From the Washington Star ! A reporter of the Star this morning dropped into the large building on C Street, corner of Twentieth, where the official records of the war are being compiled. Gen. Marcus J. Wright, who is engaged in collecting the records of the Confederate side, was found in his office. He said: "Very many of the most valnable official papers of the Confederate army were lost or destroyed in the general break-up and surrender. Our purpose is to get copies of all such papers, and thus make complete the official record of that side. Such of the papers as were preserved were obtained by the Government, and I was appointed to procure duplicates of those that were

"Do the ex-Confederate officers give their files up to you?" "Oh, yes. As a general rule they give them to us, but where any of them have papers they wish to keep they allow us to make copies of them, and we return the originals. Gen. Joseph E. Johnston turned over to us his entire records, containing all his reports, official letters, and reports of his subordinate officers. I have also all of Gen. Pemberton's papers, and that gives us a complete official record of the Vick-burg campaign as conducted on the Confed erate side.

" Did they turn over their papers entirely to the Government?" "Yes. We preserve the papers, and they are accessible at all times to those them or make copies. They give them of the trouble and care of keeping them, been reduced almost one half. and does not deprive them of any use they would want to make of the papers. We take every precaution against loss by fire or otherwise of the papers we get. We have printed copies of each one made, and 18 or 20 copies are distributed around among as many of the departments and other Government buildings, so that in case of fire we are certain not to have them all destroyed."
