A Petition From Nebraska's Own 134th INFANTRY in France

Under Deadly German Fire They Ask You to VOTE NO ON PROHIBITION NOVEMBER 7TH

(These signatures have been reduced to one-third size, to conserve space.)

This is an historic and touching document. It is a petition, written and signed by 312 Nebraska men of the famed 134th Infantry—Nebraska's own regiment—on the battlefield of France. It was signed shortly after this regiment made its heroic and bloody breakthrough at St. Lo, for which the unit was especially commended by General Eisenhower. The petition—soiled and grimed by battle—was sent to former Governor Keith Neville of North Platte by Col. Butler B. Miltonberger, Commander of the regiment. It pleads for a defeat of the proposed state prohibition law in November. Following is an excerpt from Col. Miltonberger's letter accompanying the petition:

"I am sorry," Col. Miltonberger said, "there are no more names on the petition. Two things operated to make them hard to get: The first is that most of the Nebraska soldiers are wounded and in the hospital or killed; and second, we are very busy at the job of chasing Germans. You would have been interested to hear the comments of the soldiers when signing it. They were to a man mad and disgusted. They feel so helpless over a thing like this that their first impulse is to say: To hell with it! Many of these signatures are of men who never drink, but they feel the same. I hope you can put the petitions to effective use."

The PETITION

France 18 August 1944
To the People of Nebraska:
We, the undersigned citizens of Nebraska, who are now serving in the armed forces in defense of our country, are dismayed to learn that those of us who survive this war may have to return to the kind of a Nebraska that our fathers returned to in 1919. We feel that we are being disfranchised. Our minds are fully occupied with two propositions: To kill as many Germans as possible to the end that we may get home as quickly as possible; and to ourselves survive until we can get home again. We ask the people of Nebraska to see to it that the Nebraska we return to will be the same Nebraska we left when we entered the Armed Forces.
