A man by the name of McCathlin was on the first part of the week lecturing and working for the organization of a Good Templars lodge in this village. He represented himself as a District Deputy of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars of the state. He held evening lectures Monday and Friday evenings characterized by wild exaggerations and misrepresentations rather than truth. We must confess that the lecture did not impress us as being a man of much power or of very high standing. It would not seem in our opinion, the propriety of entering men for their work who shall carry with them some degree of respectability. The order is now so low down in the opinion of the public that it will require gentlemen of character and dignity to elevate it to the notice of the better class of people.
The lectures of the Deputy seemed burdened with the idea that a new political party must be formed based upon temperance. There seems to be a movement on foot to elect Governor and U. S. Senator, this coming fall by means of the temperance vote. We understand that the deputy on his arrival here began to abuse Gov. Garber in unmeasured terms, but finding that the Governor was known here and had a few strong friends (as you may say), the deputy let go the crowd and confined himself to temperance. But he had already betrayed himself, and his employers.
