Washington, D. C., June 1st. Officials of the Postal Affairs Section of the Navy Department recently issued a statement regarding the importance of proper selection of gifts for overseas mailing to Navy personnel. In answer to the question which frequently arises—"What shall I Send?"—the Navy Mail Service stated that extensive surveys have shown that Navy personnel overseas above all want letters—letters giving local news and telling of things done and things planned. Secondly, they want objects with a personal, sentimental appeal such as photographs snapshots, drawings made by their youngsters, and newspaper clippings that can be enclosed in these letters.

Survey Shows Gifts To Send And Not To Send

An extensive survey has been taken of what sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen serving in forward areas want in their gift packages. Reports have also come in on the type of gifts WAVES, SPARS, and MARINES serving overseas prefer from home.

Such surveys have shown that they positively know what they don't want. Foremost among the Don'ts are cakes, soft candies, cookies, cigarettes, and fancy toilet kits. Foods such as candies and cakes that may have been their favorites when they were home are a battered mass of crumbs or moldy chocolate when they arrive at their overseas destination.

Following are lists of the Do and Don't items to be remembered in the selection of overseas gifts: Do mail for men—pictures, canned luxury foods (olives, nuts, sardines, etc.), books, writing cases or portfolios, service watches, pipes, pens, engraved identification tags, waterproof wallets, cigarette lighters. Do Mail for Women—pictures, books, play clothes, lingerie, stockings, gloves. Do mail The Gift They Tell You They Want. Don't Mail to Anyone Overseas at Any Time soft candy, cakes, cookies, fancy toilet kits, cigarettes.

On ships and at shore stations there are stores which are well stocked with items such as soap, shaving creams, shaving kits, sewing kits, hair tonic, shampoo, lotions, cigarettes, candy, chewing gum, lipsticks, cosmetics, and other personal items that can be easily and cheaply obtained when they are needed.

The limited space in a locker for stowage of clothes and equipment does not permit many personal items being kept so don't load them down with things they'll have to discard. The wisest thing to do is to ask them what they want.

In the conduct of the war, there is no recognition of the seasons of the year and as far as mailing packages to Navy Marine and Coast Guard personnel, they may be mailed throughout the year. To assure a gift getting to its addressee, select wisely, wrap securely, and address correctly.

Issuance Of Canning Sugar This Week

Issuance of canning sugar certificates in the amount of five pounds each will begin Thursday at the 35 War Price and Rationing Boards in Sioux City OPA District, M. E. Rawlings, District Director, announced this week.
This year the quota of 4,979,999 pounds of sugar for canning has 283 pounds of sugar were issued for canning purposes, sugar being given according to the amounts designated on the application.
With a quota set for the District, each of the 35 ration boards have been allotted a certain quota to be issued each month throughout the canning season, and each board must stay within its given quota.
If quotas were not established, stated Hugh J. Robertson, District Rationing Executive, and Boards issued canning sugar during June as they did last year, refiners, wholesalers, and retailers would not have sugar available to take care of the certificates issued.
"We certainly do not want a lot of canning certificates out which cannot be redeemed, nor do we want all the sugar hoarded by would-be canners so that during July and August when there is plenty of fruit and vegetables, the average housewife would not buy sugar for her regular home needs," he continued.
At the present time there is virtually no fruit available for canning, but the District Office will issue the five pounds of sugar so housewives can preserve strawberries which are arriving on the market, said Mr. Robertson.
The second issue of the balance of the canning sugar quota will begin late in July or early August, Mr. Robertson explained. Persons will not have to make a second application as they did last year, but will notify their board by letter.
The District OPA Office asks persons who do not do home canning not to apply for sugar because it will work a hardship on those who do can annually.

Early worm control pays. I've been busy but not too busy to remove large roundworms and cecal worms from my flock. Growing birds, heavily infested with these worms, can't do their best, so I give them Dr. Salzbury's AVITON in either wet or dry mash. It's a quick, effective, labor saving treatment. Try it!
