We hear of a few cases of diphtheria in town this week.

Hon James Laird came in on the train Tuesday night.

Brother Yeiser will preach at the court house, next Sabbath.

How do you like the appearance of the coal fields of Kansas?

The brewery was the scene of a little knock down last week.

Attorney Ash came down on the train Tuesday, from Hastings.

Josh Billings is said to have made $40,000 from his writings.

The breach of promise suit will not come off this term of Court.

His Honor, Judge Gasslin arrived promptly last Monday evening.

Send the CHIEF for six months or a year to your friends in the east.

Elder Reilly has moved to his claim on the old reservation near Kearney.

Parties who wish to rent their farms would do well to call at this office.

The machine men report immense sales of farm machinery already this spring.

After the 15th of April, trains will run regularly to Arapahoe, Furnas county.

Charley Sloan has been installed as clerk in Holcomb Brook hardware store.

Rev. Bent delivered a temperance lecture at the court house last Sunday night.

Dr. Lee of Blue Hill was thrown from his sulky, recently, and had his leg broken.

The boys from Cowles will engage our Red Cloud boys in a game of base ball, next Saturday.

Look out for the "15-13-14" puzzle, it will soon strike Red Cloud, if it has not already done so.

Mr. A. M. Wood, left last Wednesday for Kearney, where he will engage in the jewelry business.

Alms, the county seat of Harlin county, proposes to have a grand jubilee on the 14th day of April.

This week is court week and consequently the town presents a livelier appearance than usual.

We give place this week to a temperance article, which, though not strictly original, should be read by all.

Lou Clapp's team ran away again Tuesday morning, and made things lively for a while. No particular damage was done.

Newspapers are denouncing the "additional eighty" business that is being worked up by some real estate firms, as a swindle.

Last Monday was so warm and spring like that it was with difficulty we could keep ourselves from having an attack of spring fever.

The old stone billiard hall is being overhauled and a new front put in. We are told Mr. Jacobs will start a saloon when it is completed.

If our article last week, in regard to the masquerade offended any of the fair ones, we are truly sorry, and will perhaps "take it all back" next week.

Mr. Wm. Jones, an old subscriber of the CHIEF, after a few weeks trial of the other paper, comes back and orders the "old staidy" sent to his address.

Mr. Thomas Wright who has sojournd in Iowa during the winter, returned last Friday. He still likes Nebraska, and especially the Republican Valley, the best.

By divine permission, the Rev. Geo. O. Yeiser, will preach next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock, at the court house, (Sunday school at 12) and at 7:45 P. M. will deliver a temperance lecture.

We took a run up to our farm and to Cowles, last Tuesday morning. Cowles is not going ahead with reckless rapidity, but is enjoying a good solid growth. The merchants and other business men report business very good.

We see by the Omaha and Lincoln papers that another Bank is talked of at Red Cloud. Another Banking house is needed in Red Cloud, and would do a good business, but we have not learned that anyone has concluded to open up here as yet, but doubtless the field will not long remain open.

A Lincoln young man is reported to have said, as he hugged his sweetheart in the dark depot, on his return from a journey: "Oh, my darling, why didn't you write of this? What is it—spinal disease, or have you dislocated some of your ribs, that you are obliged to wear this great leather bandage?"—She explained that it was only her new wide belt.

The concert given at the court house last Tuesday evening by the Red Cloud Glee Club, was creditably informed, was a success and reflected great credit upon the musical talent of the young gentlemen and especially the ladies engaged in the entertainment. We were unable to be present, but hope that upon the occasion of their next concert we can attend.

A dry goods clerk "suddenly and mysteriously" left the sacred precincts of Red Cloud a short time ago, and a grave widow "came up missing" about the same time. Did she lead him to the altar of Hyacin, or did he lead her to Dr. — office in Omaha.

We are told that certain parties who did not like our squib on the masquerade ball last week, will "ansher" us in the Argus this week. Yes, do. Good use to publishing all we know about that affair, we can stand it, whoop'er up. Seriously, however, no offense was intended in that article, and how anyone can construe it as to make it seem derogatory to anyone, is a mystery to us. We let you down easier than we will again, if forced to a discussion of the subject.

The editor of the Argus found a typographical error in the Guide Rock News, an error that was discovered and corrected before half the papers were worked off, and took the trouble to call attention to it last week. His own paper, however, is not free from errors, for in the local calling attention to the aforesaid error he speaks of the "columns" of that sheet. A little further down in the same column we find the following sentence: "Persons contemplate making a trip to Europe will save time and trouble by buying tickets here." Still further down we find "follow," and then we are startled by the astounding intelligence that the school meeting will be "held at the old school" house on "Mandy." Sheep are referred to as lambs and "weathers." Attention is called to "bony" soap, agent "Allen" is spoken of, and our attention is called to "hellion" brick. These errors we noticed while casually looking over the local page of last week's Argus.

Verily, "those who live in glass houses should not throw stones."

DOES IT PAY?

(A Temperance Article.) Does it pay to have scores of workmen poor, ragged, and financially ruined, in order that one saloon keeper may be dressed in broadcloth, and flush of money?

Does it pay to have fifty working men live on bone soup and half rations, in order that one saloon keeper may flourish on roast turkey and champagne?

Does it pay to have the mothers and children of twenty families dressed in rags, starved into the semblance of emaciated scarecrows, and living in holes, in order that the saloon keeper's wife may dress in satin, and her children grow fat and hearty, and live in a nice parlor?

Does it pay to have a citizen in jail to be supported at the public expense, because another citizen sells him liquor?

Does it pay to have one citizen supported by the tax payers of the county, in the lunatic asylum, because another citizen makes him crazy by selling him liquor?

Does it pay to arrest, try, convict and perish a man at a cost of thousands of dollars to the tax payers of the county, because another man sold him liquor, under the influence of which he committed murder?

Does it pay to have ten of our smart, active and intelligent boys turned into vagabonds and criminals, to enable one man to lead an easy life by selling them liquor?

Does it pay for a paltry license to allow John Doe to sell Richard Roe whiskey, and then spend thousands of dollars of the tax payers money in prosecuting Richard Roe for a crime committed while crazy by the whiskey?

Does it pay to have one thousand houses blasted, ruined, defiled, and turned into hells of discord and misery, in order that one wholesale liquor dealer may amass a large fortune?

Does it pay to keep 5,000 men in the penitentiaries and prisons, and hospitals, 1,000 in the lunatic asylums, and 10,000 men, women and children in the poor houses, at the expense of the honest, industrious tax-payers, in order that a few capitalists may grow richer by the manufacture and sale of whiskey?

Does it pay to permit the existence of a traffic which only results in crime, poverty, misery, and death, and which never did, never does, never can, and never will do any good?

It never pays to do wrong; your sin will find you out, whether others find it out or not, the sin knows where you are, and will always keep you posted of that fact. It does not pay.

Does the honest man sellers ad's pay? HERE IT IS

All hail friends and neighbors, I've opened a shop, at which I invite you politely to stop; I keep liquid fire to sell to all, I therefore beseech you to give me a call. I've purchased indulgence from court, and begin, dealing out to my neighbors rum, brandy and gin. I expect to make paupers for you to support, and to help on the business you custom I court; I'll also make drunkards and beggars likewise, but then I am honest, and need no disguise, I shall deal in foul spirits, and hope to excite, men to rob, and to murder by day and by night, I shall drive away comfort, expense, and I shall stir up commotion, on this 'I'm intent; at a very short notice, and for a small sum, by the wonderful magic of brandy, and rum. I will fill your saylums, and poor houses too, to your prisons and scaffolds I'll send not a few; I will sell you, kind neighbors, if you will but call, a drink that will poison and ruin you all. The goods I shall deal in, will take away life, deprive some of reason, fill the country with strife; and make widows and orphans, of fathers, make feeble, the load rail of thousands my business attend. Of natural affection the parent I'll rob, I'll incite inurrection, and stir up a mob; though spirits are priceless I'll send them to hell, compel them to torment forever to dwell. Should any one ask me my reason to give, my answer is money, and money I'll have.

Crown Jewel Patent Co., can always be had at the store of Chas. E. Putnam. The best flour in the valley.

GUIDE ROCK CORRESPONDENCE.

GUIDE ROCK, NEB., March 18th, 1880.

EDITOR CHIEF—In this beautiful spot, cultivated by the pioneers hand, and protected by the waterfulness of a daring and assiduous husband-men, with bending skies above us, and songs of thanks given in our hearts. I am pleasantly seated, to recount in words of affection the incidents of our immigration and settlement here. Under ordinary circumstances, dates, places and time, may be forgotten, but under the one noble and grand event, for which we as a people have settled, memory does not lose track of the time when a country became changed from a savage and barbarous state to that of a civilized one, the broad and wild acres of waste land, turned to countless fields of culture, profit and gain. We follow down the stream of time numbering each receding year as they have passed, until we reach the year 1870. In that year the first year of our country's settlement, the memory of every pioneer settles back clothed with the garment of thought, to his early pioneer life. To the family circle in that rude but not in its time, unwelcome stockade or covered wagon, there in our early history, either surrounding the camp-fire, or bedded in our blankets upon mother earth, with nothing save the broad and starry heavens for our roof, did we mingle words and thoughts with words and thoughts of other minds, as to how we should cut our pioneer garments, and make our pioneer roads, that each garment might fit unto the least cost, and each road lead to brighter and more prosperous day. Oh, I can never forget that long and tiresome journey, how we worked and toiled to get over that mountain of obstacles, which accumulated on every side of the emigrants path, until distance was over-come, difficulties surmounted, hunger appeased, and the inner man reinforced till the star of empire had led our tired and sore feet to this beautiful, this hospitable spot. We came not to a wilderness to grow up in ignorance, we came rather to the seat of a mighty empire, that near future which is to unfold the grandest possibilities ever offered to man. In the fullness of time the Valley of the Missouri is to be the seat not only of empire, of trade, of population, but of political power, and the capital of this great republic, where the tides of immigration shall have forced through the heart of this mighty basin, and fertilized the yet untrodden fields before the mountains, with the sweat of the husband-men's brow will cast its shadow in close proximity to our beloved Nebraska. This prediction is by no means the bubble of a visionary brain. You nor I MR. CHIEF, may not live to see it, but there are millions in the womb of time who will. Let us again through the minds eye reflect back to the early spring of 1870. Just about ten years ago, only before the pioneers camp fire was kindled, and the burning clasp kissed the gentle breeze that tracked the signs of deeds of awful war; committed near where some of our little band had pitched their tent or marked their claim. It was in the early spring, that upon the banks of this then almost unknown river, whose laughing waters could only be marked by the hideous and hell-bell yells of the most cruel savages, whose highest aim was only to buffet the meat for his bread, and white men sought to compose the numbers in his addition. It was there upon the banks of this river, near the town site of your own beautiful town, (Red Cloud) in the early spring of '70, just before the first pioneers tent was pitched, that five noble and brave men of our race, were most cruelly murdered by the hands of savages. Of one of the five nothing but the skull, the boots and part of his clothes, did mark his last resting place. To him there was no tender hearted mother to sooth, and sympathize with; no kind father or brother to assuage his thirst and pain caused by the hand of that uncivilized savage; no loving wife or sister to caress him; no friend to tell the awful news of his death or even mark the ground, the earth upon which he fell. All this told tales of deep and lasting woe to the early pioneer, as bone by bone was brought to his camp, and only to remind him that perhaps in the near future, he and his dear wife and children might perhaps be the victims of some savage fiend. With all the tracks of savage life that was then yet visible, not one of this noble and brave chief crew turned back.

MR. CHIEF, I must close this part of my article for the present, as I fear that some of those Argus fellows who are so well educated might get after me.

Since I commenced writing this communication the Treasurer's financial report has been placed before me. The statement shows considerable tact, and ability, and is really commendable to Mr. Jones, and we shall be charitable in all things, and while we are assessed an eight per cent. tax, and have to pay, Mr. Jones, as County Treasurer, certainly is not responsible. He takes the county records as they are given them, and are all compiled by the clerk, placed in his hands, and in the record is a written order which signifies in so many words: "You as Treasurer shall collect this tax," which order is attested by the clerk. Let this be as it may, but let each one of us walk up to the captains office and pay our tax, as we have been commanded to do. The statement looks well on paper, and it shows a floating debt of only $3,891.16. I have somewhat examined it and have strictly applied the rules of geology to the whole statement from my reasoning by the rules of geology. The same statement shows a floating debt of $13,891.16. How about this? Figures won't lie, some person has made a mistake of the small sum of ten thousand dollars. The statement again shows that from erroneous assessment, taxes enjoined by U. S. Court, and doubtful tax, the sum of $58,107.97. I understand from this showing that it has cost the people of Webster county $50,107.97 in tax and doubtful tax officers how to assess legal taxes. Well this is not dear schooling.

It is often said that history repeats itself. If true, it would only take seven years more to prove the same result with the same officers. It is not strange to me that taxes are so high, the treasurer in his report has received the proposition, the settlement that we have so often heard of concerning the old bridge, is all moonshine, and will do to tell to marines and Indians, but no longer to tax payers. Upon all this erroneous tax, tax enjoined by U. S. Court, and doubtful tax, there has been warrants and obligations issued for it, for which the people are called upon now to pay. This is in my opinion the great reason why taxes are so high, no wonder that the people have become so dissatisfied, when they are called upon to pay about $59,725.04 tax, more money I venture to say than all the farmers in the county made last year.

The county whose first name is Frank P. S.—I hope to be able in my next communication to give my full name.

A BOOTS COAL MINE. Last week a blacksmith came over from "bleedin' Kansas," with specimens of coal which he said were taken from a vein five feet thick, which had been recently discovered cropping out in the bluffs on the classic bank of the romantic stream called White Rock. He however, told certain parties confidentially, that the vein was five feet wide and four inches thick. On last Sunday several parties, including brother Andrew Jackson Kenney, went over to Kansas in search of the bogus coal mine. It is needless to say that their trip was fruitless, and that they came back with an overwhelming sense of having been "sold."

Messrs. Fowler & Rawson, who have recently purchased the meat market formerly conducted by Mosher & Son, have employed Mr. Wm. Mosher to act in the capacity of general manager, and his experience in the business and the satisfaction which he has hitherto given the public is sufficient guarantee that they will receive in the future as in the past the best of satisfaction.

I have enlarged my store to double its former size, and expect to keep the largest stock of millinery and fancy goods, suits, dresses, gloves, hosiery, corsets, trimmings, silks, ulsters, etc. to be found in Webster county. Ladies please bear this in mind and give me a call.

H. F. LUTZ. "As my strength was then even so is my strength now," said Joshua. So will every one who may be troubled with weak stomachs and worn out digestive organs. If they will now and forever use J. Monroe Taylor's Gold Medal Soda or Salutarina—for wherever it has made an acquaintance it sticks closer than a brother. It will be your protector and preserver, and always giving you nice, light and digestible Bread, Biscuits, Puddings, Cakes, &c. Try it. Most of the merchants sell it. Depot 112 Liberty Street, New York.

Chas. E. Putnam has a patent dried beef center in his store, and parties who purchase dried beef can have it already sliced.

Messrs. Fowler & Rawson will open a branch meat market at the old stand at the lower end of town on the east side of the street, and all kinds of fresh and smoked meats, sausages, fowls, and in fact everything in their line that the public may desire, and kept constantly on hand. Meats of all kinds will be sold for parties who desire it, and at very reasonable rates. Give them a trial.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.
