Views of Congress
By
Dr. A. L. Miller,
M. C.

William Jennings Bryan: March 19, 1944, marks the 84th anniversary of the birth of William Jennings Bryan, the most widely known citizen of the state of Nebraska. His statue stands in Statuary Hall of the National Capitol, one of the two Nebraska citizens so honored. Three times the candidate of his party for the presidency, he was probably the greatest orator that people now living can remember. He swept the country with his persuasive voice before the advent of radio. One often wonders what he would have been able to do with that medium. Although he did not attain the high office he sought he did serve his state as a member of the House of Representatives, and his country as Secretary of State in the first Wilson cabinet. Though many differed with him in matters of politics there are none who will deny that he had the courage of his convictions. Nebraska democrats will not forget his great speech before their state convention in Grand Island when he brought in the minority report for county option even when he knew it was a lost cause in that convention. History will record that he resigned as Secretary of State rather than be a part of the Administration that took his country into war. Many of the things he championed have been enacted into law prohibition, the initiative and referendum and the recall of elected officials. Some have been abandoned but others are still in force in many of the states. The views and acts of William Jennings Bryan are still the subject of controversy. He had an impact on his Country that will assure him a place in history. His name will always be connected with that of his State, Nebraska.

Free Government Publications. Federal Government Departments and Agencies publish a great variety of pamphlets, many of which carry valuable information. This is particularly true of those published by the Department of Agriculture. While one would naturally think that these publications deal only with agricultural subjects, there are many that deal with problems of the home. Limited numbers of these publications may be obtained free from members of congress. Rather than broadcast these pamphlets I would be glad to send them to those who want them and will write me.

Following are the names of some that may be had: How to Make Your Ironing Equipment Last Longer, How to Make Your Washing Machine Last Longer, How to Make Your Refrigerator Last Longer, How to Make Your Gas or Electric Range last Longer, Take Care of Household Rubber, Vitamins From Farm to You, Fight Food Waste at Home, Three Market Lists for Moderate-Cost Meals, Victory Gardens, Strip Cropping for Bigger Yields, War and Farm Work.

Many of you have had Farmer's Bulletins. A list from which you may choose those you want may be had by writing me. On this list are many that deal with other subjects than agriculture.

The Department of the Interior publishes many useful pamphlets. Among them are Rabbit Raising, Feeding Wild Life in the Winter, Bobwhite Quail propagation, Some Common Birds Useful to Farmers, Improving the Farm Environment for Wildlife, Rat Proofing buildings and Premises, Rat Control, Mole Control, Pocket Gopher Control.

AMERICAN HEROES
BY LEFF

Corporal Walter Bodt's squad was spying out Jap positions in the Pacific. We needed information badly. The squad got it, but was cut off from our lines. Using handkerchiefs tied to bayonets, Marine Corporal Bodt wiggled the information back. He lost an eye, sustained other wounds from furious enemy fire, but his message was urgent. He stuck and got it through, winning the Navy Cross. Weapons are urgent too, and your War Bonds buy them.

A housewarming was given for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pfiel and family who moved from the Page community to the Hubbard ranch, north of O'Neill.

THE KIND OF RAISE WE ALL WANT!

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Every shipyard in our country is setting amazing records in the construction of a merchant marine so essential to the transport of supplies and men to the seven seas. The overall cost of these hundreds of ships now building runs into millions of dollars.

Many of them are called "Victory" ships and you are contributing to this victory by your purchase of War Bonds . . . at least ten percent of your income, every payday. We'll need these ships after the war, too, when Peace comes.

ERNEST O. TAVENER
"ALL-WEATHER" MAN
ON THE RAIL FRONT

Here's another "North Western" 30-year service man—Freight Brakeman Ernest O. Tavener.

Belying his pleasant exterior, Tavener is tough—tough in the sense that the elements mean nothing to him when there's work to do. Snow may beleaguer a city, bitter cold may nip ears and noses, yet Brakeman Tavener stays on the job. As he says, "My work helps to keep trainloads of war materials on the move, therefore it's important . . . the war must be won."

The war must be won!—that, too, is the motivating thought of Tavener's sons. Lieutenant Gene, with special training in radar, has had over six months service in Iceland. Lieutenant Ernest is a bombardier, now on duty in the South Pacific. Caryl, the youngest, is an aviation cadet, completing his training in Texas.

The Taveners are loyal Americans. But war isn't a glamorous thing to them. They're fighting because their way of living is endangered; because they feel, as do millions of others, that peace can come to this war-torn world only through the united efforts of all. "Braking" trains is one way of helping—fighting on the battle front is another.

"North Western" gratefully acknowledges the efforts of its thousands of patriotic employes. Like Tavener they have accepted the added responsibility of war—and are coming through gloriously.
