The horse is our noblest domestic animal, perfect in structure, imposing in ap-pearance, full of intelligence and when kindly treated giving in return an offection almost human in its nature, and per-forming to the last point of endurance the tasks imposed, and we may add is too often subjected to the hardest and barshst usage of any of our animals, and probably for this reason is the most liable to disease and blemishes.

Many an otherwise valuable horse isfigured for life and rendered more or ess unfit for service by ugly spavins, unsightly ring bones, splints, etc. Some-times these difficulties are not of a serious nature, that is do not lame the horse, or make any material difference in the shilily for performing work on the farm but ch animals are rendered unsalebale, or f disposed of, it must be at a sacrifice of permanently lamed, unless the cause is further.
