THE METHODIST CHURCH

Dawson J. Park, Minister O'Neill, Nebraska

Sunday, April 30th

10:00 a. m. Church School, Lorenz Bredemeier, Supt.

We do not want it said of us, "Thou art neither cold nor hot." It is a negative attitude toward both good and evil. In the lukewarm Christian, good and evil meet and are neutralized. The danger of it is that it expels man from Christ. The cure of it is activity. Jesus stands at the door and knocks for admittance. There is nothing that restores warmth like communion. Come and commune with your Saviour Jesus Christ.

11:00 a. m. Morning Worship—Anthem—Sermon: When The World's On Fire.

7:30 p. m. Youth Fellowship. A number attended the Rally at Page Methodist Church a couple weeks ago. It is that spirit which we wish to prevade our fellowship meetings. You are invited to attend and share your experiences with others.

HE SHOOTS TROUBLE

on the Fighting Front

I've been doing a lot of troubleshooting (preparing telephone lines) and want you to know that the crews I worked with back in our Construction Department are responsible for the successful tasks I have accomplished.

Part of a letter from a Northwestern Bell man in the Army Signal Corps.

One man out of every six who were with this Company when the war started is now with the armed forces. Many are using their skills learned in peacetime to provide communication service on the fighting fronts.

Here at home, operators, line-men, business office representatives, accountants, managers, installers—all of the nearly 14,000 telephone people—are providing a service that helps to maintain production in plants and on farms, to train and equip troops, and to carry on essential government and civilian wartime activities.
