The Choicest Man

If you would choose the choicest book, select the one that's soiled and worn; and as you finger through its leaves you'll note how they are curled and torn. The book, by use, acquired these marks, which show on every leaf and page, as eager eyes have scanned the text to garner wisdom for the age.

Then, if you'd choose the choicest man, select not one who's prude and prim, but pick the man who shows some wear, and has the marks of use on him.—William A. Gearhart.
