FOR OUR YOUNG READERS.

NOT FOR SALE. We are sorry to see the... We are sorry to see the... We are sorry to see the...

SNOW AND EARTHQUAKES.

A True Story of Two Little Girls, One of Whom Wanted to See Snow, and the Other to Feel an Earthquake. Ruth Chase was looking at the thermometer.

A QUEER PARTNERSHIP.

Home-building Cooperation Between a Bird and a Spider. As most of my young readers are doubtless well aware, there is a continual warfare between the insects and the birds, the latter finding in the former their natural food.

COSSETS.

Workings Who Are reasonable in Their Demands for Attention, and Who Think More Highly of Themselves Than They Ought to Think. Every New England farmer knows what a "cossot" is.

A Pleasant Game.

A Pleasant game for a party of young people to entertain themselves at an informal gathering is for them to try and distinguish each other by seeing the eyes.

How a French Girl Lost Her Reason.

Lotteries are now so much in vogue in France that no sooner is one drawn than several fresh ones are started.

A Treat in Store for Charlie.

Two young fellows entered a cigar store and one of them said thoughtfully, "Have you any choice cigars, Sir?"

RELIGIOUS READING.

OUR DAILY BREAD. "Give us our daily bread." "Give us our daily bread." "Give us our daily bread..."

PATIENCE.

There Can Be No Joyful or Happy Christian Experience Without It. In the Greek of the New Testament two different words are used repeatedly and sometimes interchangeably to describe this distinctive Christian grace.

CHOICE EXTRACTS.

Nature teaches even the meekest capacity that there is a God. Fine things are made for our eyes.
