CURRENT COMMENT.

The only ordained clergyman in Congress is Representative Anderson of Kansas.

SENATOR HOAR, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, has reported favorably a bill creating a commission, to be appointed by the President, to select an accurate balloting and counting device, which shall be used in all Congressional elections.

CAPTAIN LERO, of Troop K, Tenth colored cavalry, had an hour's engagement with the hostiles recently in the Indian mountains, being one killed and one wounded. Three Apaches were killed. Being unable to slodge the hostile, Lero withdrew his troops.

R. C. SANDERS, of Colorado, Ill., one of the twenty-seven candidates defeated from the Senate under a village of Secretary Chandler, has been selected to report for duty at Brookfield, Mo., from July 1, 1892, to March 1, 1893. The other candidates have all been returned to their positions.

A prominent member of one of the most prominent law firms in Chicago and Denver, dealers of the Pacific, has been admitted to Congress, making that House in respect to already with the country he had represented, as it would, consequently, with the interests represented by the partners.

A recent dispatch from New York City. There is a report that the Republic and Ohio Railroad Company is organizing to build a new enterprise of great consequence, nothing short, in fact, of a scheme for paralyzing one of the most important lines of railroads in the Gould-southwestern system. A secret meeting, it is said, has been held in this city, at which a large amount of money has been pledged toward carrying out the project.

An Italian, scarcely more than twenty years of age, committed suicide at the Hotel Terrace, Monte Carlo, one day recently, after having had enormous sums of money at the gaming table. Peter Watral, a native of Venice, another victim of the gaming error, after losing his fortune at Monte Carlo, the most day proceeded to Milan, where he secured a room in a hotel and shot himself through the heart with a revolver.

There is a rumor of late in Philadelphia that the city is to be divided into two parts, one to be called Philadelphia and the other to be called the City of Independence. The rumor is said to have originated in the city of Philadelphia, and is said to have been spread by a man who is said to have been in the city of Philadelphia, and is said to have been spread by a man who is said to have been in the city of Philadelphia.

The late session of the German and English press, in the South Pacific, has been a very interesting one. The press has been very active in the South Pacific, and has been very active in the South Pacific, and has been very active in the South Pacific.

Speaking of the way in which the Mint at Philadelphia is guarded, it is stated that people may know in a general way, that great care has always been exercised for the protection of the building at night, but they do not know that after daylight has departed the building puts on the character of a little garrison, that in its corridors and passages are arms (not displayed to the public in display), and that armed watchmen patrol the building, both inside and out, during the entire night. By the grant of the Gatling guns these protections are greatly enhanced, and while the superintendent does not have the least fear that they will ever be needed for the use of any of these "mortal conveniences," he thinks that they are good things to have about the property under his care.

Quite a sensational romance has come to light in Chattanooga, Tenn. The victim is A. P. Dodge, a merchant prince of New York, and the heroine, Miss Rose Voorhes, daughter of Indiana, Miss Rose, in company with an unmarried sister and a married sister is chaperoned, arrived from Florida to spend several weeks viewing Lookout Mountain. The day after their arrival, Mr. Dodge came to the city from Florida and registered at the hotel where they were stopping. He seemed entirely untroubled and literally dogged the lady's footsteps, hanging on every word. She seemed annoyed, but her rebuffs only served to intensify his ardor, and his attentions finally became so vexatious that the ladies quietly left the city. Dodge followed on the next train. He met Miss Voorhes for the first time at Washington last winter. The acquaintance was renewed in Florida, and it was then he began his assiduous attentions. He seems hopelessly enraptured.

CONGRESSIONAL.
