Congressman Miller's Weekly Letter

C. I. O. Political Action Group Claims Results. Martin Dies, Chairman of the Special Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities appointed by the House of Representatives, has been forced to withdraw as a candidate for renomination in the Texas primary because the state of his health will not permit him to make a strenuous enough campaign to overcome the effect of the great amount of money the C. I. O. Political Action Committee is prepared to spend to defeat him. His decision came on the heels of the primary in Alabama where Joe Starnes, ranking democratic member of the same committee, and a long time member of the House, was defeated by a flood of money from the same source. When called upon by Congressman Smith, democrat of Virginia, to investigate this group, officered by known communists, to see if it was breaking the Hatch Act, the Attorney General, a leading actor in the Montgomery Ward seizure, could find no cause to take action.

The C. I. O. Political Action Committee is out to defeat every member of Congress who voted for the Smith-Connelly Act and has millions of dollars to do it with. Congressman Rankin, democrat from Mississippi, said in congress May 15th, "the political action committee of the C. I. O., headed by Sidney Hillman, the foreign-born Communist, who is doing everything possible to try to destroy the confidence of the American people in our form of government, seems to be gloating over Mr. Dies' withdrawal, but if Congress does its duty not a single person whose campaign is financed by that outfit will be seated as a member of either House next year."

This group is now the main spearhead of the New Deal's attempt to perpetuate itself in office. People of Nebraska will remember how the New Deal purged former Senator Burke and former Congressman Harry Coffey. It makes no difference this year whether a person is a democrat or a republican, if he is not a new dealer they are after his scalp and with plenty of money.

"What God Hath Wrought!" That sentence flashed over the wire from the Supreme Court Room in the Capitol to Alfred Vail in Baltimore and returned by him on May 24, 1844, demonstrated to the Congress and the people of the world success of the claim of Samuel F. B. Morse that he could send and receive messages by wire. Congress had appropriated $30,000 to build the line from Washington to Baltimore.

Extensive plans are being made here in Washington to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of that event. The Library of Congress will have a special display of exhibits related to the event and to Mr. Morse. Paintings by Morse, who was an artist by profession will be on display at several Art Galleries in the city. A special observance will be held in the rotunda of the Capitol on the anniversary date at which Members of Congress, who were telegraphers at one time in their lives, will send messages. Congressman Karl Stefan of Nebraska is one of these and will take part in the program. A memorial tablet will be unveiled by Miss Leila Livingstone Morse, a grand-daughter of the inventor or by some other of his family. At Baltimore on the same day a Liberty ship named for her grandfather will be christened by Miss Morse. One hundred years since telegraphy was inaugurated and tomorrow television will be in common use.

ed to Holt county, Nebr., where they took up a homestead. With unflinching courage they went through all the hardships that fell to the lot of the Nebraska pioneers. After living on their homestead for eighteen years they sold it and bought a farm near Chambers, where they lived until the time of her husband's death, December 7, 1921. She still continued to live on their farm for eight years, until 1929, when she built a home and moved to town.

● John Deithloff, who began his "North Western" career in 1909, is well aware of the importance of his job. He says, "War has the right-of-way now and we've all got to do our part to see that fighting men and materials are transported safely."

John's work calls for patrolling some 20-odd miles of track between Crows Yard and Valley, day in and day out. He inspects... he tests... he checks. Automatic block signals, automatic crossing gates, wigwag and flasher signals—all these and more must be maintained in perfect working order. Safety decrees it—victory demands it.

"North Western" depends on John Deithloff and men like him to help safeguard its right-of-way. But this ex-Marine fighter, who fought overseas in World War I, has something extra special to be proud of—three sons and a daughter in service.

Emulating their father's example, 21-year-old Richard and 20-year-old Donald are members of the Marine Corps—now somewhere overseas. Seaman Allen, 18 years old, is serving on the U. S. S. Hazelwood. While Ruth, who enlisted a year ago, proudly wears the uniform of the WAVES.

But it matters little to the Deithloffs where they serve in this war just so long as they are privileged to serve. How grateful we should be that here in America there are millions like them!

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...
"Did you hear that Tom is going to be inducted into the Army next week, Judge?"
"Yes, Frank told me this morning down at the barber shop. Our town's got a lot of men in the service now, Jim. In fact, all towns have. I was just reading in the paper where there are more than 10,000,000 men away from their homes in the armed forces. And, from all reports, they're doing a grand job bringing victory closer every day."
"We folks at home have a mighty big obligation to those 10,000,000 fighting men. We've got to produce the food to keep them well fed. We've got to keep them supplied with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. We've got to help the Government pay for all these supplies our men need by buying more and more War Bonds. We'll have another big chance to do that by helping to put the 5th War Loan drive over the top, Jim."
"And, in addition, we must be sure that, while they're away and can't express their opinions, we don't go voting on and deciding any things that will displease them when they come back."
