Prof. Reilley, of the '76 locust commission, was at the eating house to supper last Thursday, on his way to Denver in company with other notables.

Mr. A. B. Chamberlin, Uncle Sam's mail-slinger at Ashland, this state, passed through Red Cloud last week, taking a tour of inspection up the Republican valley.

The Denver train westward-bound Thursday night, had an extra coach and Pullman attached containing sight-seers who were bound for Denver and the exposition!

The branch train will no longer connect with the west-bound Denver train. In fact it never did connect—it was a complete failure on calculation—too much for old engine 13.

The Trinity Ev. Luthern church of Red Cloud, were the recipients of a splendid Taylor & Farley church organ donated to them by the Lutheran church at Omaha, recently.

The train from Denver Saturday last was five hours late at this place, owing to a cylender-head being blown out 13 miles from nowhere, as conductor Belknap expressed it.

H. S. Hasbrook, representing the Kansas City Paper Company, was a caller to this office Monday morning. "Has" is one of the best salesmen that ever carried a thousand mile ticket.

PIC NIC NOTICE.—The Penny Creek Union Sunday schools, will hold their pic-nic on the 19th inst, in C. R. Potter's grove, two miles south of the mill. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Next week the Chief will not be issued until Friday morning. Friday will be our publication day hereafter. We believe the change will enable us to get in the news, before they get to be too stale.

The street showman that was to give his second day's entertainment on Saturday, left suddenly Friday night. We saw him perform on Friday, and his "doubling and twisting" feats, beat all we ever witnessed before.

A. N. Patmor, between Red Cloud and Red Cloud mills, left us a specimen of the possible products of Nebraska's soil, in the shape of a tuft of Millet sown July 2d, and pulled up by the roots Aug. 8th, and measured 38 inches from root to top of stalk, which is an average of 11 inches growth a day, from day of sowing seed, and this on soil never manured. Who can beat this?

As to experts it may clearly appear that our editorials are not all issues of the same parentage, we explain all by saying that our foreman has responded to our solicitation to aid in the preperation of locals for our columns.

The ladies of the M. E. aid society, will hold an ice cream festival at the M. E. church Friday evening, the proceeds to be applied on repairing the church. All are cordially invited to come and help.

Sunday evening's west-bound train, set off sixty-five supper eaters at the R. R. eating house. Monday, forty and Tuesday seventy-three. Mr. Gage seems to be known from Boston to Denver, as a No. one caterer.

A man was noticed on our streets Sunday who had a nose that was a marvel to see. The fellow accidentally tripped the night before—too much benzine on board—and his nose resembled a war map of Afghanistan.

DIED.—A. N. Scott's, on Elder Yeiser's place, lost their little twin boys, five month's old. They died within six hours of each other, of cholera infantum, on the 2nd inst. "Suffer the little ones to come unto me," said the Master.

We deem an explination proper relative to the drive at the Nebraskan in our last issue. As it appears it is charged to the editor, but the fact is he knew nothing of it until after the paper was issued, or it would not have been so.

J. W. Liveringhouse, of the Juniata Herald, and Chas. Kelsey of the Doniphan Index, R. Wahlquist, of the Nebraskan, Fred Royce of the Gazette-Journal, Hastings, left the imprint of their sandals, in our sanctum door-way yesterday.

C. E. Perkins on the 28 of July paid $538,38 tax for himself, and as trustee for others, $277,11, an aggregate of over $815. The assumption seems to be that the taxes paid in trust relate to Mr, Touzlin of the B. & M. R. R.

Mr. F. A. Durray, is Mr. I. O. Martin's successor as agent at the depot here. Mr. D., comes from Ashland, this state, well recommended. Mr. Martin has been agent here for several years, and wherever he may go we wish him success.

The communication from Mount Hope Alliance, which should have appeared three issues ago, seems to have been misplaced, and "turns up" when its author would doubtless condemn its appearance as out of place on account of its staleness.

Our county superintendent, Mr. Chas. Springer, is to be congratulated on the success with which he has met in procuring such efficient instructors for the Institute now in session here, and which is being appreciated by all teachers in attendance.

Conflicting Reports! Some said it was a young lady and others said it was a young gentleman that put in an appearance at sheriff Warren's last night. But the sheriff says it was a new deputy sheriff, and as the latter is the "official report" it must be relied on as correct'

The Kaley Bro.'s at the instance of the B. & M., are gathering a large number of the products of the soil of Webster county, for exhibition at the Denver exposition which we think will do credit at the county. All parties engaged in labors of this kind, are entitled to much credit,

There are many perons owing the county of Webster peasonalty taxes for the years 1873 and up to the present year 1881. The treasurer hereby notifies said parties that he shall take immediate steps to collect these taxes, and it is decidedly to their interest to settle before extra charges and penalties are imposed.

There is a vast amount of rubbish lying about town in back yards and alleys. This warm weather will cause it to be disseminated abroad and be productive of much sickness. We are informed this is one of the causes of diphtheria. We suggest, although rather late in the season, that everybody clean up their premises as soon as possible.

"Darling Kiss Me Sweet Good Night" is one of the latest songs. One young man in Red Cloud who considers himself "away up" sang it in the presence of his girl the other evening, and just as he was about to act in accordance with the words of the song her governor put in an appearance and filled the youth's coat tail full of boots. Contemptable, was'nt it? that is, the boots.

DIED.—At the residence of C. E. Putnam, in Red Cloud, on Wednesday, Aug. 2, 1882, of Consumption, Mr. Frank M. Crosby, aged 27 years, 9 months and 14 days. Mr. Crosby came here for his health last winter, from New York, believing that by so doing his life might be prolonged. The disease was thoroughly seated, being in its third stage, before he came here. A large number of friends paid their last sad tribute to the deceased.

If a county paper is properly encouraged, it may be relied upon for information of more value to the people in whose interests it is issued, than can be found in all the city papers in the country. No man can afford to be without the paper that furnishes the public sales, markets and local intelligence. If the paper is poor the people are more at fault than the publisher, for not giving it a liberal patronage. However poor the county paper may be it is always worth more than it costs to those interested in the affairs of the county.

All right, ye elder "brethern of the quill" our Salutatory was a luxuriant one, but we console ourselves with the reflection that quintillion is sold to boys said that. "Luxuriance can be cured but for barrenness in composition there is no cure." We give you this week for comfort, "Rosie, Dove" from justice.

A notice that W. N. Richardson the valley's big cattle dealer, in company with several other prominent ones of the state, took passage on the Sunday evening train, July 31st for Denver, failed to find its way into our last issue, though prepared for it. Mr. R. and wife go more particularly for the benefit of the health of the latter, which has been any thing but good for some time past.

We have noticed in some of the state papers that considerable is being said about boy inventors. Now see here, there are lots of boys in Red Cloud who whistle through their fingers and yell on the streets at night, write numerous hieroglyphics scrawled with chalk upon buildings, doors and door-stoops. We don't like to have other towns speak of the inventive genius of their boys, without saying something about ours too.

The old editor of the Argus says the new editor of the CHIEF measures his poetry with an india-rubber string.

All right, we plead guilty to the charge
Right here in open court,
And waive all farther evidence of guilt,
And doubt if he can measure it at all
In fact, or e'en in sport;
If so to do, his stupid brains he spilt.

Quite a bit of excitement—though pretty well suppressed for fear of a sell was created by a rumor that Mrs. Scoville was on the Denver train Friday evening, and true enouh she was. But she did not happen to be the sister of the boiled down assassin, though just as interesting in appearence to us as it was our privilege in Chicago to have a close observation of the real wonder woman, in a street car.

Our thanks to Mrs. Anton Arnason of Walnut creek, for a treat of "Catatuy" blackberries, as fine a specimen as we ever saw any where. These we understand to be products of the soil, of a homestead taken and perfected by a maiden lady, and yet she was not "unsexed" nor even debased a whit in our estimation, but rather gloriously exaulted. These are the second fruit of the shrubs which will yeild this year from 38 to 40 qts. Who will say that, Nebraska may not become a fruit producing state all over?

F. H. Gore, the Jeweler, opposite the Boy's Home, who has been away six or seven weeks, principally at Macomb, Ill., where his family are, has just returned. He has been aiding in starting what is to be known as the Macomb Calendar Clock Manufacturing Company. Mr. G., contemplates returning there permanently after a time, in closing out his business here. Mrs. Gore's friends will be glad to learn that she is well.

The campaign opens in Codman & Prescott's Red Cloud sheep corral. J. W. Wright the orator and aspirant to legislative honors. A subhime burlesque of the first order—two speeches—civil service reform and woman's rights, Wright thought he would make a good representative, the boys thought so too, and said they must have a speech which was promptly given on civil service reform. Later the boys wanted his ideas on woman suffrage. This to, the orator and legislator was able and ready for, in his own conceit. The speaker was placed in a wagon which was shoved under the ventilator of the correl, and above was stationed the proper functionary to dedicate the self-conceived apostle of poltitical truth, to his work by water baptism, and in the zenith of his eloquence the baptismal cloud burst on astonished comprehension and so filled his soul with holy awe that he wept like infancy and has been unable to orate since.

The republican representative convention for the 41st district, will be held at Riverton, Franklin county, Neb., on Saturday, September 16th, 1882, at 11 A. M., for the purpose of nominating one representative for said district. The counties are entitled to the following representation:

Webster county, 8 delegates, Franklin county, 5 delegates.

J. E. KELLY, Chm.

Batin Caucus Notice.

The republican electors of Batin precinct are hereby called to meet at the Batin school house, on September 9, 1882, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held at Red Cloud, Nebraska, September, 13 1882.

J. S. FRAME, Cen. Committeeman.

Meeting of the Senatorial Central Committee.

RED CLOUD, Neb., Aug. 1, 1882.

Pursuant to a call of the chairman of the republican central committee, the members of the 23d Senatorial District, met at the office of L. P. Albright, for the purpose of determining upon the time and place of holding the Senatorial Convention to apportion the delegates thereto, and to transact such other business as might properly come before them.

Upon motion it was agreed that the convention be held at Red Cloud, Nebraska, Sept. 18th, 1882. That delegates be appointed the same as to the state convention, to-wit: Webster county eight, (8), Franklin county five (5), Nuckolls county five (5).

L. P. ALBRIGHT, Chairman.
J. E. Kelley, Franklin county, H. W. Short, Nuckolls county.

There will be an effort made at G. A. R. Reunion at Grand Island to do something for the benefit of one of the most unfortunate soldiers of Nebraska. We refer to Geo. Ironsides who went through the war from its earliest stage in the 1st Kansas regiment Volunteer's, came out unscratched, but being thrown from a horse, had a leg twice broken, then for want of assistance became so badly frozen as to make amputation of all his limbs necessary to preserve life. A subscription for his immediate relief, and a petition to congress to have him pensioned, will be circulated at Grand Island. State papers please copy.

BASE BALL.

YESTERDAY A. M.

Hastings Reds, vs. Red Cloud, eight innings—18 to 8 in favor of Reds. Reds whitewashed at first inning. Concurrent report of L. P. Albright, Red Cloud, Umpire; Liveringhouse, editor Juniata Herald, scorer. The game was watched with much interest.

AFTERNOON GAME.

Bloomington vs Red Cloud, nine innings—25 to 15 in favor of Red Cloud.

A goodly number assembled to witness both games. Everything went off pleasantly.

Five full coaches conveyed the excursionists from the north yesterday to Red Cloud, and about half that number came from the west.

The Argus man prefering pleasure to business, issued two days in advance. The Chief prefering business to pleasure, sticks to the regular programme and give the news to the hour of going to press. Each has a right to do as they please.

Teachers Institute and general politics, were the regular dishes of fare yesterday, with three varieties of congressional aspirants for desert. Surely Red Cloud is getting to be a spicy town.

Don't forget to attend the school officers meeting on the 18th at the court house at 10 A. M.

Chancellor Fairfield at the court house the 15th. Hear him.

Geo. T. Brown of Juniata, an old acquaintance of the editor, was down on the excursion, and called upon us yesterday.

Misses Royce, McCulloch, Clark, and others of Hastings, called upon ye local yesterday.

Rev. Yeiser, will preach at the Cong. church next Sabbath and evening.

Mrs. S. J. Conrad, of Fairfield, and Miss Zue Vineyard of Hastings, called yesterday.

Claudius Jones of Seward, was a caller at our office yesterday in company with representative C. W. Kaley. We understand that Mr. Jones has a prospect of becoming the choice of political friends, for a seat in our next congress. He is a stranger to us, but our prayer is, success to the worthiest, or fittest man.

We can see the central committee's action on the representative question only as wrong. All republicans of the county should have an equal showing in a republican convention. More anon.
