Uncle Phil Says:

Work a Means of Living
Work is what a man turns to when happiness eludes him; only a few foolish ones insist that work is a good substitute for it; even the austere Emerson said: "Work is a means of living; but it is not living."

Carnegie said it was a disgrace to die rich. It all depends on how much one has neglected his opportunities whether it is a disgrace to die poor.

Men wish the return of their youth with the wisdom they have since accumulated.

Nobody can be made absolutely happy except people whose ideals are not too exacting.

Which Is Reciprocation
A dog loves his master because his master treats him well; and his master treats him well because the dog loves him.

One who complains that he "never had a chance" probably likes his rut.

"Sis" always winds papa around her finger; and "Bud" easily sways his mother.

A man who whistles may not be happy, but it is the finest way in the world to fool trouble.

A swivel chair is all comfort, but there is joy in sitting on a hard rock in the woods on a sunny spring day.
