Any person who takes the paper reg piarly from the post-office, whether directe not, is responsible for the pay.

The courts have decided that refusing take newspapers from the post-offer, or r moving and leaving them uncalled for, prime facie evidence of INTENTIONAL PPAU

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

I have a friend I knew at school, A man whose taste is fine, And Jim's opinions, as a rule, Do not conflict with mine. What he admires I praise with care; He censures what I blame: But of a certain damsel fair

We do not think the same. I think her eyes are azure blue; He says "dull gray" instead. I call ber hair an auburn bue, While he declares 'tis red. When her complexion I compare To roses pink and white, He smiles with a sarcastic air.

I do not think polite. Whene er her attitudes I praise, So graceful and erect, He stares quite languidly and says: "She poses for effect."

I say her figure is a dream, A vision made to waitz, He smiles: "Things are not what the And winks: "Perhaps 'tis false."

I always like to hear her play; He can't admire her touch. I like her bright, vivacious way; He thinks she laughs too much. To me she's fair as fair can be; She is not so to Jim. You see she is engaged to me,

A SILENT PREACHER.

And she has jitted him.

Lesson Taught the Old Coast-Guard by His Spy-Glass.

"Then sometimes," said old Mat thew Duncan, the coast guard at Trambay, "I've thought I'd write a book. I've got so far as to think what color the cover should be, and that's half the battle; and I settled it was to be as like the Union Jack as the book folk can make it, but I never get any farther. I'll tell you some of the things I've seen through this glass, and what I've thought about them, toe, and if they do any folk good I'll be all the better! pleased.

"Now, first of all, you point this glass over at yonder old bit of ruin on the cliffs. You can't see a large black stone in it. Well, the focus a'n't right for himself; but the stone is there-" "Ay, I see it now. And I see a white cross, a rough dab of paint at last.' on it."

"Right; when a man sees that 'tis a sign he has the focus right and that he never get the chance to see what I saw. When a man can see that white mark 'tis a sign that he could know one person from another if they were standing at the same place, and that he could is going on over there?

summer-day I was on guard here at member all that ought to be rememthree o'clock in the morning. I gen- bered by the only man whose eve erally gave a look all around with that saw the deed done; so I took and glass, and there was nothing at all in wrote down on a paper what I had view out to sea; I kept watching a rab- seen and hid it carefully away lest it bit that was skipping in and out among should come to any one's hand. And the stones of the old ruin. Presently I | if I died-well, I took care that the acsaw it was frightened and ran away, count, whatever it might be worth, and I said to myself: 'Now, what's should not be lost, for I marked it outthat?" for you know when a man is side: 'When I am dead this paper is to long hours in the same place, and there be given to the minister of the parish. day after day, he's glad of any thing and no one but himself is to break one that makes a bit of a stir. what made the rabbit jump away in seals upon it-every one of them difsuch a hurry; a man and a woman ferent; I borrowed them from far and came out of the ruins and sat down on near, wherever I could. I put down some of the loose stones outside. The the day and the hour, and the color of man was dark, with a sailor's dress, the young woman's dress and the shape and as far as I could make out -and of her hat, and the cut of the man's that, I think, was pretty near-was beard and whiskers, and the red 'kerabout thirty years of age. He warn't chief he had round his neck; of that I the looking man that I'd trust myself made special note, for scafaring men to if I were a young girl; but no living | don't wear that color often. 'Now, man can tell what any living woman said I, T've done all I can. Time will will do or will not do and why she tell. But it is an awful thing for that will do it or will not do it, and that's man that there has been an eye upon a knowledge I've come to by thinking him that he knew and knows nothing and by watching my old woman and about, ready to give evidence against was one of the first things I was going him if the question of a murder turns to put down in my book. At first these up. Folk often think they're not seen nerwise, and tightly fastened with a conscious or extra ugly. The women icks is fresh, for a few veers they kin two were friendly enough; even if the and that there'll be no witnesses pin or tiny brooch under the chin, with and children have rights as well as the stand a great deel uv likker, and still da, enught a forty-pound salmon in the thing; and keeps his neek eraned in glass had been a trifle wrong in the against them; but often I think: 'Ah! two ends harring down the back, and toper, yet the advocates of saloons do a tollable day's work. It is a sail Cassaps at river, in the Province of every direction. All of a suddon has focus I could have seen that they were there's one Eye at any rate that has the remaining two falling over the overlook the fact. Only the drinker fact that yer old customers die off mity Queice, a few years ago. Last sumsweetbearts; but after they had been on you, and there's one Eye-wit- breast. Over this again is worn the has rights; but there is comthere half an hour or so I saw that the girl began to move away a little from and do what you will, the testimony of some will be respected. Settler back in his seat parfectly there half an hour or so I saw that the girl began to move away a little from and do what you will, the testimony of some will be respected. girl began to move away a little from him, and when he shifted his seat so as him, and when he shifted his seat so as him, and when he shifted his seat so as him and do what you will, the testimony of higure; it is a large square or rounded him and do what you will, the testimony of higure; it is a large square or rounded him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him and when he shifted his seat so as him an to get near her again she made another sir," said the coast-guard, reverently. chintz, and is not fastened on, but ing plea for women and children: bar at the Corners, a cool head, and salmen. I don't think he cared much leads it with him. Wife seek to you cliff at four o'clock in the morning."

was plain; but 'Pooh!' says I to my- ferent man of me ever since. self, they'll kiss and be friends in ten dreaming; it may be they'll say I was change over you, too.' drunk; for all I know they may say | "Well, sir, he looks about him here push that had sent her over. bim the whole story from beginning to out. end, and our captain-I had him in and told it to him, too.

"But the gentlemen only smiled at what I said. 'Poor fellow,' says one, 'the fever's on him still.' 'Av,' says he's been raving on all along.'

"Well, I was very weak and couldn't talk much, and I was weary with my earnestness in trying to make them believe what I said, so I just laid back with my eyes closed and they thought I was asleep. But I heard them talking, and the captain said: "Tis a pity, too, for he's one of the best and sharpest-eyed men in the service, and I'm afraid he'll never be fit for any for your eye; every man must shift it vice. He must get sick-leave for a this purse. He wrenched the money reflections of divinity, spreading a "And then the trouble we have with week, with a few other friends, they while. I've seen many cases as strange as this and they came round all right

"Well. I made two or three more attempts and I tried the doctor; but he says: 'I'll send you some strengthencan see as I could, only I hope he'll ing medicine, Duncan, and you'll soon be all right,' and he tapped his forehead and says: 'Fevers make sad work with our brains.'

"I saw it was no use to try and persuade any of the gentlemen; I did my see all they were doing and, so to best, and there now I must leave it. speak, almost hear what they were say. But I warn't quite easy in my mind. ing. We a'n't quite come to that yet, Looking at it now at this distance of but if what folk say who come and time I think it was my duty to have retalk to me in the summer-time be true. ported it and taken the consequences, we're on our way to it, and we a'n't whatever they might have been, but far off either. But now you're sure this I did: I says to myself: 'There is that a man standing here can see what no knowing what may turn up, by and by, if this is murder; murder will out, "Well, fifteen years ago come mid. as the saying is, and I may not reof the seals upon it.' And to make the "I hadn't long to wait before I saw matter as sure as I could I put six ust straight out and over she went! that poor young thing go over the cliff. don Society. or twice she hung for a moment Twas a most as though I expected to face of the rock; her dress see something, and they say that if one in the brambles then. But it expects to see something they'll do it -- has been forever set at rest in England, for a moment; she was in the I suppose they think the fancy brings three of the Lord Justice deciding s time than it takes for me to the thing. Well, sir, I did see some- that the letters belong to the writer, is sure that he will never fall or fail to the wages of more than 1,250,000 e was full at the time, but very day when that young woman was mand and receive them back, provided he who realizes the necessity of watch- Amendment. turn, and once it turns it thrown over the cliff-for now we they have not been destroyed. Ladies fulness at every step and on every side. almost like the race of a know all about it-and there, coming may write in them whatever nonsense e man was soon lost to out of the ruin. I saw the man I'd seen they may see fit, with the full assurruins, and though I five years before. I knew him in a ance that they can not be published occan all round for miles moment; he had the same beard and without the vat, nor can they be come by a love of drink. if he is not a it is capable of doing, and it has nothsight of the body any the same dress and the same 'kerchiel's-" but this time he was by himself.

" 'Now, sir,' says I to myself, 'what watched him well, for I was detershall I do? Shall I report this? I mined that there should be no mistake; thought and thought and thought, and and I kept the glass on him as a rifleat last I says: 'No. I won't report it man would keep his rifle aiming at a even to my old woman, for if I do bull's-eve. I could see him as plainly there's no knowing to whom she'll re- as I see you now. He was the same port it again.' And the reason I had man, but he looked, av, twenty years for not doing it was this. Says I to older. But he was the same, and I myself: 'If there's no one missing, and says to myself: 'I know you, but I if the body never turns up, as I don't never saw a man age like you; you're believe it will, people will say I was the same man, but there's an awful

I'm mad. I'll just wait and see and there, and then he takes out of his whether the body is ever found or not. pocket a little parcel and puts it under Besides,' says I to myself, 'I can't tell a stone, and puts three or four more that a murder has been committed. over it, and walks on towards the edge They fell out, there's no doubt of that, of the cliff. Up and down he goes, and and there was a scuffling; but perhaps goes through all I saw him do five her going over was an accident. I years before, and at last-and I never couldn't swear that, when he thrust | could make this out-struggling against out his two hands, he had given her a it as though some one was pushing him from behind, still staggering nearer "Well, sir, the burden of this secret | and nearer to the edge, over he leaped, lay heavy on my mind, and as I walked and he was caught just as that girl was, up and down here on my lonely beat it here and there; and the tide did to hira began to eat into me. Says I to my- as it did to her-carried the body out self: 'Matthew Duncan, you know of a to sea-and what with congers and murder and you've never told of it,' other greedy fish there were plenty and it ended in getting a fever, and I waiting for him out there. This time A Word That Suggests the Picture of a was as near dead as any man could be. I determined not to hold my tongue, When I came a bit to myself I had the so I reported to the captain, who at parson sent for, and I told him I had a ! first only tapped his forehead and said great load on my mind and wanted to I must not go into fever again; but the ease it by telling it to him, and I told rights of it was gone into and found

"I said: Captain, have the ruins searched, and I'll take any one you name to the spot.'

"Well, Duncan,' said he, 'I'd be sorry for you to go off your head, for the other, 'you see 'tis the same thing | you're my sharpest-eved man. I'll go | power to hiss out the word death and with you myself, and I will ask the to startle us with its seemingly inminister to go, too.'

"And there, sir, under the very stones which I pointed out we found so erushing to human hopes and blightthe parcel, sure enough. It was an old jung to human character, so awful in leather purse wrapped up in a piece of their effect upon innocence and imtarred canvas what looked like a bit bruting to the noblest instincts of the of an old sail, and in it was aten-pound so fills the lover of his race with a shoes and that caliker dress wood bey the principal property his life, and he note and a piece of paper, and on it turning hatred as the simple word was written in a hand such almost as which glares at us in the head of this a school-boy would write: John article. Eating out the very manhood Wat rite hed he to do it? Ef his little thing again.' 'Oh, 'twill work off," Hinch threw his sweetheart over this of the developing boy, tearing the fair- gal wanted noo shoes and a dress why next to the pride he felt in his fong said the minister; 'you may be sure cliff five years ago this very day and lest character to shreds, clouding the when he strengthens up he'll forget hour (you see, sir, he had it all got glowed in the world, poisoning the shoes and noo caliker dresses on the James Eveleth and Mr. Forrest of the all these fever fancies. You ready for the very time), because she noblest natures that have ever mellittle gals uv my customers. It is just Engineers' Department, and once a mustn't think of his leaving the ser- would not give him the ten pounds in lowed the character of humanity with so much robbed from me. from her, but he never spent a farthing of it. For five long years he's ing scaffolds, and stinging to their much he won't work. The appetite game of whist afterwards. He gave roamed the world, feeling that some death honor and purity and innocence, for likker ought to end with a man's dinners to the diplomatic corps at regeve saw him do the deed, and he's rum has been and is the insatiable capassity for payin fur it, but it don't. ular intervals, and made it a point to come here in the self-same clothes demon that gloats over the broadest. He must bey it whether he works or which he had on that day; he's always blackest swath of its own mowing not. And so he cums in and demands invite all the heads of legations to his hearing voices saying that there's some hearts and human happiness. In Ef you refuse him likker the poor devil garded with a respect that amounted one to meet him here."

been somebody there pushing him ourselves afraid of the monster, or to en't want it at all, wich wood be room- looked upon him as an oracle, and esfrom behind, from the way he went run from its presence. It is foolhardiover, but I saw nobody; the man was have been swept into ruin. It is little flamed, so that when he does git to there alone. There was no one to short of idiocy to tamper with that work he will continuer to contribbit. known by reputation before coming make a row about the matter, for no which has conquered the brightest Inezmuch es wat he earns when he is here. girl had been missed, which is easy minds and strongest wills, and made at work comes to me anyhow, he never Mr. Hunter was a very accomplished enough to understand, for we're with- decent men repulsive in habit and ap- hez any surplus to pay off old scores, in a walk of a large town, and no one pearance. knew any thing of the man. No in- peal for their undying enmity to rum. luz stays run up. much about things which happened and to the world, touch not, taste not, breakin ny chares, and glasses, and five years ago, and a very bad murder handle not the accursed stuff. Do not sich, don't count, but when one uy didn't take much note of this. there ain't many better teachers than

PERSIAN BRIDES.

Pretty Young Woman.

which was jet black and very long, you out. - Western Rural. was plaited into a number of tiny tails.

-The proprietorship of love-letters thing. 'Twas the very hour and the, who in case of estrangement may destands firmest in the hour of peril; but men at the present wages - XVIIA

TEMPERANCE.

A WIFE TO HER HUSBAND.

Love, I pray you, stay with me. Shun to-night the revelry. Let your boon companious meet But ch! never let them greet One for whom a woman's tears. Like the mighty dews distin Constant, through her love and fears. By the early love you bore For this heart now faint and sore, By my love, oh! I implore,

Can those hours in orgies spent' Give to you the pure content That you felt in other years. Ere the cup had touched your lips; Ere my eyes were buthed in tears; Ere your noble soul had lost Self-respect and man ness: These have paid the fearful cost. By the ch ldren that I bore. By the altar where you swore To protect me, I implare,

Drak no more

Drink no more! In the great bereafter, love, When the spirit rests above, Where the beacon light divine For earth's weary pligrims saine: Where the righteous feet have trod, At the Lying ber of God. That shall judge the world of men. What the drunkard's password then? By the blood of Christ who bore Life from death to Heaven's shore, By His love, on! I implore. Drink no more!
-L. V. Watkins, in Union Signal.

RUM.

Skull and Cross-Bones-An Appeal to Young Mea. There is no word of three letters in the English language or any other gestive as this word rum. To one who his kind and sufficiently observant to see the dreadful effects of intemperance, the very word seems like a picture of a skull and cross-bones, with telligent mockery of human wretchedness. The triumphs of liquor have black shadow over hearthstones, fill- likker don't end with this sort uv always met for a dinner party at his that was ever cut through human credit, and wat are you going to do? table at least once a year. He was rethe presence of such a remorseless des- mite git his stumick heeled, and mite, to reverence by the diplomatists in this "It would look a'most as if there had troyer it is not cowardice to confess possibly, come to a pint wher he wood- city, particularly the older ones, when

To the young men we carnestly ap-

quests had to be held, for no bodies As you value your happiness, and had been found. Folk don't trouble honor, and usefulness to yourselves wich is inseperable from likker. The make the mistake of supposing that your best customers gits his hed coming up quite fresh then, people you will be safe in the clutch of a des- broken so he hez to stay in bed a week "But, eh! sir, I've often thought thousands of our race; and do not hart rendin'. And when they git to her last illness scarcely a day passed what an awful thing it is that there's make the greater mistake of thinking shootin'! I shell never forgit how I felt without their spending an hour or two that you can drink and the world not when I saw 'Lish Pogram, the Deckin's an Eye on us when we're not thinking know it. That is a vice that above all oldest son, curled up on this floor, of it, and how little good sin does us, others leaves its footprint just where with a hole thro his forehead, with eighty and she past three score and and how, in some way or other, it is all may see it. The most moderate Pete Gavitt, Issacker's oldest brother, ten. Only a few days ago an attache sure to meet us. There isn't any bet- drinker can not hide the evidence of a standin over him with his pistol of the State Department visiting his ter preacher to me than my glass; and his induigence. The eye, the breath smokin. Lish Pogram wuz ded ez a sick room found him propped up he and the manner tell the story even door nale, and he wuz with to me at with the man who drinks moderately, leest three hundred dollars a yeer. understood all they have to say,"- the occasional drinker. If you drink, a killin us bim, and ther went another his, in N. Y. Graphic be willing that the world shall know three hundred dollars a yeer. Pete it, for it will. One of the delusions of committed socieide before he had bin frinking men often is that nobody ther a veer, for he and 'Lish hed alluz The Peculiar Wedding Tollet Worn by a of the vice on every feature of their he waz drunk kinder preved onto his faces, and conspicuous in their eyes mind. Although the bride was very young, and often in their tongue, and perhaps | "However, I hev dun well enuff and having, at the most, seen sixteen sum- in their step, they persist in thinking | don't | kek. I hey a mortgage onto mers, rouge, alas, was no stranger that the world thinks them sober and most uv the farms bereabouts, which, and twenty-five pounds. A thirtyeven to her pretty face! Her hair, pure. Be sure, young friend, that while they don't pay any interest on pound salmon is very large, and a few life he was see a watering cart on the

the ends of which peeped forth from Upon Whom the Punishment Falls. under the chagat of folded white linen | It is the women and children who laber uv their wives and children. she wore on her head. Nothing can suffer the evils of whisky-drinking; not exceed the ugliness or unbecomingness; the toper who spends his money for shoor resource. They claim the rite daughter of the Queen of England, grounds, or it is no good. You of this head-gear. It is merely a square trink, and thinks he gets compensa- to go wher ther dads go, and they cum, and the wife of the Marquis of Lorne. piece of muslin or cotton folded cor- tion in feeling good and becoming un- They come shoot. And ex ther stomove.

"I mean the Great Eye above. I used "Said I: 'Here's the old story of all to think myself particular before, but her world, of morning, noon and some and the control of the control the world, of morning, noon and since this happened I have been ever York striped satin, handsomely trimmed tions of men who are confined in the night, going on here on the top of this so much more particular, for I says with gold lace, and reached only half bridewell. The cases presented for not, and you want, above all not to ing sixty pounds are taken now and to myself: There's some One look- way to the knees; the legs were bare, official elemency are almost uniform drink up your cappytic youself. Youd then in Scotch rivers, and a few rivers are all the time receiving "But I hadn't time for much think- ing. ay. and there's some One Often as many as twenty vards of silk in their nature. A hard-working man never do fur the bizness, never." ing; it took all my attention to be listening; you don't see Him, but He's or satin are employed for these skirts, with a large family of children, and watching. There was a quarrel, that there,' and in a way it's made a dif- which are gathered into a band at the tain them, gets drunk. He abuses his waist, and are worn over four or five wife and children, and for protection "Five years passed," said the old petticoats very much stiffened. The the wife appeals to the police. The minutes.' Well, I waited for the kiss- man, "and the doctor and the parson more a skirt stands out the more fash- next morning the wife is compelled to ele is the value of the labor in produc- seventy pounds. There is a story told ing, and then I thought I'd have an- and the captain forgot all about this ionable it is. The bodice is a loose appear before a justice; she is forced ing it. Whisky is sold to-day at an av- of a Highlander who booked a salmon other look round the ocean; but that matter; they didn't 'trouble themselves sort of jacket of silk or velvet trimmed fore she has finished the recital of her poor girl never got a kiss again. much about the ravings of a man in a with gold lace, the sleeves are long, and sufferings the court interferes with There was a something in her hand fever, as they thought, and 'twas mid- terminate in a pointed cuff that turns one hundred dollars and costs.' Then that he wanted to get, that was plain, summer morning again and it was my back, reaching nearly to the elbow. The bushand is hustled off to the bridethough I couldn't quite make out what turn to be on guard. I don't know This is worn over a calico or linen well to serve a six-months' imprison- of the whisky, less the tax which repre- tom, he lay down, took the line in his it was; but whatever it was he snatched what it was that made me keep look- shirt. Although all dresses agree in the every time a rule of which it it from her, and she struck at him in ing continually at the cliff and at that their leading features, and the fashions are crying with hunger. The husband purchased labor can get in return but her anger, and then there was a push- part of the ruin where you see the never change in the East as they do in is not suffering; he gets his food a seventeen cents if it gets the full value ing about, but always with her getting white cross painted on the stone. But the West, yet they differ to a great explace to sleep, and nothing to do, while of the whisky, which it does not for til three e clock in the morning, when carer and nearer the edge of the cliff, every moment I felt the glass almost tent in detail, and afford a scope for the woman is obliged to labor for the capital claims its share. atil at last I saw the man's two arms turning of itself to where I had seen the peculiar taste of the wearer .- Lon- bread her children mast have or starve. The punishment fails alone upon the woman, while the men is the real of- ing it four dollars, so that whenever fender."-N. W. Christian Advocate.

sense of danger. Caut on is an ac-dollars. companiment of courage. Not he who and who k pows that he will surely be contrary to the au- total abgainer, is by his very confi- ing to say in its own defense. -XVIII was killed before it could do any there if you belonged to the family."dence in peculiar peril -S. S. Times. Amendment.

THE DRAWBACKS.

Bascom on the "Troubles" Connected with the Liquor Traffic-Still He Thinks He Has "Dun Well Eauff" in Spite of

"Petroleum V. Nasby," of "Confedrit X Roads, recently proposed to Bascom that he take him into partnership in his "grosery" at that place. To his surprise the proposition was rejected, on the ground that Bascom didn't think the trade would stand two such industrious drinkers. In the course of the conversation Baseom remarked as follows, as reported by "Nashy" to the Toledo Eliafe:

ez voo git a man fairly fixed so that he hez to hev his likker regier, he gits so that he won't work, and consekently stimulant, and no money to pay for it? Ef I cood find a likker wich wood make a man drink without destroyin man gits drunk Saturday nite and stays drank all day Sunday he isn't with a lament the misfortunes and sorrows of likker is curtaled by the very likker he drinks. This bustin a man's sistem by stimulants cuts me out a good fifty per every now and then a regler customer gits a foolish spasm, and goes and quanders a part of his earnings on his wife and children. I see only vesterbeen so widespread and heartrending. day the little girl uv one uv my best est patience and evident pleasure. customers go by in a noo calico dress and a noo pair uv shoes, wich I know he hed paid for, for he hasn't bin in my place for four days. shoes and that caliker dress wood bev the principal prop to his life, and he bin in my till by this time of he hedn't has aged more rapidly since than besquandered it in thet onjestifiable way. fore. He was a domestic man, and didn't his wife git the money, by connection with the State Department brightest intellects that have ever washin and sich? I hate to see noo be enjoyed his home. His cronics were ness to stand where so many thousands | tick, to keep his stumick properly inand the result is loss uv wat you hey advanced. A skore wunst run up al-

"Another trouble with us is the fites this sin above al. others will surely find their notes, it amounts to the same ty-pound ish will be talked of through- way from the hotel to the ball grounds thing, as they spend all the money out the season although it is said that he is use as well satisfied that the

One Reason for Hard Tinses.

The only benefit that labor can derive from the consumption of any artiwoman returns to her children, who that every time a gaden of whisky is ix dollar; is directed from the purchase of whisky labor loses the differ-SAFETY is commonly promoted by a ence between seventeen cents and four mor weighing eighty-three pounds is overthrown unless he is alert, and is out the wedding-garment on is speechpersiste div determined. He who feels less. No one will step forward and dethat he is in no danger of being over- fend it on the ground of the good that

AN AMERICAN DIPLOMAT.

The Late Wit, lam Hunter's Remarkable Knowledg. of Foreign Affairs.

I suppose the las Assistant Secretary of State Hunter was better known among the diplomatics of Europe than any man in this country and there was no one in the United States as there oughly posted as to political affairs in Europe as he. Being a close student, ignorance of the men as some information about the Turkon defeat. The boxs are always on the his capassity for laber, it wood do, Russian complications. He commenced Tookout for something is bring the for then he food earn money every by telling us what occurred in 1801, gook lack, but won't see a bad sen if bar, and it wood be pleasant. But brought the subject down to 1820. I way. A good many players are more it don't work that way. Ef a was in haste, and interrupting, tried to superstitious than they will acknowle bring him to the point on which I edge, although in reality they don't belanguage that is so voluminously sug- down to biznis by Thursday he is doing manifestation of impatience, he said being in fun in claiming that the ne perty well. So you see half his time is that the great fault with newspapers that will bring them good has, and has been sufficiently sympathetic to lost, and his capassity fur payin fur and journalists was that they were too the first thing they know they are superficial; that they looked at the ser, placing more dependence they they face of affairs, and thought they could imagine on these signs, particularly if cent. uv wat there shood be in the biz- learn in a few moments what required the, happen to prophese right ones or the study of a life-time to understand. Iwice. "And then another trouble is that Frankly admitting the justice of the rebuke I listened for an hour longer as he related the diplomatic history of Turkey and Russia, and with the great-

Mr. Hunter outlived his wife, and all his children except one, who still lives in Georgetown. Mrs. Hunter's death, ing almshouses and prisons and load- thing. When a man hez drunk too house, with a bowl of punch and a teemed him highly, as he was one of the few of our officials whom they had musician, and had perhaps the most extensive and valuable musical library in Washington. There are few finer collections in the United States. Next to his duties at the department he loved his music, and was askillful performer upon the violin, the 'cello, the flute and the piano. His wife was also trover that has laid low so many and can't git to voor bar at all, that is a fine musician, and up to the time of in practice, although he was nearly

SOME BIG SALMON.

During the Past Hundred Years. In weight the salmon of the Canain England still vield large fish. Sir John Hawkins speaks of a salmon caught in an Faglish river in April. 789, which was four feet long, three feet around the body, and weighed erage of six dollars per gallon, and in the river liwe, and played the fish out of that sum labor gets the value of for hours, until night came on without the labor extended in producing the his being able to tire it out. Then, as lander signt and the salmon sulked unsome friends of the former came to A bolt of comes cloth valued at six look for him. With their help he mandollars contributed to labor in produc- aged to land the fish about daybrenk, and it weighed seventy-three poun is. That was certainly a giant, but a sareported once to have been sent to the This loss to labor amounts annually London market. - Riples Hitchcock is barm - Troy Times.

MAISCOTS AND OMENS.

Popular & peratitions Prevaling Among Protostowal Ball-Torser "Yes, sich it's a fact," soid John Montill, the cap ain of the liest in the

"that professiona, ball-tracers or as a rule very supersthings. It is not ing more than natura, though," page finned, "and is not as you're for your and having an unusually recentive supposed. You see so much who are memory, which did not seem to be tersintoevery game of ball that the upaired by age, he was familiar with who play game after game, or the large the details of all the intrigues of con- become impressed with the belies flow timental politics for lifts years, so that they can read in advance certain a "Likker sellin looks like a mity every movement upon the internas or omers which will have more to be profitable biznis, but it aint alluz. It national chess board was perfectly un- effect upon their individual part of an hez its drorbay. You see yer custom- dirstood by him in its full significance, upon the result of the game. On the ers don't live long enuff to make the He knew much more about European whole I think it's a very good floor, if biznis ez profitable ez it shood be. Jest politics than he did about our own, the bad signs do not outnomber has and used to affect an indifference to good ones. A superstitious person local affairs, saving that they did not who has seen his favorite omen on the don't her money to satisfy his appear concern him. It was the great game way to the grounds, will play willy tite. That's the trubble. Wat good to of nations that interested his mind and more confidence, and will, therefore, me is a man with a healthy longin for not Congressional or State compaigns. play a better game of ball than if he I remember going to him once to ask started in heavy heartest and ours of day, and spend it every nite in my and after talking half an hour he had they can help it, and that is the proper straw for labor Monday, and of he gits wished to be informed, when, with a lieve in any such ideas. They begin by

> "The mascot business scome to be the most popular luck bringing mea. continued Morrill. "We haven't had a muscot, but we saw the Kansast to a when we were out there. For the first game they picked up a kid with two or three rows of teeth, and dressed himup. He didn't work very well, for they lost the game and nothing more was heard of him. The next day they had a great beg colored man in ansform, and, bless your soul, they went the game. They were sure their new mascot did the business. The papers published his picture, and he was the lion of the day. They will have to get a little stronger team, though, for the mascot can't do it all. The Chicagon have this year a little fellow named Willie Hahn, who appears in uniform at every game. He is Williamson's special protege. The Chicago's becaused the mascot idea this year, but it was George Wright picked up a little 'coon' in Boston, and dressed him up and kept him with the team for two years seasons. Another your we had a dwarf for a mascot, but he didn't prove a very successful one, and we fail ditte win the pennant. Mascots are good things to on ourage the boys, but you have got to have a pretty strong team a encourage the museut.

"What are some of the superstitions deas beside the mascot?" asked the re-

"They have all kinds of good back igns," he replied. "I remember in Xi, when we were way behind in the race; one of our boys saw a horse east He stepped out into the street and "O'Win," only the name of the Detroit binoksmith who made the shoe, but the finder took it as a smod omen. He questly hid it in his greeneck and curried it with him. The boys soon got the things we handle and have to do which our young readers may prove to And to finish up the disaster, they sent music before him and his flute in his on to it and regarded it as a good lack with m our common life, if only we their satisfaction if they will observe Pete to the penitenshary for life, for hand, playing an old air. W. E. Care sign, and the first thing we knew we ended the season is the lead. The have hid our success but he horseshoe. and so did old man O'Win. He never knows of their failing. With the marks bin good frends and killin uv him when Mounters Captured in Various Countries fails to come and sea us when we are > salmon weighing lifty pounds have game acours as if it had been played been caught in the Restigouche one, and recorded in our favor. He has to "The reglers die too soon, but ther indeed, was said to weigh lifty-four new the eart though after leaving is the children comin up, and that is a pounds. The Princess Louise, the the hotel and before reaching the the former Governor-General of Cana- carriage from which he can see every the time, and he had a great deal to eilever in a letter the other day from are about as superstitious as the playsomethings anonymously, which will be sure to give us good lank. Nince I've been here I received a tin-type of a colored boy, which the sender assured me would best all the mascuts. big or little. The other day I received a pea-pad containing faul nine peas. The letter which secompanied it said that good look is bound to follow the bull-tosser who possesses such a post. What did I do with it? I've got it yet. There is no use wantonly breaking your luck if you have any. It can't do my harm. I'm not superstitious, you know, but then what's the use throwing away what may be a good thing." - Washington Star.

Unexpected Cold Wave.

"Say?" he called, as he put his bend into a plumber's shop vesterday, "our water pipe has frozen up and busted." "What! In the summer? That can's be," replied the plumber.

Well, it's just the same. The -In a mail-beg recently op 2 at hitchen is full of water, the bired girt's THE licour traffic, like the man with- Kingston, N. Y., was found a in go cop- quit and ma told dad before I left home perhead spake, which had been put that if it wasn't for the children she into the bag by some foolish young wouldn't live with him another day, man as a joke. Fortunately the snake You'd think it was cold enough up Detroit Free Press.