Safe Counsel: Use Chains For Bad Weather Driving

SAFE counsel for bad driving weather, according to police officials and safety engineers, is to use tire chains.

This warning was issued today, with winter driving conditions prevailing, after the report of the National Safety Council that 28,140 persons died in traffic accidents during the first nine months of 1937, an increase of 9 per cent over the same period last year. With greater driving danger in winter because of ice and snow, police officials and safety engineers warned that tire chains provide the most positive anti-skid and traction yet developed.

The Contest board of the American Automobile association, in official test No. 3143, conclusively proved the greater margin of safety and stopping ability provided by Weed tire chains. Vividly illustrating their imperative necessity on snow or ice, the AAA test, showed that chains, on rear wheels only, stopped a car in 45.8 per cent less distance than when no chains were used, and in 66.8 per cent less distance where chains were used on all four wheels!
