HARVEST YOUR USED FAT!
It's Needed More Than Ever Now!

All over the world, food fats are scarce. There is a global shortage of industrial fats and oils essential to victory and peace. American kitchens, according to War Food Administration, are the "most fertile source" from which to meet 1945 fats and oils requirements. While it takes lots of manpower, toil, sweat, time, gasoline and machinery to cultivate and harvest oilseed crops, it requires little effort to salvage fat in your kitchen. If you scrape, scoop and skim one pound of used fat every month, your contribution will equal the oilseed yield from eight Victory garden plots planted exclusively to oil crops. Save every single drop! Turn in your used kitchen grease for cash and extra ration points!
