THE VALLE. Dec. 24, 1878.

Winter has laid many hands upon us and his striking cordially invites us to meet by the stove. While we are wondering how we will spend the long winter nights in the state of our adoption, and have almost concluded to subscribe for our county paper to bear us company these lonely nights.

I am caused by the news that Invalids have a debating club. The enterprising young gentlemen of this present—seeing the pleasure and profit of a meeting of a literary character wisely decided to start one.

Their first meeting was last Friday night. Your correspondent attended and was well paid for his trouble. The house was called to order by A. Walker, who stated the object of the meeting and concluded by calling Mr. R. Davis to the chair, who on taking the chair made some very appropriate remarks. On permanent organization, Mr. Davis was unanimously chosen Pres., A. Walker, Vice Pres., L. Walker, Sec., H. Luce, Treas.

After the completion of the organization the following question was very discussed: Resolved, that intemperance causes more injury to our country than war.

Aff. I Walker, U G Knight, H Luce, Geo. Harvey, Ed Parmer.

Neg. J. M. Jones, J. W. Vance, W. Harvey, M. Lawson, A. Walker.

After a very warm discussion it was decided in the negative.

Although for the most part the speakers were young, yet they showed no mean knowledge of the rules of debate and at times really grew eloquent, especially did U G Knight, —Luce, A. Walker, and Eddie Palmer.

On next Friday night the Society will discuss the following: Resolved,

That the works of art are more beautiful than those of nature.

Respectfully,

SAND BURN.
