends among the old time residents of the county who wish him a speedy recovery.

LAST RITES HELD AT INMAN FOR AN EARLY PIONEER

Elias Brumbaugh of Inman, Over Fifty-five Years A Resident of Holt County, Is Dead.

Elias Brumbaugh passed away at his farm home south of Inman last Monday evening after a short illness of infirmities due to his advanced years, at the age of 93 years, 7 months and 19 days. The funeral was held this morning at 10:30 at the Methodist church in Inman with burial in the Inman cemetery.

Elias Brumbaugh was born at Mansfield, Ohio, on April 18, 1843. His family moved to Valparaiso, Ind., where he lived for several years and where, on June 19, 1876, he was united in marriage to Idilla Auten. Two children were born of this union, Ezra Brumbaugh, of Blair, Nebr., and Mrs. Maysie Kelley, of Inman. They, with his helpmate of many years, his loving wife, are left to mourn the passing of a kind and affectionate husband and father.

Mr. Brumbaugh headed Horace Greeley's advice, "Go west young man, go west," and in the spring of 1881 they came to this county and he filed on a homestead three miles south of Inman where he resided up to the time of his death, over fifty-five years. Mr. Brumbaugh was one of the pioneers in that section of the county and he and his wife went thru all the hardships of the early day pioneers in the county. He was a splendid citizen, a good neighbor and friend. He lived to a ripe old age, his work was completed and he quietly passed away.

Coyote Hunt Sunday

Another coyote hunt will be held in the northern part of the county on next Sunday, December 13. Those desiring to participate are requested to be at the Midway store at 1 p. m., from where the start will be made. There are a number of coyotes and a few wolves in that section of the county and the promoters of the hunt argue they can bag quite a few if sufficient number participate so as to keep them from getting through the ring.

Pine Trees Good For Dry Weather Plants

With present moisture conditions none too satisfactory, Holt county farmers planning to plant Clarke-McNary seedlings and transplants next spring were this week advised of research work done by the Nebraska college of agriculture indicating clearly the need for careful selection of species, the correct site for a windbreak and care after being planted. All is necessary if the trees are to survive.

Earl G. Maxwell, junior extension forester, informed farmers that studies made during the past year indicate red cedar, Austrian pine and yellow pine particularly have demonstrated their drought resistant qualities and should be planted in greater numbers. Evergreens, besides their advantage of requiring less water and being more drought resistant give better wind protection and add more beauty to the landscape.

Correct spacing of trees is necessary also if seedlings are to survive. Tests made in May in a 6-year old Chinese elm windbreak on the Albin Dusek farm in Buffalo county showed available moisture dangerously low to a depth of 30 feet. Later in the summer the trees began to die. The trees were planted with an 8x8 foot spacing. Moisture conditions in nearby cultivated fields were dangerously low also.

However, moisture tests taken in the evergreen windbreak on the Chris Latten farm of Kearney county showed opposite results. Here the trees were planted with a wider spacing, 8 by 12 feet. They were Scotch pine set in 1926 from Clarke-McNary stock. The trees were given clean cultivation for two years and have been mulched with straw since then. Moisture to a depth of 30 feet average 17.9 percent as compared with an average of 11.7 percent in a nearby cultivated field where there had never been trees or alfalfa grown.

Forester Maxwell says the reason for the good moisture condition underneath the evergreens was probably due to the fact that the dense narrow planting caught and held snow, that the straw mulch reduced evaporation and that moisture requirements of evergreens is less than the broad-leaf species.

Christmas Matinee For Children Will Be Friday

Mrs. Rasley has been kind enough to arrange to have the annual Christmas matinee on Friday afternoon, December 11, 1936, at 3 o'clock. Admission is a toy as it has been in other years. Because of the lack of time and the busy season we are most anxious that the toys be in reasonably good condition and clean. Please do not give anything that you would like to receive yourself. May we ask your cooperation in making this Christmas a Happy one?

Damage and Injuries Caused by Exploding Boiler In Atkinson

The steam boiler in the Atkinson postoffice building exploded last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, causing considerable excitement in our neighbor city.

All the windows and doors were broken in the front of the building and flying glass inflicted cuts and bruises on several boys standing on the street.

A headlight on a new car at the curb was broken and paint on the car badly scratched by flying glass. Steam and water did considerable damage to the mail, equipment and furniture at the back of the building. It required several hours for workmen to board up the windows of the building.

The building is owned by G. E. Morgan and A. G. Miller is the postmaster. The damage has been estimated at $1,000.

The demand for books has never been greater in the history of the local library and any persons contributing books will have the sincere thanks of the Library Board. They will be doing a very charitable work by permitting many people to share in this pleasure and education.

At the present time a large list of books have been ordered from the publisher, that will in a manner fill some of the present demand. The new books are expected to arrive at the Library within the next ten days.

Anyone who has books and wishes to donate them to the Library will kindly notify the Librarian and arrangements will be made to call for the books or bring the books in person to the Library.

ORGANIZE A LIONS CLUB FOR THIS CITY TUESDAY EVENING

Thirty-eight Sign Applications For Membership In Lions Club On Its Reorganization Here.

At a dinner held at the Golden Hotel last Tuesday night, attended by twenty-six business and professional men of the city, the Lyons Club was reorganized here. Mr. Manion, a representative of the national organization, had been in the city for ten days and had secured thirty-eight signed applications for membership. Several were unable to be present at the meeting Tuesday night, but the officers of the Club are assured that most of them will appear at the next meeting, to complete their membership.

At the reorganization meeting the following officers were elected:

James P. Marron, president; O. A. Myhre, first vice president; L. D. Putman, second vice president; F. M. Reece, secretary and treasurer; Pete Todson, lion tamer; C. E. Lundgren, tail twister. Members of the board of directors: Dr. F. J. Kubitchek, R. E. Moore, Charles B. Yarnell and K. A. Wehl.

After the election of officers the Club decided to meet at the Golden Hotel on the second and fourth Mondays of each month, at 6:30 p. m. The next meeting will be held Monday evening, December 14.

This city has need for a service club that will continue to work for the advancement of the civic needs of the city. In order to make it successful its membership should consist of practically all the business men of the city. On various occasions we have attempted to keep a commercial club going in the city, but, while it would function for a few months after each organization, it soon became inoperative. Maybe the Lions Club is the answer to the problem. If it will have the support of the business and professional men of the city there is no question but what it will be a success, and can be made a power for good in the advancement of the welfare of the city and its inhabitants.

Unearth What Appears To Be An Indian Grave

Ed L. Hood, living on the Niobrara river west of the Spencer dam, was in the city last Saturday and he informed us that he and a party of eighteen men working on the Mallory dam, a WPA project, on Spring Branch about half a mile east of the Spencer bridge had unearthed the skeleton of a man and a dog and they also found an Indian tomahawk, sharpened on the end. The skeleton on account of the tomahawk is supposed to be that of an Indian. The skeleton of the dog was at the foot of the human skeleton and the tomahawk was near his head.

The find was made under about five feet of sand on the bank of the creek and Mr. Hood said they found evidence that there had been a village there at some time in the misty past. The skull of the man is perfectly preserved and is divided in only three sections.

Last summer Mr. Hood worked for several days with the University men who were excavating the lost village near Lynch and he is of the opinion that they will be back this summer and investigate many mounds in this county along the Eagle creek and the Niobrara river, and he says that he looks for startling discoveries to be made. Mr. Hood has lived along the Niobrara river for many years and he has for several years taken an interest in the discoveries in that section of the county. He says that he has quite a collection of Indian relics and relics of other tribes picked up in that part of the county during the past 20 years.

The dam they are building on the Mallory place will be 18 feet high, 95 feet wide and about 150 feet long.

Leonard Youngworth, who has been head of the national re-employment agency in this city for the past two and a half years, left Sunday for Falls City, Nebr., where he will become the manager of the state re-employment agency for several counties in that section of the state. His wife will remain here until after he gets located.
