Let Red Cloud make an effort ta put down a shaft. A coal mine would be a big bonanza for us, and furnish plenty cheap coal.

THERE is some agitation in this place in reference to starting a building association. A scheme of this kind would be a great benefit to Red Cloud if properly carried on, and we therefore hope it will be a success. Great benefit can be derived from a building association, and many a poor man could build a house and pay for it in monthly installments. It would provide homes for many who have to rent and are not otherwise prepared to build for themselves.
