NOTICE OF HEARING

In the Matter of the Estate of Ruth Johnson, Deceased.
In the County Court of Holt County, Nebraska
To All Persons Interested in Said Estate, Both Creditors and Heirs:
You are hereby notified that on the 23rd day of August, 1944, Frank J. Weber, petitioner, filed his petition in the above matter, setting forth among other things that Ruth Johnson, a resident and inhabitant of Holt County, Nebraska, died intestate therein on the 26th day of August, 1926, seized and possessed of the following described real estate, to-wit: An undivided one-twelfth interest in the Southwest Quarter (SW 1/4) of section 8, township 31 North, Range 17, West of the 6th P. M. in Rock County, Nebraska, and other land. That the said Ruth Johnson left surviving her as her sole and only heirs at law the following named persons, to-wit: Frank O. Johnson, a husband and Franklin Lee Johnson, a son; and the petitioner, Frank J. Weber, is the owner of the fee title to said real estate. That the prayer of said petitioner is for a decree determining the time of the death of the deceased and the names of her heirs, fixing the degree of kinship of said heirs, and the right of descent of said real estate, barring the claims of creditors of said deceased and for such other and further relief as may be just and equitable. That said matter is set for hearing before the County Court of Holt County, Nebraska, on the 16th day of September, 1944, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon.

Dated August 24th, 1944.

The Farmer and War Bonds
by Mr. A. S. Goss
Master of the National Grange

WE FREQUENTLY hear farmers raise the question as to whether or not they should buy War Bonds as long as they are in debt. The answer to this question should depend in large measure upon the nature of the debt and whether or not it is current. If part of it is past due, and the borrower expects to experience difficulty in meeting past due payments, he probably should bring his debt into current position before investing in Bonds. If, however, his payments are current, there seems to be no reason why farmers should not buy as many Bonds as they are able. Most individual investors in government Bonds are carrying debt in one form or another, at rates higher than the Bonds will yield. This is as it should be if the purchaser is in an earning position which permits the accumulation of some surplus, for we all owe it to our government to do our utmost in the financing of the war, even though the transaction may result in our paying some extra interest on outstanding debts.

When a farmer owes money, he is always concerned as to whether his crops will sell at prices which will enable him to repay his debt. When prices are high it is good business and conservative finance to reduce the debt as rapidly as possible because when prices are low, it takes more crops and more efforts to make the payments.

We should not forget, however, that a government Bond will pay off an equal amount of dollars of debt, no matter whether prices are high or whether prices are low. It is, therefore, a sound and conservative practice to buy government Bonds and lay them aside to make payments on existing debts when they fall due. In fact, quite aside from the patriotic appeal, it is good business to buy Bonds rather than make pre-payments on debt, because the time may come when the ready cash is needed and the money tied up in pre-payments cannot be returned. If this money is invested in Bonds, it can be converted into cash to meet any needs which may arise.

If everyone followed the policy of buying no War Bonds until their debts were paid, few Bonds would be sold to the public. We have an obligation to help finance this war which is vastly more important than the income we may receive on the investment of money in War Bonds.

Farmers are finding it impossible to maintain their machinery and buildings in a satisfactory state of repair. They are finding that they cannot replace worn-out equipment except at excessively high cost.

It would seem to be sound and conservative business practice to lay aside money to make the repairs and replace worn-out equipment when material and machines are again available. No safer place can be found to lay aside money for such purposes than in government Bonds.

Every time we buy a Bond we are not only assisting in financing the war, but we are also doing our bit to prevent that most dreaded economic disaster called inflation. If each one of us would invest as much as we could in government Bonds, the danger of inflation would be greatly reduced.
