CURRENT COMMENT.

THE Society of Charities and Corrections has decided to meet next year at San Diego, Cal. CARL SCHURZ amuses himself in Berlin and passes a good part of his time in the Zoological Gardens. WALTER BESANT is a small, animated, bright-eyed and black-haired man, fond of the theater, claret and a pipe. In a long opinion, Secretary Endicott favors a span of 730 feet over the main channel of the Mississippi at Memphis, Tenn. A LISBON dispatch announces the death of Senor Jose Ferrera Borges de Castro, a distinguished Portuguese diplomat. The half-breeds in the British North-Territory are out in a manifesto threatening fresh trouble if not given their demands. SERRIS charges have been preferred against the Governor of the National Soldiers' Home at Togus, Me. A committee will investigate. MME. MEISSONIER, wife of the celebrated painter, is dead, after a brief illness. She was the sister of Steinheil, a painter of religious subjects. The deceased lady was highly esteemed for her benevolence. GENERAL BOULANGER, at a banquet the other night, said he hoped his sword would return to him before another year had passed. During a visit to St. Malo General Boulanger was given an ovation by the populace. The youngest Justice on the Supreme Bench of Tennessee is Judge Snodgrass, of Chattanooga. He is thirty-seven years of age and was nominated for the office when only a few months over thirty-five, the age at which he became eligible. THE fleet which will accompany Emperor William as an escort on his visit to Russia will be the largest that Germany has ever put to sea. It will consist of six ironclads, four dispatch ships, four vessels of the training squadron, and a flotilla of torpedo boats. A LONG distance telephone exchange has been opened in New York. The telephones are in glass cabinets. One can sit in a cabinet at a handsome cherry desk and send messages to Philadelphia, or to cities in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island or to one hundred places in New York State with perfect ease. RED SHIRT, the Indian chief, was taken recently to see a large painting of the ocean by Albert Bierstadt. He looked at it with great interest, and when asked what he thought of it, made an eloquent gesture signifying the unpleasant memories called forth by such a realistic representation of the sea. Mr. Bierstadt said that he could not have been more delicately complimented than by this bit of pantomime. E. S. STOKES has started a new downtown cafe in New York which is simply gorgeous. It has a floor of Italian mosaic, which alone cost $12,000. The octagonal bar is of Mexican onyx and white mahogany, and cost as much more. The supporting pillars are also of white mahogany and oak, and there are enough of them to make a man wish he were rich. Silver beer mugs and a collection of silver dishes are incidental to the general magnificence. THE members of the Sioux Commission will meet shortly at Bismarck, D. T. Work will be begun at the Standing Rock agency. The other agencies will be visited in their regular order as they are reached in moving down the Missouri river. The Rev. Mr. Cleveland appointed a member of the Commission is not a brother of the President, as stated, but J. W. Cleveland, an Episcopal minister, and formerly a missionary at the Rosebud (D. T.) agency. He speaks the Sioux language fluently. CHAIRMAN FAITHORN, of the Western and Northwestern Freight Association, has advised lines doing business between Chicago and Council Bluffs that irregularities in rates in business originating in the East ought to cease, so as to prevent further demoralization in rates. The reduction now in effect was made from 67 to 55 cents first class several days ago. He thinks it advisable, in order to insure uniformity, that some date be established when all irregularities must be at an end. PROF. POWELL, of the Geological Survey, recently made an argument, two hours in length, before the Senate Committee on Appropriations in the matter of the proposition to develop the arid land regions. Prof. Powell is very enthusiastic in the belief that his views as to the irrigation of this vast region, by establishing reservoirs in the Rocky mountains for the supply of water, is entirely practicable. The committee was very much interested in the subject, and it is possible that a considerable appropriation will be made to enable a test to be made of the practicability of the undertaking.

NEBRASKA STATE NEWS.

FIFTY-NINE Nebraska veterans were granted pensions on the 5th. On July 4, 5 and 6 the mercury ranged at 100 in the shade at David City. THE Governor recently issued a requisition upon the Governor of Illinois for the arrest and return to Nebraska of Theodore Draw charged with the abduction on June 24, at Omaha, of Freddie W. The child's father is a poor man in the employ of the smelting works. Draw was captured in Chicago. A PETITION was filed in the district court at Omaha the other day by Francis C. Cleveland, Benjamin Folsom, N. R. Folsom and ten other heirs of the late John B. Folsom for partition of their several interests in city lots in Omaha, forming part of the Folsom estate. The property is valued at several hundred thousand dollars. The petition in the course of a very lengthy and elaborate statement of the case explains that "the plaintiff, Francis C. Cleveland, is the same person as Frances C. Folsom, named as one of the devisees in the said will, she having since the date thereof intermarried with one Grover Cleveland." A MAN and wife became so absorbed in the festivities of the Fourth at Grand Island, and especially the giddy dance, that they put their babe to sleep in one corner of the room to let their "joy be unconfined." After the dance they drove home, twelve miles in the country, and the loving mother got into bed she missed her two-year-old and with a scream made the fact known to her husband who had to hitch up and drive back to town, where he found the little one sleeping as soundly as babes only can sleep when properly tucked away by a careful mother. STREETER'S ADDRESS.

THE Union Labor Candidate Out With His Letter of Acceptance. NEW WINDSOR, Ill., July 16.—A. J. Streeter, the Union Labor candidate for the Presidency, has published his letter of acceptance. It is lengthy and is taken up with labor politics, the silver question, etc. It denounces monopolies and thinks the tariff a minor issue compared with the industrial question. Mr. Streeter says: "The prosperity of a nation is measured by the prosperity of its industrial people. If they are prosperous, then the nation is prosperous and other working people are growing poor. The nation is poor, though its treasury, like ours, is overflowing with idle money. Such is the condition of our nation to-day. They tell us the country is growing rich, but the farmers and other working people are growing poor. Did our fathers ordain and establish this Government to be a machine to enrich the few at the expense of the many? I think not. But, on the contrary, the true intent of law and of government should be to protect the weaker members in society from the encroachments of the stronger. The stronger are better able to care for themselves, but the weaker need the fostering care of the Government, and hence govern them." A PETITION was filed in the district court at Omaha the other day by Francis C. Cleveland, Benjamin Folsom, N. R. Folsom and ten other heirs of the late John B. HARRISON AND R. R. MEN.

The General Address and Deputation of Nine Hundred. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 15.—There was comparative quiet about the Harrison residence yesterday, which continued until nine o'clock at night, when a large delegation of railroad men, led by A. D. Shaw, yardmaster of the Bee Line, made a call. The delegation numbered nearly 900. They were headed by a band of music, and a feature of the procession was a wagon profusely decorated and bearing several locomotive headlights. Mr. Shaw addressed General Harrison in a brief speech, and in response the latter said: "Gentlemen: Your visit is very gratifying to me and is full of significance and interest. If I read aright the language of your lanterns, you have signalled the Republican train to go ahead. [Applause and cries of "And she is going, too."] You have concluded that it is freighted with the interests and hopes of the workmen of America, and must have the right of way. [Cheers, and cries of "That's true!"] and "We don't have to take water on this trip." The train has been inspected, you have given it your skilled and intelligent approval, the track has been cleared and the switches spiked down. Have I read your signals aright? [Cheers and cries of "You have," and "There's no flat wheels under it's train."] You represent, I understand, every department of railroad labor—the office, the train, the shop, the yard and the road. You are the responsible and intelligent agents of a vast system that, from a rude and clumsy beginning, has grown to be as fine and well adapted as the parts of the latest locomotive engine. The necessities and responsibilities of the business of transportation have demanded a body of picked men—inventive and skillful, faithful and courageous, sober and educated—and the call has been answered, as your presence here to-night demonstrates. [Cheers.] Heroism has been found at the throttle and the brake, as well as on the battle field, and as well worthy of song and marble. The train man crushed between the platforms, who used his last breath, not for a message of love, but to say to the panic-stricken who gathered around him, "Put out the red light for the next train," inscribed his name very high upon the shaft, where the names of the faithful and brave are written. [A voice, "Give him three cheers for that." Great and enthusiastic cheering.] A FATAL MISTAKE. A Farmer Kills His Brother, Whom He Mistakes for an Enemy. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 16.—News of a shocking tragedy in the Choctaw Nation reached here to-day. A few weeks ago John Ray, a white man who has for a long time been farming in the Nation, married a young girl near Topeka, Kan., and returning to the Nation with his bride gave a housewarming. Ray lives just below the line, and among the guests were a number of parties from Arkansas. One of these, a man named Graham, became incensed at Ray because he refused to permit his wife to dance with him (Graham) and fired at Ray as he stood among other guests. Ray's friends chased Graham away, but barely escaping with his life. He threatened to kill Ray on sight and Ray was advised to be on his guard. Saturday at midnight Ray was awakened by a noise in his bedroom, and, raising himself in his bed, he saw a man whom he took to be Graham standing motionless near the doorway. Snatching his revolver, he fired at the intruder, who, with an inarticulate cry, fell on the floor. The household was aroused by the noise and an investigation showed that Ray had fatally shot his brother, Jeff Ray, who was engaged in farming with him. The brother was a somnambulist and had wandered into the room unconscious of his action. HEAVY BANK ROBBERY. A Cowboy's Daring Raid Upon a Colorado Bank. LA JUNTA, Col., July 16.—Saturday afternoon a man dressed in ordinary cowboy attire entered the bank of La Junta, covered the cashier, Rufus Phillips, with his six shooter and ordered him to put the bank's money into a bag which he had brought in for that purpose. With death staring him in the face the cashier obeyed orders without a murmur. When all the cash had been turned over the robber ordered the cashier to open the back door and go out in the rear of the building. The robber had his horse tied conveniently and mounted and rode off, keeping the cashier covered with his gun all the time. A number of parties saw the robber while he was mounting his horse but so quick was he in doing the job that no one realized the situation until he had gone. He rode a very fast horse and was clear out of sight before anybody thought of giving pursuit. A posse of citizens headed by Deputy Sheriff Polk, after the thief and they will not come back until they get him. No one knows the exact amount the robber secured but it is variously estimated at from $16,000 to $28,000. BURNED. Whitelaw Reid's Magnificent Residence Burned—Heavy Loss. WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 16.—Fire broke out in the old Ben Holliday stone mansion on the Olyph farm, about three miles from this place, now owned by Whitelaw Reid, of the Tribune. The building was one of the famous landmarks in Westchester County, having been standing for over 200 years. Last year Mr. Reid purchased the place from the estate of John Roche, and commenced the refitting of the interior, upon a magnificent scale. The dining room, 50x23 feet, was finished in hard wood with heavy carving over the doors of clusters of fruits and various kinds of gams. The flooring of the fourteen rooms on the first floor were magnificent. There were in all fifty-four large rooms in the castle, which were all finished. The origin of the fire is not definitely known, but it is a defective flue or the presence of the electric light wires. The loss on the building will reach nearly $500,000. Insured for about two-thirds of that amount. The question of rebuilding the castle will be determined in the future, after the condition of the walls, which are still standing, have been examined. Burglar Convicted. BOORVILLE, Mo., July 15.—In the circuit court here yesterday three important cases of burglary and grand larceny against John Wray, Louis Kohlman and William Scott were decided. The jury in the case of Wray, after being out eight hours, brought in a verdict of guilty, and his punishment was fixed at two years in the penitentiary. Kohlman and Scott were acquitted. Wray is one of the leaders of an organized band of thieves who have been operating in Boonville and vicinity for several years. He was arrested at Clinton, Mo., last fall for stealing, but after a long trial was acquitted. It is expected that his conviction will go far toward breaking up the gangs. Fatally Wounded. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 16.—A serious shooting affair occurred here last night, in which William Dunn, a married man employed at Kingan's pork house, was probably fatally wounded. Four men were engaged in conversation, when Dunn approached the group and made a remark about General Harrison. One of the men, Frank Ernschaw, remarked that Sunday was no time to talk politics, whereupon Dunn responded that he could whip Ernschaw or any man in the crowd. Robert Hardense took exception to this remark, when Dunn struck at him, but missed, and upon a second attempt Hardense drew a revolver and fired, the ball entering just above Dunn's right eye.
