AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS GUARD CLASSIC TEMPLE—More than 2,700 years ago this Greek Temple of Neptune was erected at Paestum, Italy, and stands today untouched by the ravages of war. U. S. soldiers from every state in the Union have renewed their boyhood studies of ancient architecture in their visits to this shrine of the Greek gods. The sentries in Uncle Sam's khaki on guard at the gateway in their daydreams may visualize the soldiers of Hannibal's time who performed a similar duty. All is not fighting and bloodshed for American troops in Italy.

The wet cold weather of the past three weeks has delayed farm work. Many farmers do not have their oats in yet, and some are of the opinion that there will not be as much oats planted this year as usual, as it is getting rather late. Ground not put into small grain will be planted to corn.

H. R. Allen, one of the hustling farmers and stockmen living twelve miles east of O'Neill, was in the city Wednesday and favored this office with a peasant call. Mr. Allen informed us that he had just completed planting 500 Red Cedar seedlings. He already has a nice grove on his place and in a few years when these seedlings get a little growth, they will add much to the attractiveness of his already fine farm home.

GRANDMOTHERS' SALARIES BUY BONDS FOR GRANDCHILDREN

Mrs. Elizabeth Taggart (left) and Mrs. Edna Neff

NEW YORK, N. Y.: The slogan of the Grandmothers War Bond League, "Grandmother's Bond with the Future—War Bonds," is a common bond between two hard working grandmothers at the Aero Spark Plug Corporation in New York. Mrs. Elizabeth Taggart (left) and Mrs. Edna Neff invest part of their salaries in War Bonds every pay day.
Three-year-old grandson, John Wurmser, is co-owner of the Bonds Mrs. Taggart buys to back her fighting Seabee stepson, James Taggart.
Mrs. Neff's 10-month-old granddaughter, Barbara Ann, receives War Bonds gifts as part of her grandmother's "back the attack" program in honor of Barbara's Marine daddy, a master technical sergeant, the highest rank of an enlisted Marine. Mrs. Neff also has a son, Herman, fireman first class in the Navy. Her last letter from him came from Guadalcanal.
In endorsing the Grandmothers League founded by Mrs. Marshall, wife of the General, Mrs. Neff agrees with Mrs. Taggart that "in buying Bonds with our grandchildren as co-owners, we have an emergency fund to use if necessary. But we don't expect that. We want the Bonds to be there for the children's education."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS Free the Seas

Before we win the final battle with Hitler's Nazis all navy men are agreed we must win the battle of the Atlantic; that is to free the sea lanes of the German U-boats. A year ago we were building 54 cruisers and nearly 200 destroyers or just about enough for a two ocean navy.

Now we have come to realize that this war is to the finish, "winner take all," and our Government is building a five ocean navy. That is why we are being asked to increase our subscriptions for War Bonds. That is why we must do it. U. S. Treasury Department
