USEFUL AND BEAUTIFUL.

The Nebraska Farmer, published at Lincoln. Neb., starts out upon its third volume with full vigor. Its renders all speak very highly of it, and agree that it contains much that is useful to the farmer, as well as the mechanic, or the merchant. Ladies like its bright pages, as it tells them about the flowers and shrubs, or how to make all the pastry, and ten thousand things needed about the house. Its pages are illuminated by cuts of stock of the most approved breeds, and its columns are filled with letters from the best agricultural writers in the State. We are clubbing it with our paper at a very low rate. Call at our office and examine a copy, or send stamp to its publisher for a sample.
