TUTT'S EXPECTORANT
Is composed of Herbal and Mucilaginous products, which permeate the substance of the Lungs, expectorates the acrid matter that collects in the Bronchial Tubes, and forms a soothing coating, which relieves the irritation that causes the cough. It cleanses the lungs of all impurities, strengthens them when enfeebled by disease, invigorates the circulation of the blood, and braces the nervous system. Slight colds often end in consumption. It is dangerous to neglect them. Apply the remedy promptly. A test of twenty years warrants the assertion that no remedy has ever been found that is as prompt in its effects as TUTT'S EXPECTORANT. A single dose raises the phlegm, subdues inflammation, and its use speedily cures the most obstinate cough. A pleasant cordial, children take it readily. For Croup it is invaluable and should be in every family. In 25c. and $1 Bottles.

RAIL ROAD FIGHT.

The war goes bravely on. The attempt to effect a peace Saturday Dec. 2, was unsuccessful. The meeting was held at the office of President Keep, of the Northwestern road. The northwestern road was represented by Mr. Keep, president, and Marvin Hughitt, vice-president and general manager; The Rock Island by Hugh Riddle, president, and R. R. Cable, vice president and general manager; the St Paul & Omaha by H. H. Porter, president, and E. W. Winter assistant to the president; the Milwaukee & St. Paul by Alexander Mitchell, president and S. S. merrill, manager and the Minneapolis & St. Louis, by R. R. Cable, president. The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock, and adjourned at 12 20. The last person to arrive and the first to leave was Mr. Porter.

The Inter-Ocean has been favored with the only official record of the meeting, and is authorised to say that after the gentlemen present had spent some time in informal talk and the examination of a map of the northwest Mr. Keep stated the object of the meeting. The St Paul and Omaha people at once made a proposition for the division of territory and traffic arrangements with the lines built into the Omaha's territory, allowing all companies the same right over the line (Chippwa Valley & Superior) that are enjoyed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul company, and placing a man in charge of all traffic and operations of the line, to see that the traffic seeks its natural outlet, and to make a fair division of the strictly competitive traffic. They also proposed to build no more lines north of Eau Claire or west of a line bounded by the Wisconsin Central railroad. In case the business of the country demanded any extensions, the St. Paul & Omaha company agreed to build such extensions and would make a fair and equitable division of the traffic reached by those lines with the Mitwaukee & St. Paul company.

Some time was taken up in explaining the above propositions and making them clear to Mr. Mitchell, who is not as fully posted in regard to the present difficulties as is his general manager. Mr. Mitchell said he was not prepared to give any decisive answer until he had submitted the proposition of the Omaha people to his board of directors in New York. The tenor of his remarks was such as to indicate that his people were not disposed to relinquish any of the Chippewa & Superior line business.

An adjournment was then had until Ericay, December 8th, when another meeting will be held at the Windsor hotel, New York. The conference was a very quiet one, and none but the above propositions were proposed or discused. In fact, there was hardly anything that could be called discussion, as the propositions of the Omaha people were of such a nature that no other question could be considered until they were settled.

The result of this meeting will in no manner cause any change in the rates that are now established. There is not likely to be any further cut on business from the west, simply for the reason that rates are now as low as it is possible to make them and charge anything at all.

The attention of the Omaha people was called by a reporter to the statement of Mr. Meyers, assistant general manager of the St Paul road, wherein he stated that he was present at a conference between Messrs. Porter and Merrill, at which Mr. Porter agreed to pool Eau Claire, Menominee and Stillwater business, and afterward repudiated it because the St. Paul people would not include Minneapolis business. This the Omaha people deny in the most emphatic manner, and state that no pooling arrangement was made for the reason that Mr. Porter from the start, maintained that all points should be pooled in gross upon equal terms all round. When Mr. Merrill declined to include Minneapolis business Mr. Porter refused to pool any business. Mr Merrill, however, proposed and agreed to maintain rates from Eau Claire. To this Mr. Porter gave his approval, and it was to this agreement that Mr. Winter referred in his telegram to Mr. Merril, wherein he called the latter's attention to a cut that was being made at Eau Clare. The Omaha people say that Mr. Merril, has endeavored to make it appear that Mr. Winter's telegram was evidence of a pooling arrangement. The facts, however, as above stated, show that it was simply an arrangement to maintain rates. The Omaha people also say that the Milwaukee & St. Paul road claims that they were urged by the people of the adjacent country to build the Chippewa Valley road. To this they reply that Mr. Porter for two years was importuned to build the road, but declined on account of an agreement with the Milwaukee & St Paul people.

While it cannot be stated as a fact, yet is still more than likely that the Illinois Central road will to-day make cut rate from Chicago to Omaha. This will force the Iowa pool to abandon the neutral stand they are at present trying to maintain. If this pool is broken the Central Iowa & Northwestern traffic agreement must fall to pieces also. So the outlook for the next ten days is fraught with difficulties, and the damage to the legitimate business already very great, will be augmented to a degree not easy to foresee.

INTERVIEW WITH ALEX. MITCHELL.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Dec. 3,—Alexander Mitchell, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, stated, in an interview regarding the railroad war, to night: "Porter's demands are unjust. My company claims the right to extend business into any part of the country where necesity seems to demand it and where the conditions of the country warrahts such construction. The demands of the Omaha road are something the people will not indorse, meaning only monopoly and high rates. If they are carried out, but one thing can result, the serious crippling of the railroad interests of the country." Mr. Mitchell had not come to any definate conclusion, but those who are in a position to know say that he will not agree to what Porter calls "refraining from appropriating the territory of the other lines." This will continue the war an indefinate length of time.

Sunday in New York.

New York, December 3.—The new penal code went into effect to day. While the police were unquestionably very active during the day their efforts were not directed in such a manner as to elict praise from such erpsons as heartily support the provisions of the new code. Many arrests were made, but neither liquor selling nor drunkeness a apeared to decrease to any extent. Cigar stores were generally closed and many proprietors hang out placards ridiculing the new law. Mubh of their business went to the drug stores. The business of barbers was limited to hotels where the customers uniformly claimed they were guests. Eighteen of nineteen drivers sent out by the Adams Fxpress during the morning were arrested. The law has been enforced in such a way as to make it odious, with a view of securing its early appeal. About five hundred arrests were made on the charge of deserting the Sabbath. Comparatively few liquor dealers were secured milkmen, butchers, bakers, grocers, newspaper venders, barbers, rag pickers and hebrew storekeepers making up the number. A laborer employed by the steam heating company was the first person arrested. In Brooklyn even drug stores were closed and a sacred concert stopped in the evening and the promoters arrested, Harry Hill among the uumber

Lo, The poor editor who has to indite matter for the columns of his paper Nolens Volens. If he writes or selects religious sentiment or matter the non-religionist swear that the editor is a fool and he'll stop his paper if this preaching is not "dried up," and if no moral sentiment finds expression in his paper, the religionist sees nothing in it to satisfy the longing of his mind and would just aleave have no paper at all, and so it goes from week to week. If the editor finds himself inclined to strive to inspire his readers to aspirations of goodness and higher and nobler types of life then he is dubbed a a methodist exhorter, or presbyterian tract publisher, or some other equally pleasant or envious character or personage. What then shall we write or what shall we do so that all who read shall with one accord proclaim, "good fellow—that's sensible—that paper is worth reading etc, etc.

"Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us,
To see ourselves as others see us."

Burns must heve been thinking of the trials and teoubles of an editor's calling when he penned the foregoing couplet.

We can conceive of no other class of forlorn humanity to whom the sentiment is so applicable as to them.

Who shall deliver us from the bondage of this all consuming obligation who shall enable us to conceive of things to write to meet the longings of all who long to see all their own ideas appear in editorials of the paper, but dont know what they are, but that they are not what they find printed. Well we'll lay aside the pen and go out and commune with nature and the local surroundings, and see what we shall see, and hear what we shall hear, and then return again with the burden of our gatherings to submit for the criticisms of the everwaiting critic. As we open the door to step forth, Hope stares us in the face with a cigar in his mouth, and we become inspired with and idea, and return to portray it in legible characters with the pen. A reminiscence opens to our revision, or review, and we behold a lythesome youthful maiden tripping along the merry lane of happy joyus life, we hear her ringing words from the rostrum. We see her figure in the tableaux—later we see her at the altar holding the hand of his/her heart has learned to adore and waiting to bear the mystic words pronounce that change the maid to wife. We see the twain in love, the distant path pursue, they tarry only a brief space, and our eyes behold a coming train, sable and slow paced. The city of the dead is reached. A new charnel house is made and occupied, and we reflect that the picture or panorama that has passed before our minds is but one of the oft recurring episodes of mortal life.

Resolutions of Respect on the death of Bro. Samuel Garber adopted by Charity Lodge No. 53 A. F. and A. M. Red Cloud Neb.

To the W. M., Wardens and Brethren of Chrrity Lodge No. 53 A. F. and A. M.

Your committee to whom was referred the drafting of preamble and resolutions of respect on the death of Bro. Samuel Garber, a member of this lodge, who died Oct. 12th 1882. make the following report, and recommend the adoption of the same.

Whereas Almighty God, the All Wise and supreme architect of the universe, by a dispensation of his divine providence, has called from his labors among the craft, by death, our worthy brother Samuel Garber, who died Oct. 12th 1882.

Therefore, be it resolved—1st, that in the death of Bro. Samuel Garber, the lodge has lost a worthy brother, highly esteemed by the craft, and honored by the fraternity.

2. That by his energy, zeal, and promptness in business, he has won a name ever to be inscribed on the trestle board of fame, and elict from us the commendation that his virtues claim at our hands.

3. That we deeply deplore his loss as a brother, and most effectionately sympathize with the bereaved family, relatives, and friends, and can only say that he who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, looks down with infinite compassion upon the widow and the fatherless in the hour of their desolation, and that the great architect will fold the arms of his love and protection around those who put their trust in him.

4. That a copy of these preambles and resolutions be presented to the family of the deceased brother, also a copy to the Red Cloud CHIEF and Webster county Argus, for publication.

M. B. McNitt,
J. P. Bayha, Com.
J. A. Tulleys.

The business excitement at Red Cloud at present seems to be the wash machine business. Last Monday evening after we had shown and tested the "Pettitt Magic" to a number of interested persons, with satisfactory success sheriff Warren met us and assured us that our machine business was doomed to supersedure by one far superior for which Sol Hopper had the agency. We felt a deep concern in the matter and went at once to see what we might think of the chances of defeat of our pet washer. On our arrival and inquiry Sol said, their machine would be in shortly. Presently J. Murray came and asked if we had seen his new washing machine. Being answered in the negative, he proceeded to bring it forth and operate it, and expatiate upon its merits and superior charms. We listened and we looked, for we felt as if our financial failure or success hung on the opinion we should form of the competing merits of the device before us. One brief glance brought relief, though they and other prominent Red Clouders among them our business condjutor insisted on its superior taking points. We then and there resolved boldly to challenge them to open, fair and public comparison, and feeling that they will not dare to accept it, we here proclaim that if they will and win we will deed them their choice county of our territory in the state of Nebraska. And if they do not accept this fair challenge we shall deem it evidence that they are ashamed of their new device, as we told them we would be.

A BRIDE'S WEDDING WARNING.

We're married, they say, and you think you have won me;
Well, take this white veil from my
head and look on me;
Here's matter to vex you, and matter
to grieve you;
Here's doubt to distrust you, and faith to believe you;
I am all, as you see, common earth,
common dew;
Be wary, and mold me to roses, not rue!

Ah, shake out the flimsy thing, fold
after fold,
And see if you have me to keep and
to hold;
Look close on my heart, see the worst of its sinning,
It is not yours to-day for the yesterday's winning;
The past is not mine—I am too proud to borrow—
The future will tell us what shall be to-morrow.

We're married! I'm plighted to hold up your praises,
As the turf at your feet does its handful of daisies;
That way lies my honor and my pathway of pride,
But, mark you, if greener grass
grow either side,
I shall know it, and keeping the
body with you,
Shall walk in my spirit with feet on the dew!

We're married! O pray that our love do not fail!
I have wings fastened down and hid
under my veil;
They are suptle as light, you can never undo them,
You may make them your pride,
you may see but to rue them,
And spite of all clasping, and spite
of all hands,
I can slip like a shadow, a dream
from your hands.

As the result of the naval court mar martial recently held in Washington to inquire into the conduct of Capt. Alfred Hopkins in leaving the Pensacola navy yard when yellow fever made its appearence, an order was issued to day dismissing the officer. Hopkins was commander of the yard.
