Look! Listen! Live!

Too many automobile drivers apparently can't see danger, even though their eyes are wide open, when they are approaching a railroad crossing.

If you think that reads like a riddle, what else does the actual accident shown here mean to you? Here's the report on it:

The driver's view of the crossing was clear and unobstructed for a distance of three miles. Flashing light signals warned of the approach of a train.

But the driver, with two passengers drove onto the crossing. Result: Two occupants of the car killed, one injured, car wrecked and train delayed.

The surviving passenger of the car said the three were sober and were not drowsy from tiredness—but had been talking.

In other words, distraction of the driver by conversation with passengers blinded him to deadly danger, even though his eyesight was good.

The National Safety Council is conducting a special campaign to stop these accidents which every-may delay 38 trains a total of 22 hours—a shattering blow to the nation's war transportation effort. To help win the war—to save yourself and others needless suffering—the Council asks you to be sure the track is clear before you start across.

GEORGE S. FINLEY and his Stars

This alert and genial "North Western" conductor is proud of his stars, as well he might be. The four displayed on the lapel of his coat are for his sons in service—Henry, Edward, George and Bob; the two on his sleeve identify him as a "North Western" 50-year service man—50 years with less than 50 days lost!

While Finley, in his "North Western" uniform of blue, is busy on his run between Sioux City and Omaha, his sons, wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam, are busy in the armed forces. Henry is a first lieutenant, detailed to special service. Private Edward is overseas, while George is in the Commando Division at Camp Hale, Colorado. Sergeant Bob is in the Air Corps at Reading, Pa.

But Mr. Finley's sons are not the only members of the family in service. His son-in-law, Captain F. T. Lynde, is in the Railroad Division in faraway Iran, while a daughter-in-law, Edward's wife, is an airplane inspector in California.

The Finleys are typical of all other members of "North Western's" Family Circle in that they are fighting for a principle, the essence of which is freedom. They are firm in their resolve to help deliver a knock-out blow to the forces of evil—on the Transportation Front as well as on the Fighting Front.

Thanks to such efforts as theirs America and her railroads continue to do an outstanding war-time job.
