Dots and Dashes help run the railroad!
...big news in 1855

Yesterday and Tomorrow A Story of Transportation

THE year 1855 was significant in the annals of western railroading. In a history of early transportation, the report was brief of an event of tremendous importance. "This year," it read, "a telegraph line was built alongside the road between Chicago and Freeport and the trains were operated by it."

Thus was the telegraph first used in the west as an aid in train operations. Its use brought new safety and efficiency to train movements... was vital in the rapid expansion of railroads and the development of communities in the west.

The union of telegraph and rail operation is taken for granted today. But there were skeptics, back in the 50s, who thought messages in the form of electrical impulses would never run a railroad!

IN the 97-year growth of the Chicago and North Western System the new has constantly replaced the old. "5400" Freight Diesels, recently placed in service and illustrated here, are examples.

These new power plants are capable of pulling a train of loaded freight cars 500 miles without a stop for fuel. They are geared for safe speeds up to 70 miles an hour! In the peace days to come "North Western" will continue its policy of progress, providing better and better transportation service.

Don't Worry About Us! We'll do it!

THEY tell us that the fat salvage problem has got to be licked in the small cities, in the towns and on the farms.

Our country has to have one hundred million more pounds of used fats this year over last. And we're the people who must save it.

We've rolled up our sleeves! We'll save every drop and bit it is possible to scrape, and keep on doing it till the last Jap is licked.

HOW TO DO IT: Save all used fats in a tin can. Keep it handy to the stove. Scrape your broilers and roasting pans, skim soups and gravies, for every drop counts. Keep solid pieces of fat, such as meat trimmings and table scraps, in a bowl. Melt down when your oven's going, add the liquid fat to the salvage can. Take the can to your butcher as soon as it's full. He will give you four cents and two red points for every pound. Your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent can give you full particulars.

100,000,000 More Pounds of Used Fats Are Needed This Year!

Approved by WFA and OPA. Paid for by Industry.
