WRATH OF THE WATERS.

The Ohio River and Its Tributaries Overjacent Country - Great Devastation at ready twelve o'clock. Wheeling - Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Other Cities in a Bad Plight.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 7.-To attempt to adequately portray the condition of affairs in this city is beyond the ability of the most gifted of its citizens. One-half of the sand people are rendered homeless, and the loss in money will reach from $750,000 to $1,000,000. At nine o'clock last night fully followed Longfellow's advice, the river had risen to forty-six feet above low-water mark. From five to seven feet more water is looked for. This will raise the stage to fifty-two feet, and will the watch could be right? By the way, drive additional thousands from their homes | when did you set it?" and cause a further loss of millions. Several tounding towns. Wheeling Island, comprising about eight great force of character and brilliant hundred acres, and containing a population of 4.500, is entirely under water, and the loss there alone is $400,000. Hundreds of warehouses in the business part of the town are partially under water, and streets in the higher portion are piled high with barrels of sugar, salt, oil and nails, bales of prints and dry goods, and other merchandise.

From Bellaire, Bridgeport, West Wheeling and Martin's Ferry, O., and Fulton, Wellsburg, Bendwood and Moundsville, Va., heartrending accounts of suffering come, Some of these towns are entirely submerged, West Wheeling, for example, not having a solitary house out of water. CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.-The Ohio River continues to rise, and there is grave appre-hension that the flood of one year ago is to be repeated. At midnight the water covered the sixty-one foot mark, and was rising at the rate of two inches an hour. During the greater part of the day it rose at the rate of four inches an hour. It is raining above here, and the Ohio and all its tributaries between here and Pittsburgh are rising rapidiy. Here it rained the greater part of Monday, all of Tuesday and Tuesday night, and all day Wednesday. The gas is begin-ning to fail, and by to-night it will be entirely cut off. The pumps at the waterwater as possible, and the running of elevators by water is forbidden. Only two or three railroad companies are able to receive freight. Navigation on the river has been entirely suspended and street-car travel has been stopped.

CLEVELAND, Feb., 7 .- Thus far the floods in Cleveland have occasioned but little damage. The river has fallen somewhat. A large portion of the flats are inundated, and factories and mills are partially under water. It is not expected that more damage will be occasioned here At Youngstown the river is within a few inches of high-water mark and steadily rising. About thirty families have beer taken out of their dwellings in boats and wagons. Bottom lands are flooded and great damage must ensue if the weather continues warm in Northwestern Ohio. Arlington is under water, and thou sands of feet of lumber have been lost. Reports from Warren and other points ir Trumbull County say the flood there is the highest ever known.

ALARMING NEWS FROM LAWRENCEBURG. CINCINNATI, Feb. 7 .- A News-Journa special from Aurora, Ind., says: Intense excitement was caused here at ten o'clock last night, when the alarm-bells in Law renceburg, two miles away, were distinctly heard. The levee above that town has given way, and no doubt the place is being subjected to a rushing flood. There is no means of obtaining particulars.

FLOODS IN PENNSYLVANIA. PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.-The river is beten o'clock last night and is now stationary, with the Monongahela thirty-three feet three inches, and the Allegheny thirty-four feet six inches. The latest news from the headwaters report the waters receding. Thomas Kelley, a grocer of the south side, was trying to secure driftwood and fell into down the river on a barge and is believed to have been lost. A MODERN RESURRECTION.

A Miracle that Took Place in Our Midst Unknown to the Public-The Details in Full.

(Detroit Free Press.)

One of the most remarkable occurrences ever given to the public, which took place here in our midst, has just come to our knowledge and will undoubtedly awaken as much surprise and attract as great attention as it has already in newspaper circles. The facts are, briefly, as follows: Mr. William A. Crombie, a young man formerly residing at Birmingham, a suburb of Detroit, and now living at 287 Michigan Avenue in this city, can truthfully say that he has looked into the future world and yet returned to this. A representative of this paper has interviewed him upon this important subject and his experiences are given to the public for the first time. He

"I had been having most peculiar sensations for a long while. My head felt duil and heavy; my eyesight did not seem so clear as formerly; my appetite was uncertain and I was unaccountably tired. It was an effort to arise in the morning and yet I could not sleep at night. My mouth tasted badiy, I had a faint all-gone sensation in the pit of my stomach that food did not satisfy, while my hands and feet felt cold and ciammy. I was nervous and irritable, and lost all enthusiasm. At times my head would seem to whirl and my heart palpitated terribly. I had no energy, no ambition, and I seemed indifferent of the present and thoughtless for the future. I tried to shake the feeling off and pursuade myself it was simply a cold or a little ma-laria. But it would not go. I was deter-mined not to give up, and so time passed along and all the while I was getting worse. It was about this time that I noticed I had begun to bloat fearfully. My limbs were swollen so that by pressing my fingers upon them deep depressions would be made. My face also legan to enlarge, and continued to until I could scarcely see out of my eyes. One of my friends, describing my appearance at that time, said: 'It is an animated something, but I should like to know what.' In this condition I passed several weeks of the greatest agony.

"Finally, one Saturday night, the misery culminated. Nature could endure no more. I became irrational and apparently insensible. Cold sweat gathered on my forehead; my eyes became glazed and my throat rattled. I seemed to be in another sphere and with other surroundings. I knew nothing of what occurred around me, although I have since learned it was considered as death by those who stood by. It was to me a quiet state, and yet one of great agony. I was helpless, hopeless, and pain was my only companion. I remember trying to see what was beyond me, but the mist before my eyes was too great. I tried to reason, but I had lost all power. I felt that it was death, and realized how terrible it was. At last the strain upon my mind gave way and all was a blank. How long this continued I do not know, but at last I realized the presence of friends and recognized my mother. I then thought it was earth, but was not certain. I gradually regained consciousness, however, and the pain lessened. I found that my friends had, during my unconsciousness, been giving me a preparation I had never taken before, and the next day, under the influence of this treatment, the bleating began to disappear and from that time on I steadily improved, until to-day I am as well as ever before in my life, have no traces of the terrible acute Bright's disease, which so nearly killed me, and all through the wonderful instrumentality of Warner's Safe Cure, the remedy that brought me to life after I was virtually in another world." "You have had an unusual experience,

Mr. Crombie," said the writer who had been breathlessly listening to the recital. "Yes, I think I have," was the reply, "and it has been a valuable lesson to me. I am certain, though, there are thousands of men and women at this very moment who have the same ailment which came so near killing me, and they do not know it. I believe kidney disease is the most deceptive trouble in the world. It comes like a thief in the night. It has no certain symptoms, but seems to attack each one differently. It is quiet, treacherous, and all the more dangerous. It is killing more people, to-day, than any other one complaint. If I had the power I would warn the entire world against it and urge them to remove it from the system before it is too late." One of the members of the firm of Whitehead & Mitchell, proprietors of the Birmingham Eccentric, paid a fraternal visit to this office yesterday, and in the course of conversation, Mr. Crombie's name was mentioned.

"I knew about his sickness," said the editor, "and his remarkable recovery. I had his obituary all in type and announced in the Eccentric that he could not live until its next issue. It was certainly a most wonderful case."

Rev. A. R. Bartlett, formerly paster of the M. E. Church, at Birmingham, and now of Schoolcraft, Mich., in response to a telegram, replied: "Mr. W. A. Crombie was a member of my congregation at the time of his sickness. The prayers of the church were requested for him on two different occasions. I was with him the day he was reported by his physicians as dying, and consider his recovery almost a miracle."

Not one person in a million ever comes so near death as did Mr. Crombie and then recover, but the men and women who are drifting toward the same end are legion. To note the slightest symptoms, to realize their significance and to meet them in time by the remedy which has been shown to be most efficient, is a duty from which there can be no escape. They are fortunate who do this; they are on the sure road to death who neglect it.

Eminent Testimony.

[N. Y. Witness, Aug. 15, 1880.] "I find that in addition to the pure spirits contained in their composition, they contain the extracts of hops and other well-known and highly approved medicinal roots, leaves and tinctures in quantities sufficient to render the article what the makers claim it to be, to wit, a medicinal preparation and not a beverage—unfit and unsafe to be used except as a medicine.

"From a careful analysis of their formula -which was attested under oath-I find that in every wine-glassful of Hop Bitters, the active medicinal properties aside from the distilled spirits are equal to a full dose for an adult, which fact, in my opinion, subjects it to an internal revenue tax as a medicinal bitter."

GREEN B. RAUM, U. S. Com. In. Rev. Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water. All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; etherwise I would have been now in my grave.

J. W. Morey, Buffalo, Oct. 1, '81.

Poverty and Suffering. "I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bils for doctoring. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters. and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your fami-lies well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost; I know it."
