SOUTHWEST BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders

Mrs. Frank Williamson and two little boys visited Friday afternoon with Mrs. Saunders.

John Bower and his good Shepherd dog brought up a bunch of cattle Sunday from the pasture down by the lake and moved them to the ranch without incident.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Doolittle were over from their home near Amelia Thursday and partook of fried chicken dinner at the Bernard Kennedy home.

A divorced dame worries as to how she will get along on $750 a month alimony. I know of several ladies who would be glad to show it can be done.

Ned Saunders and brother-in-law, Harold Eno, and Rolland Hart came up from Lincoln last Friday and visited here until Sunday afternoon.

One of the larger and one of the smaller church groups take identical positions with respect to their missionaries in countries where war rages. A Catholic bishop in America says they are not asking nor do they expect this government to protect their missionaries in China. They are there on their own responsibility and feel it is their duty to stay with their work. Seventh-Day Adventists somewhat earlier pronounced this same principle when their property and missionaries were placed in danger in Ethiopia. This latter group had much to do also with the recent ruling at Geneva on the so-called calendar reform, the League Council finding it is not possible to accept the blank day calendar, the adoption of which would destroy the weekly cycle. So the Gregorian calendar continues to be our measurement of time.

Three Omaha women applied to the Douglas county relief agent and were told there was no more direct relief being given to those able to work, but were offered jobs as domestics. The various responses were, as quoted by a World-Herald reporter, "I'll not do housework," "It's not in my line," "You want to lower us." Is this what the great program launched at Washington to save the nation brought our people to?

It fascinated the eye. Little more than a speck on the ground but with a sleek and shining polish that suggested the pink radiance of a pearl gleaming in the sunlight. One of those rare spectacles that captivates and holds the gaze like the Oriental fakir with his hooded cobra. The charm was broken when the neighbor with whom I'd been talking moved on and realization dawned that a bare toe stuck from a hole in one of his shoes.

To hand over a resignation from a soft berth like any of the federal courts is expecting a good deal from any man.

NORTHEAST HOLT

Mrs. F. P. Hunter, who has been sick for ten days with infected gall bladder, is slightly improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. James Miller of Forsyth, Mont., are in the Dorsey and Redbird vicinity visiting for a short time. Mr. Miller, better known as "Jimmie," is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Miller who lived here fifty years ago, but who moved to Oklahoma where they have both died.

It has been thirty-six years since Jimmie left here, and he says he notices many changes in the country, mostly for the better. So many places are built up and are quite nice farm homes now, the land tilled and raising crops where years ago it seemed worthless except for grazing. He noticed such a difference in the trees also. Where old groves stood before, many of the trees are gone but new groves have grown in other places that off-set the lost ones, but change the appearance greatly.

He noticed a vast difference in roads also, as all are on section lines now, no angles, and many graded and improved.

Jimmie looks fine and seemed glad to meet his old friends and school mates again. Mrs. Miller is a southern lady and very nice.

Mrs. George Wilson and Mrs. Hill of Deep River, Iowa, are visiting in the Redbird neighborhood. Mrs. Wilson is an aunt of Mrs. John Carson and Mrs. Hill a cousin. Mrs. Hill celebrated her eighty-second birthday Oct. 2, and not many of the young ladies of her age can boast of celebrating as she did.

She, with three others in the car, left Carson's in the early morning, drove to O'Neill and did a little shopping, went to Duane Carson's at Chambers for dinner, then to John Young's at Inman for supper, back to O'Neill for the show in the evening, not arriving at the John Carson home until about 2 o'clock in the morning, but the next morning she was up as spry and nimble as the rest and ready for Sunday school at 10:30. She is well and has not only been visiting here but at Gordon, Nebr., and other places enroute.

She doesn't look to be nearly as old as she is, and seems good for 100 years, and we hope she may live that long and enjoy them all.

EMMET ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sarls left Saturday morning to visit relatives at Weeping Water, Nebr.

Paul Newton and Frank Fritton, Jr., accompanied Claude Bates to Laurel Monday, where they will husk corn. Mr. Bates returned with a load of oats.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson drove to Omaha Saturday where Frank's brother is in a serious condition. He was hurt when a team ran away with him, and a load of fodder passed over his body.

Dinner guests at Mrs. E. H. Rouse's Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Goodsell, Mrs. Virginia Paris and children, Miss Bonnie Goodsell, Mr. and Mrs. Arden Johnson and children, Mrs. Jennie Madison and Billy Evans. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ruse and children and Mr. and Mrs. Will Langan and children.

At the festival at Atkinson Wednesday, the horse-shoe game between Midway and Atkinson was won by Midway. Only two of Atkinson's players were present. The players from Midway were George Hansen and Walter Devall.

Guests at the Orville Harrison home Saturday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Goodsell, Mrs. Virginia Paris and children, Miss Bonnie Goodsell, Mrs. Jennie Madison, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thomas and children. Mrs. Alma Evans was a guest Sunday morning.

The item last week saying the Will Devall family were dinner guests at Fred Lindberg's, should have read Fred Johring, instead of Fred Lindberg.

Darrell and Russell Graham and Leroy Spindler called at the Griffith home Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hubby left Monday for South Dakota where they expect to work for awhile.

Laverne Borg was on the sick list for several days and was unable to go back to school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Karel were guests at the Harry Fox home Sunday.

George Hansen, Gus Karel and Roy Karr drove to Carlock, S. D., Thursday on a fishing trip, but for some unknown reason the fish refused to bite, and Roy especially is wondering why.

Mrs. Orville Lowrey and daughter, Barbara, called on Mrs. Earl Koonts Monday afternoon.

Cecil Griffith left for North Platte Tuesday, where he expects to work for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Borg called on Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lindberg at the Fred Lindberg home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Tompkins went to Caldwell Friday to be present at the wedding of their son, Harvey A., to Miss Lois Caldwell, which occurred Sunday, October 3, at 3 in the afternoon.

SHIELDS

A miscellaneous shower was given at the Joe Gokie home Sunday for Clarence Gokie and Goldie Boyle, a daughter of Pat Boyle who lives in the southern part of Holt county near the Wheeler line. This young couple were married a short time ago.

Those who took part and contributed many useful and valuable presents were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gokie, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Jensen, Mrs. Hannah Donohoe, Mrs. T. F. Donohoe and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Babl, Mr. and Mrs. Loraine Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Gokie, Theo Gokie, Miss Elsie Uhl and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Keefe of Atkinson, Joe Boyle and Edward Earley.

Games and an open forum furnished the evening entertainment. Miss Loraine Murray and Miss Mary Gokie played "here comes the bride," that made a very charming appearance. Also a very good impression on her many new friends.

Mrs. Gokie is a very young woman and a favorite in her community. Clarence is about 6 ft. 3, and a jovial good fellow who has been employed by the government in the conservation program. He possesses a very good vocabulary and made an address that was very exceptional at an occasion of this kind. He introduced his wife to all unacquainted. After the gifts were opened and passed around Clarence made a few salutary remarks thanking each and all for their generous contributions.

When a very delicious lunch of buns, cake, pickles and coffee was served. After the lunch Ed Murray emerged from his obscurity and serenaded to the front. Ed is the soul of hospitality. He is ever on the alert to find new ways of making people happy and in a cheerful frame of mind. His toast was a carnival in itself and the climax of the evening.

Those who took prizes at the card games were Ed Murray, Herb Jensen and Ed Earley; second division, Mrs. Ed Murray, Mrs. Joe Donohoe and Mrs. Jensen. This concluded the evening program, when all dispersed, extending their hospitality to the newly-weds, wishing them a long and prosperous voyage thru life. E.E.

It is said that women have no sense of humor. Well, if you look over the married ones and see how many jokes they have taken, you won't believe this.

We have never practiced ancestor worship in this country like the Chinese practice it, but just wait 'til the old age pensions get to functioning.

They used to say "the woman always pays," but now they have changed it to "the government always pays."

Now that fall has arrived the fond parent can blame little Johnny's shortcomings on to his teacher.

No matter if the stock market has been in a slump this summer, the national debt seems to be able to make a new high every day.

If the government ever goes into the business of building and operating chicken ranches we are expecting to hear that the eggs cost fifteen cents per unit.

The trouble with the school of experience is that when you are old enough to graduate you are too old to benefit by the education you have received.
