ing in value every day.
Red Cloud will celebrate the glorious fourth this year.
Two sets of jurymen were out until morning Tuesday night.

Memorial day in Red Cloud.

What do you think of the old legend that "it never rains in Nebraska." A great many farmers were in town for the fore part of the week, courting.
Dr. Moranville dropped some silver into our empty pocket last Monday.

Moody is suffering a good deal on account of the bullet wound in his leg.
The ex-soldiers made a good appearance in their uniforms on Memorial day.
We haven't room to mention by name all the friends who called during the week.

Why don't we hear something from the new home? Give us some music, boys.
The boys' billiard hall in the south

No great amount of damage was done to growing crops by the hail storm last Monday, so far as heard from.

Memorial Day dawned bright and clear, and was appropriately observed by the G. A. R. Post of this place and by the citizens generally.

Married in Red Cloud May 29th 1883 by the Rev. Geo. O. Yeiser, Mr.
Geo. H. Curtis, and Miss Mary Chester, all of Webster County Nebraska.

Farmers are jubilant over the present excellent prospect for crops of all kinds, as the recent abundant rains have left the ground in first class condition.
A large acreage of beans in Texas is said to be the scientific explanation of the cause of those high and hot winds that occasionally visit us from the south.

The festive circus passes by on the north and south, but stoppeth not at Red Cloud, greatly to the disgust of the small boy as well as the grown people.
Mr. Wilson, the bee-keeper of the south side of the river is having excellent success with his bees this spring.
He fanned ten new swarms one day last week.

Lost.—A black covered blank book containing U. S. fractional paper currency amounting to about $7.00. A liberal reward will be paid for return of same to FRANK E. GEAR.

Last Monday morning found all the lawyers with their soft clothes on and their hair combed—actually combed—ready for court.
Mr. J. Q. Potter has leased his interest in the Red Cloud Mills, for one year, to Mr. Devito Jones, brother to R. D. Jones, the lumberman.

Isn't it about time some of our correspondents would wake from their Bip-Van-Winkle sleep and give us the news from their neighborhood.
We are told that two men and a woman were struck by lightning last week in Franklin county, they were riding in a wagon at the time and were severely shocked but not killed outright.

This part of the country was visited by a lively hail-storm last Monday afternoon. The hail-stones were small but they fell thick and fast and splashed nearly all the water out of the frog pond in front of our office.
The Orleans Sentinel comes to us enlarged and very much improved in its general make up and appearance.
We are pleased to note this indication of prosperity, and hope that Bro. Martin will meet with the success that his enterprise deserves.

We are pained to announce the death of Lydia E. Pinkham. She was a friend to the printer and made an independent fortune for herself by literal advertising. Alas! how few of her patients are left to mourn her departure. Requiescat in pace.
A large portion of the Baking Powder sold is fearfully adulterated. A strictly pure Baking Powder is made of two articles only, viz: Bicarb. Soda and Grape Cream Tartar. No other ingredients can be found in DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder.

Mrs. C. W. Springer will open a school on the Kindergarten plan for children between the ages of three and seven years at her home west of town, on Monday, June 4th. Tuition $1.50 per month. The attention and patronage of the public is solicited.

The following bit of news seems to be going the rounds of the press, as we have seen it in at least four of our exchanges:
The Red Cloud people are reported as having raised the required amount, $45,000, which secures building of the Central Branch of the U. P. R. through their town.

Rev. M. L. Wilhelm was elected pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Congregation of this place, Sunday evening last.
He enters upon his labors at once, and there will be services in the Court House next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock and Sabbath evening at 7:30.
All are invited.

The Grand Jury at the present term of court seems to have made an honest effort to accomplish a little good, which, by the way is something unusual with the average grand jury. Several indictments were found against various persons for selling liquor contrary to law, gambling &c.

We would suggest to the Baptists, and other religious denominations that habitually by immersion, that they might, by applying to the town council and road overseer, get permission to use the fish pond in front of our office for baptismal purposes, as it would be much more convenient than going to the river.
Mr. W. E. Jackson, it seems, took offense at our article on post-office matters two weeks ago and was foolish enough to rush into print. The article in question, while it was substantially true, was only intended as a pleasant little history of Red Cloud post-office matters in the last twelve years, and it was not the intention of the writer to cast reflections upon the actions of anyone, or to open any old sores. Jackson's literary effort in answer thereto would cause a smile to sweat the face of the reader who is posted in regard to the early history of the county, did it not create a feeling of pity instead. The fact that the post-office was removed from Hasting-ton to Red Cloud, and that the new building was erected there, is a matter of common knowledge, and it is not the business of any one to cast reflections upon the actions of any one in regard to the removal of the post-office.

The Committee of Arrangements having in charge the 4th of July Celebration at this place are indistigable in their efforts to make the celebration the grandest affair ever gotten up in this part of the State. As a new and novel feature the Committee has planned for a grand military drill and dress parade in the afternoon, and has placed this part of the program in the hands of the following gentlemen: Red Cloud—M. B. McNitt, W. B.
Roby, A. Kaley.
Guide Rock—H. F. King.
Blue Hill—Col. Hoover.
Wells—Joseph Graves.
Salem—H. Browning.
Riverston—C. C. Chapin.
Com.—Commander of Corn Post.

Members of the G. A. R. Posts in this part of the State, so far as they have been heard from, have expressed a willingness to aid in making this part of the program a complete success.
In view of the grand encampment at Denver and the re-union at Hastings we should think all ex-soldiers will avail themselves of this opportunity to practice drill and dress parade.
The Committee of Arrangements has also decided to offer a cash prize of $25 for the best brass band present, and it is expected four or five bands will compete for the prize.
Other new and novel features will be given.

Court adjourned Wednesday afternoon to allow the lawyers and others to participate in the Memorial exercises.

Hail stones to the depth of two feet or more was seen in some of the drains on the prairie Tuesday morning after the storm Monday afternoon.

T. F. Moody, the Jeweler, met with an accident last Sunday that will lay him up for a time. He was on his way to see his brother who lives in Kansas, and while driving over the prairie saw a wolf near the road and fired at it with one of his irremovable 44 calibre self-cocking revolvers. The report of the pistol frightened the horse and Mr. Moody grasped the lines firmly with both hands, still holding the revolver in his right, and in the excitement of the moment kept pressing the trigger and the pistol kept on shooting "just as though nothing had happened." One shot went up through the top of the buggy and another struck Mr.
Moody on the inside of the left leg just above the knee passing down and around the bone and lodging on the opposite side of the leg below the knee where it was found and extracted.
The wound, though not a dangerous one, is painful, and the unfortunate victim of the reckless antics of a selfcocker will be confined to his room for some time.

Do Not Fail to make your Arrange- ments to come.
No Schools in the County during its Continuance.
Read the law regarding Teachers' Institute.

The Institute will open Monday, July 30th, 1883, at 2 o'clock p. m., at Red Cloud, Nebraska.
Conductor—County Superintendent, Instructor—Frank W. Barber, Prof. of Modern Languages and Elocution in Franklin Academy. A. I. Fink, of Red Cloud, an experienced Institute worker, and other instructors will be engaged.
These names are all familiar to you.
Home talent and work for home will be prominent in the Institute this year, and by this means we expect to broaden our influence beyond former years.
There will be three grades, or classes in the Institute. No one will be expected to engage in every study, only such as he or she most needs. Teachers of first grade will find opportunity to "try their metal" on the solid work of their profession. Second grade teachers will be given opportunity to study those subjects most necessary for them, to acquire themselves as scholars and teachers. Third grades and those who never taught will be instructed and assisted in going "higher up." Exercises of a general character will be interspersed in which all will take an interest.
The instructors will bring to the Institute the sum of their experience, with the vigor of young men having laudable ambition to excel in the profession, and we feel confident that the teacher who attends the Institute this year will not go away disappointed.
Do not forget day and date. Persons who have not been examined for certificates, nor paid an Institute fee during the past year, and who become members of the Institute will pay $1 to the fund. Visitors are cordially invited to be present at all the sessions.
The Institute will be followed by an examination of teachers at which every one applying for a certificate will be charged the usual fee. Board and lodging will be furnished at about the same rate as last year.

County Superintendent,

Two young men and a lady by the name of McElhorn living south of Riv-erton, were struck by lightning last Saturday. The young men were not injured beyond a slight shock the young girl came near being killed.
The lightning tore her hat into small fragments, as it did her coat which split it down the back and left all in baldly scorched as was also her face.
They were riding on a load of corn, going into Riverton, when they were struck by an electric bolt. Dr. Kehlthe necessary medical aid. They will all recover.
