THE State Journal gives the following new books for their library. good advise on the presidential question: A certain class of Republican newspapers, ambitious to be tied to the tail of a "Grant," a "Blaine," or a "Sherman" boom, are showing signs of beginning the cut-throat business, that was so lively four years ago, before the meeting of the Cincinnati Convention. They seem to think that to serve Grant, or Blaine, or Sherman, whichever it may be, that they have selected for their choice it is necessary to abuse and blacken the two other prominent candidates. They should be warned by the result in 1876, when the result of this dirty spirit of detraction was the defeat of every prominent and strong candidate before the Convention,
