SMALL DOSES PAST AND PRESENT

By Romaine Saunders
Atkinson, Neb.

Those who make the rules are only men like the men who are directed to comply with the rules.

Killed — Wounded — Missing. Bitter words, words that have started the tears in a half million American homes, tears mingled with a solemn pride that has been their lot to make so costly a contribution to the cause of freedom.

Dwayne Bly and others, students of Chambers High, out this way got an extra week in at home for a holiday vacation because of the illness of one of their instructors.

If nature has given you a shock of red hair you have been selected to perpetuate the original. Tradition places the blame on Father Adam and Mother Eve for this also. Ancients believed the first pair had flaming red crowns of glory never covered by hat or bonnet.

A venerable compatriot down at Clay Center thinks a deeper pink would tint the prairie roses, the buffalo grass add more weight to Shorthorns and Whitefaces, more corn piles dot the plowland and perfection's halo hover over the state house if he were permitted to plant his feet on the soft carpets of the governor's suite. He will only be 83 the next time there is a call and it is not likely a lifelong habit will be outlined by then. If the democrats will give the husky old boy a chance I might consider voting for him.

Anyway, horses have been spared the horrors of war.

The sheriff has closed all pool halls in one county in Texas because "Men who frequent them hamper the war effort when labor is scarce." A pool hall is an illegal institution in the Lone Star state.

An early January afternoon. Tomorrow a blizzard could roar on wild wings out of the north as it did 57 years ago. Today started with a gentle snowfall. Mid-afternoon. A white carpet is spread across the prairie land. Not a twig quivers—not breeze disturbs nature's soft embrace of purity. Out of cerulean depths the sun rides on, bits of clouds fling fleecy banners beneath the blue of heaven, spreading on earth and sky a picture in flaming gold, bewildering white and blue—and without all this waste of words you already know it's a nice day.

The army chief-of-staff came out on Dec. 7 with this prediction: "Before this statement is published hostilities may have terminated in Europe." Here is another found in the Air News: "By the time this article appears, the collapse of fascist Germany may have already set in." Fathers, mothers, wives, war-weary and heavy-laden hearts all over the country who saw a star of hope in these predictions from eminent sources will wonder why the monumental ignorance of what was beyond the Allied lines. Will the lesson of Pearl Harbor, S. Naval officer has no illusions. On a cold gray day in December he said: "This is going to be a long, tough war."

When the dog of war were turned loose by Kaiser Wilhelm Henry Ford headed a "peace ship" on a futile mission. The intervening quarter of a century has disillusioned Mr. Ford and his great factories hum night and day producing war materials.

Short on sugar? Try honey.

Seed catalogs in gay colors greet us again. Amid stories of disaster, wreckage of war and hourly tragedies they are like a burst of sunshine after days of gloom.

Germany has its gang leaders to deal with and also its gang, which is the more millions of the German people. Fed for a century by pagan Prussians on the philosophy of brute force, sex lust and lying—a nation has been developed, not of master men, but crafty demons. The sturdy, worthwhile and cultured of the race have found asylum in other lands. Multitudes set their faces toward the beckoning light of the Goddess of Liberty and have become thorough-going Americans.

The gleam of a lone star high in the southwest penetrates the early night mists that weave a web of obscure and distant orbs of light. An hour before dawn the mists have come to earth to powder trees and land with rare jewelry, while out of the blue of eternity countless stars serenely glow on this quiet spot of a troubled world, a bit of reflection of another world, when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy"—of an age yet to come, "Starry crowns will then be given when the King shall claim His own."

L. G. Gillespie spent Wednesday and Thursday in Lincoln on business.

Mrs. Louisa Toft left for California after making an extensive visit here with her sister, Mrs. C. P. Uhl, and other relatives.

Rev. Francis Price Has Received Appointment To Parish In Omaha, Nebr.

1945 License Plates Must Be Purchased Before February First

Owen J. Boyles, Assistant Director of the State Motor Vehicle Division, today advised the public that 1945 license plates are now available and are on sale at the various county treasurer's offices. As provided by law, the 1945 license plates must be displayed on or before February 1, 1945, and Mr. Boyles suggests that individuals contact their county treasurer and obtain their plates.

Only one plate will be issued in compliance with the WPB request to conserve metal, and this plate is to be placed on the rear of the vehicle. Mr. Boyles further advised that in instances where an individual is issued the same license number in 1945 as he was issued in 1944, he may, if he so desires, allow the 1944 number to remain on the front of his vehicle. In case the same number is not issued, the front number is to be taken from the vehicle and destroyed.

Mr. Boyles also advised that due to the conservation program there will be a number of counties where the county treasurer has not been issued the same number of license plates as in previous years, and in these instances an individual may not be able to secure, for the registration year 1945, the same license number assigned to his vehicle in previous years.

Raisplitters, in First Battle, Chalk Up 'Perfect Operation'

By Wes Gallagher
"With Ninth Army, Germany, Dec. 1.—It revealed today that the "Raisplitting" 84th Div. was the American unit which teamed with the British to capture the German stronghold of Geilenkirchen in a 'perfect operation'."

"It was the first time the 84th has been in action during the war. The division is commanded by Brig. Gen. Alexander R. Bolling, who was wounded and won the DSC during World War I. He was commissioned in 1917 from OCS and is one of the few brigadier generals in the American Army to command a division.

"The 84th, a part of the Ninth Army, was loaned to the British for the Geilenkirchen operation."

"On the first day of the attack one regimental combat team of the 84th smashed at the high ground east of Geilenkirchen dominating the city. The doughboys took every objective on schedule, capturing 400 prisoners and linking up north of Geilenkirchen with the British."

"On the following morning another regimental combat team of Raisplitters struck north along the Wurm River."

"One lieutenant colonel pushed his force through to Siggerath, two miles north of Geilenkirchen. Realizing that his unit was in a bad strategic position, he led a six-man patrol to high ground. "The patrol ran into ambush and four were killed and one wounded."

TO OUR READERS

Dear Reader: For the past several months we have been trying to get help in the office to assist in issuing The Frontier, but in vain. Last week I thought that I had finally succeeded and had found a man to take an interest in the paper and run it until after the legislative session, when I could get back in the harness. But the deal fell through last Sunday. So that's that.

We have one more change—we are corresponding with another party, who wants an interest in the paper and could run it while I am in Lincoln and on my return we would be able to get out a bigger and better than ever newspaper. If the deal falls through it may be necessary to suspend publication until the close of the session, when I can get back and resume publication. We do not want to do this, but circumstances sometimes alter cases. But here's hoping that The Frontier will continue to visit you each week, as it has for the past sixty-five years.

Gratefully yours,
DENNIS H. CRONIN

Nebraska And Holt County Over Top In The Sixth War Loan

Nebraska climbed in the Victory column January 5, as final Federal Reserve Bank figures for the Sixth War Loan indicated that Nebraska had exceeded its quotas in every field of the drive.

Final figures, which will be changed only slightly by minor adjustments, showed that Nebraska stood shoulder to shoulder with the nation in putting the Sixth War Loan over the top, as Nebraska has done in every previous War Loan drive.

The most difficult job in the drive was the making of the individual quota of 52 million dollars, but final figures showed total sales of $53,887,759, in this category, or 104 percent of quota. Holt County's figures in this bracket showed a quota of $524,100 with sales of $436,674, or 83 percent of quota.

Of equal importance was the total sale of $35,075,865 in "E" Bonds, or 113 percent of Nebraska's "E" quota of 31 million dollars. Holt county's figures are: Quota $337,200 with sales of $355,234 or 105 percent of quota.

During the Sixth War Loan Nebraska purchased $132,974,475 of all types of government securities, exceeding the over-all quota of $94,000,000 by 41 percent. Holt county figures show a quota of $561,700, sales of $599,733 or 107 percent of quota.

Although total sales in the Sixth were approximately $4,600,000 less in Nebraska than in the Fifth, the state made 141 percent of its quota in the Sixth, as compared with an excess of only 129 percent of quota in the Fifth War Loan.

Nebraska did not quite reach the national percentage figure of 154 percent of the over-all national quota.

"The fact that Nebraska exceeded every quota in the Sixth War Loan is extremely gratifying," said Dale Clark, chairman of the Nebraska War Finance committee in commenting on the final report. "The Sixth War Loan was probably the most difficult assignment we have faced to date, due in part to a feeling of optimism which was encountered by war bond volunteer solicitors in the early stage of the drive last November and December. The German breakthrough and drive into Belgium convinced Nebraskans and the nation generally that the war was far from over."

The State War Finance Committee and the 93 county war finance committees in Nebraska are grateful for the support they received from bond buyers who made the Sixth War Loan a success through their purchase of government securities.

"As chairman of the State War Finance Committee I want to thank the thousands of loyal volunteer bond solicitors in the cities, towns and villages of Nebraska, and in the rural communities, for sticking to their job until it was done in customary Nebraska fashion."

In commenting on the close of the drive, Leon J. Markham, executive manager of the state War Finance Committee said:

"It was a grand job and every Nebraskan has a right to be proud of this state's accomplishment. However, we should remember that the war is far from over and there will be more War Bond drives. We must also remember to keep buying bonds during the periods between drives. The cost of the war goes on from day to day and we must have money to make sure that our boys on the fighting fronts have plenty of equipment. Then, too, I would urge every bond buyer to keep his bonds. They are an investment in America."

Agriculture Census Enumerators For Holt County Named

The agricultural resources and production of the United States at war will be measured with the taking of the coming Census of Agriculture, scheduled to begin January 8, 1945. Months of preparation preceded the completion of the schedules and the final selection of the questions to be asked. The information given to the Enumerator is strictly confidential.

The first questions to be asked by the enumerator will be concerned with identifying information for each farm household—the name of the farm operator, his race and age, location of the farm, the number of dwelling units on the farmstead and their facilities, such as running water and electricity, and the number of persons residing on the farmstead.

Questions relating to acreage and production of field crops harvested during the year will also be asked. In addition, information on the number of mules and colts, horses and colts, and calves, sheep and heifers, 2 years old and over kept mainly for milk, hogs and pigs, and sows and gilts will be requested. A similar count is to be taken on the number of cattle exclusive of calves, the number of calves, and the number of hogs and pigs butchered, also the number of cattle and calves on feed for market. Sheep and lambs will be counted together, as will goats and kids, but a separate count on all ewes a year old and over will be taken.

The questions on poultry will deal specifically with the number of chickens 4 months old or older on hand Jan. 1, 1945, the number of chicken eggs produced, the number of turkeys raised and the value of all poultry and poultry products sold or traded in 1944. Questions on the number of cows milked in 1944; the number of gallons of milk produced; the number of gallons of whole milk, pounds of butterfat in cream, and pounds of butter sold; and the value of all dairy products sold or traded will cover the dairy side of farming. The cost of feed bought in 1944 also will be ascertained.

Joseph L. Cavanaugh Is Promoted To Corporal In India China Division ATC

Air Transport Cammond Base, India—Joseph L. Cavanaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cavanaugh, RFD No. 1, Chambers, Neb., was promoted recently to Corporal in the India China Division, Air Transport Command.

Cpl. Cavanaugh has served in the division since February, 1944 and is a Sanitary Inspector. He has been in the army since December, 1942. In civilian life he was a ranch hand.

Since the closing of the Burma road by the Japs, the India China Division has been the only source of supplies for Allied troops fighting in China. The ICD flies vital war material over the "Hump" of the Himalaya mountains in giant transport planes. The route is considered the world's most treacherous because of the dangerous flying weather and the craggy terrain.

Miss Concy Biglin, who is in nurses' training at St. Vincent's hospital in Sioux City, will leave Saturday for St. Bernard's hospital in Council Bluffs, Iowa for further training.
