SOUTHWEST BREEZES
By Romaine Saunders

E. E. Young loaded out some beeves Monday and planned to take in the sale at the Atkinson pavilion Tuesday.

What would those who advocate abolishing capital punishment suggest for the fiend who kidnapped and slew the Mattson boy?

Tom Baker took to his bed Friday and for a few days was distressingly ill, but was on his feet again the first of the week.

A good milk cow keeled over at the James ranch a day last week, since which time the grunting fraternity in the hog lot have had fresh beef at their pleasure.

George Cutler, residing on the old Roblyer place, went the winding way to Amelia Friday and return, that their daughter, attending school in the village of the flowing wells, might spend the week-end at home.

If it isn't one thing it is another. Now the public is critical because the president has put his son in the secretary's job at ten thousand a year. Should the sovereign citizens of America confer the authority vested in the chief executive in this humble pilgrim I would give sons and daughters and uncles and aunts and all of any tribal connection first choice of the desirable jobs.

"Farm to market" roads in the southwest are plugged with snow that effectually excludes traffic. Winding a snake trail thru pastures and meadows permits the necessary outlet to highway 11. Most of us stay at home, absorbing the warmth and cheer of the family fireside—and like it. The snow will provide some moisture and encourages families to stay at home and get acquainted.

Four horses hooked to a hay wagon get across the snow-blown mile from the James ranch to the "corner" about once a week. Jess has hoofed it across a time or two to pick up his mail, the only way to get it these days being to pass it on from neighbor to neighbor. Of the two mail routes passing our door, neither carrier has been able to get thru so far this month. Mail for this neighborhood is left at the Dexter store on highway 11.

At 17 or so below along about sunrise, no wind, the hoar frost spread like glittering gems and the crunching snow under the feet, the north pole all but visible thru the clear calm morning as the landscape in its robe of ermine stands out in gleaming white for miles around—that is winter at break of day down here in the southwest. An hour spent out poking hay to cattle and other barnyard ministrations gives a taste for something more trustworthy for breakfast than a cup of coffee and a puff of smoke.

MEEK AND VICINITY

Frank Griffith called at the Howard Rouse home Thursday.

Lawrence Rouse called at the home of Eric Borg Wednesday.

READY-MADE GASOLINE
is ordinary gasoline from refinery. Ready-made gasoline is refined from crude oil, which has only so much light, fast starting material in it. That's all there is, there isn't any more.

TAILOR-MADE GASOLINE is "ready-made" plus Virgin gasoline. Virgin gasoline is made from nature's gas. It is light, and stable. Added to Skelly refinery Aromax, it gives the fast starting that you want.

READY + VIRGIN = Fast Starting Tailor Made

MADE + GASOLINE = We'll Leave It Up to You

DO YOU like to make decisions? Here is the proposition: Ready-made refinery gasoline is pretty much alike. It can't be changed a great deal. But weather changes. Skelly adds to refinery-made Aromax varying amounts of Virgin gasoline at 24 tailoring points. This is made, not from oil, but from nature's own gas. Skelly uses up to 38 per cent of this Virgin gasoline. It is tuned to the weather, to give same fast start everywhere. Which is the better buy—each costs the same—"ready-made" or Tailor-Made? Skelly leaves the decision up to you.

Only SKELLY AROMAX GASOLINE is Tailor-Made FOR EACH COMMUNITY
