without teachers. There have been a good many calls for program charts but there are none for distribution this year. I believe each teacher can make a nice looking wall chart out of card board that can serve the purpose very well this term.

All rural teachers are required to attend the one day Institute Friday, October 1, at O'Neill. School boards are asked to give their teachers that day with pay for that purpose.

Institute instructors have been selected with the idea of giving teachers inspirational and instructive material to help them meet the situations before them for the year. Theo. C. Diers of the University School of Music will start the day at 8:45 a. m. with group singing. His wife, one of the principal soloists of Lincoln is to be with him and has promised a solo.
