Decides Webster County's
FATESHALL SHE LIVE OR DIE?

The fourth May is nearly upon us and yet many of our farmer friends are undecided as to what way to vote although we are glad to know more still have made up their minds to vote bonds and we feel that confidence in our citizens that we are certain of a rousing two thirds for the railroad. Why does a single man sleep before he makes up his mind on what to do in the coming vote which is the crisis of Webster county. On that day glorious young Webster will either make or break.

And as her many and intelligent citizens are brought to know the importance of this bond voting they immediately say "Vote the bonds". Red Cloud has been asleep himself until within the last two weeks, when the governor came to his old home and told him the value and advantage of a railroad, when they woke from their slumber and have been working for the bonds ever since.

Locally we have given you an argument consisting of FACTS which logically joined together lead one to the swift, unerring, irresistible and inevitable conclusion: "I must vote for the bonds."

Because it is to your interest.

In giving you higher prices for your grain.

In saving you as a county thousand of dollars cost of hauling grain to Hastings.

In bringing the business into the county that now builds up Adams and Clay.

In building up the towns of the county and by competition reducing the price of what the farmers buy.

In bringing in thousands of hungry mouths, thereby creating a home market for your produce.

In bringing the coal mines of Colorado at our feet and making us a market among the miners for all manner of provisions.

In bringing in thousands of farmers to cultivate the broad prairies thus doing still more to promote that moisture attendant in Nebraska upon cultivation.

It is this searching after the coal fields of Colorado, this desire to reach the cattle ranges of Southwestern Nebraska.

Why then is the road to the coal fields of Colorado, this desire to reach the cattle ranges of Southwestern Nebraska?

It is this desire to reach the cattle ranges of Southwestern Nebraska?

It is this desire to reach the cattle ranges of Southwestern Nebraska?

It is this
