

Gen. Stilwell Road Completed to Supply China

The greatest engineering feat in the annals of the United States army was the completion of the Stilwell road through Burma, by Brig. Gen. Lewis A. Peck, his American engineers and thousands of native laborers. Not only was the road constructed, air fields built, mountains and jungles conquered, the monsoons defeated, raging rivers bridged, but malaria was licked in solving the problem as General Peck and his men slaved against time, nature and the Japanese, thousands of miles from home.

Ex-G.I.s Enter College for Postwar Training

'Bush Telegraph' of Africa Still Mystery to Whites

The famous "bush telegraph" of the African wilds, the native drums that beat out mysterious messages, has always been a problem to the white man. A scientist stated recently: "I do not believe any white man will ever be able to understand this drumming. The drum system is not a sort of Morse code, but as natural as the Negro's instinct. It is a rhythm, like the black man's speech, where one word has many meanings according to pronunciation. "There is no thought which cannot be expressed with the aid of the drums, no message so intricate that it cannot be beaten out by a skillful operator. "Warring tribes temporarily forget their quarrels in order to relay important tidings across rivers and international frontiers. The 'Talking drums' are used to announce native weddings and other important local events."
