

Over the County

SOUTHWEST BREEZES

And we are still in the beef business out this way. Mike Higgins of the Inez Valley ranch lately marketed over $60,000 worth in the Atkinson ring.

Whether it was Pilot Collins from over at Columbus giving a lady friend "the air" above the clouds and then swooping down to very close quarters just over our heads Sunday morning or someone out trying thus to spot the elusive pheasants we had no opportunity to ascertain. The first intimation suggesting a Japanese bomber in our midst was the familiar droning of the propeller high in the heavens above the clouds and not until it came into view at a lower altitude were those of earth assured it was merely a harmless airman floating around.

A poor scalawag was recently fined $300 in Holt county for clandestinely engaging in a business that is flaunted to the public in advertising and signs and every conceivable inducement to take a nip. The Holt county citizen made the mistake of not contributing to the powers behind the beautiful piece of lithograph they call a license. An Albion doctor gets into the mills of the gods for performing an illegal operation, as scores of doctors do. The Boone county M. D. made the mistake of being found out by society's official guardians.

EMMET ITEMS

The Elkhorn Valley 4-H Club took their calves to O'Neill Monday where they were judged and sold. In the divisions in which they were placed Thomas Mc Nally took first, Zane Cole second and Arthur Jurgensmier third.

The Emmet school teachers, Miss Kellar, Miss Pongratz and Miss Harris enjoyed a birthday supper at the Guy Cole home Thursday evening in honor of Bobbie's tenth birthday.

Crisp Autumn Days
—the Season for

SPECIALLY BREWED FOR WINTER USE

These fall days call for a hearty beer that warms you. Storz Winterbru is made by Storz own special brewing process. The formula and method of brewing are different from those used in "summer" beers and Winterbru is "Slow Aged" weeks longer than ordinary winter beers.

Winterbru is an exceptionally fine beer. Smooth and delicious to the taste and has that warmth and sparkle that you will really like. Order a case of cans or bottles for your home and when you stop at a tavern or cafe ... say "Give me Storz Winterbru."
