

A LONG CHASE

The Hunt for the Canyon Diablo Train Robbers in Arizona and Utah—Two Weeks of Hard Riding, Battle and Capture of the Robbers—The Penalty in Arizona is Death.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 12.—The four Arizona robbers who arrived here Wednesday with four train-robbers in custody tell an interesting story of the long chase.

On March 21 an Atlantic & Pacific train was stopped at Canyon Diablo, Yavapai County, Ariz., for orders, when the robbers boarded the engine and persuaded the fireman—with revolvers—to order the express messenger to open his car. This was done. The robbers then broke open the strong box, and after securing all the money in it, struck south towards the Tonto Basin, and proceeded as far in that direction as Sunset Mountain, when they loaded for Utah.

Sheriff O'Neil of Yavapai County was at once notified, and with Special Agent Holton, Deputy Sheriff James L. Black and Ed St. Clair, started in pursuit. They trailed the robbers nearly three hundred miles north from the line of the road through as wild and desolate a country as can be found in the West.

It was a dangerous trip, too, for the region is infested with desperadoes, whose sympathies were all with the pursued party. At last, after a hard journey of three hundred miles, crossing the Little and the main Colorado, and over high mountains and parched plains, during which the officers suffered many privations, the robbers were sighted on April 1, nearly two weeks after the robbery, in Wahweave Canyon, about forty miles east of Canonville, Utah. The officers called on the men to surrender and were met with a volley from the robbers with which they were well armed. The country being heavily timbered, both parties were well protected.

A battle ensued, during which one of the robbers had his right arm shot from his belt; another had a bullet through his hat, and one of their horses was killed. After about fifty shots had been exchanged, the robbers concluded it was getting too warm for them, and leaving their horses, they fled in a westerly direction. The chase is covered with a dense growth of underbrush, which made pursuit very difficult, but the officers persisted, and soon overhauled Bill Stinson, a noted desperado, probably the leader of the gang.

Next day Charles Clark and Ed St. Clair were captured, and on April 4 James Quinn was captured in. The officers had now succeeded in their object, but another difficulty presented itself. To return with their prisoners over the mountains they had to make a small-scale undertaking, and after considerable effort it was decided to press on to Milford, and then go to Denver by way of Salt Lake, and take the Santa Fe road to Provo.

It is not known even by the officers, just how much money was stolen, but that found on the men, together with what has been accounted for, amounts to over $1000. On the way up one of the prisoners made full confession, so that there is not the slightest doubt that the right parties have been captured.

A funny incident is related in connection with an attempt made by the citizens of Canonville to arrest the men. Shortly before the arrival of the officers, eight armed men, with a small array of followers, undertook this job. The robbers waited quietly until the citizens were near enough, when they suddenly covered them with their guns and made them stack their arms and depart. All of the prisoners were well-educated, and Smith claims to be the son of a famous minister. Officer Holton said he formerly knew Stinson in New Mexico, where he trained with a hard gang, and was generally considered bad. All the robbers are under thirty years of age. They were quite polite when they came to the station, and showed signs of realizing their position now, and show signs of drooping. Train-robbery was made a capital offense by the last Arizona Legislature, and as court sessions on May 1, they are in a fair way to reach the reward which their villainy merits.

AN IMPOSING FUNERAL

White People and Black Turn out to Do Honor to the Memory of Lewis Hayden.

BOSTON, April 12.—Probably no colored man who has passed away in Boston has been honored with a more imposing demonstration of respect and esteem than that which took place in connection with the funeral of Mr. Lewis Hayden at the Charles-street African Methodist Episcopal Church. The initial exercises consisted of a private service at the residence. A procession was then formed, comprising the following organizations: First, the Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Masons and subordinate lodges; Lewis Hayden Commandery; several divisions of Knights of Pythias, under command of Brigadier-General S. H. Riley; the Fraternal Association; Wendell Phillips Club; Robert G. Shaw Veteran Association, and colored citizens in a body. All the surrounding space about the church was thronged with people of all classes, and it was found impossible to admit to the church more than a fraction of those who desired to enter. On a platform near the pulpit prominent participants in the service, including Governor Ames, William Lloyd Garrison, Dr. H. L. Bonditch, Edward Douglass, George Washington, Rev. J. T. Ender, Rev. Theo. Gould and Lewis Stone were also present, with Hon. H. F. Bird, Mayor O'Brien and other gentlemen.

THE PRESIDENT'S SON ARRESTED

NEW YORK, April 12.—Russell B. Harrison, son of the President, was arrested yesterday afternoon on an order issued in a civil suit for damages for alleged libel, the prosecutor being Ex-Governor Crosby, of Montana. Stephen B. Eldins and W. J. Arkell furnished the required bond of $5000 for Mr. Harrison's release on bail. The alleged libel was published in Mr. Harrison's Montana paper, and consisted of a story that stolen jewels were found in the possession of Mr. Crosby. The amount sued for is $100,000.

Afloat on a Wreck

NEW YORK, April 12.—The Mallory Line steamer San Antonio, which arrived here yesterday, reports that on Sunday, about twenty-five miles north of Frying-Pan Light-ship, she overhauled a wreck on which were five men, who made known their desire to be taken off, but the sea was so high that the steamer could do nothing but cruise around until the waves abated.

Her Maiden Trip

NEW YORK, April 12.—The new Inman Line steamship City of Paris which arrived yesterday morning made the passage from Queenstown in 10 days 15 hours and 35 minutes. This was her first trip, despite the fact that she was propelled by two screws instead of one, as is the case in all previously-built ocean liners, she did not exceed the Camardier Express's time—the best record for a trans-Atlantic passage of 6 days, 1 hour and 35 minutes.

The City of Paris Delayed

The City of Paris was delayed by rough weather and high head seas, and her agents are confident that her return trip will beat the Euraria's record.

CAN CROSS THE COUNTRY

Settlers Desired For Oklahoma Given Permission to Cross the Cherokee Outlet.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—In answer to an inquiry from the Secretary of War on behalf of a large number of persons contemplating settlement in Oklahoma, as to whether permission should be given these intending settlers to cross the Cherokee outlet to the northern line of Oklahoma before April 22, the date upon which the president's proclamation opening the Territory goes into effect, the Secretary of the Interior has replied, in part, as follows: "I think they may be allowed to cross without extraordinary delay, and I therefore recommend that you instruct your commanding officers to place no obstruction in the way of persons who desire to journey in good faith, in a quiet, peaceful and orderly manner, upon and along the public highways, post or military roads, or established and customary cattle trails, through the Cherokee Outlet, and to permit the use of the tract of land to be opened for settlement. But there should be a military patrol upon the road or roads that are to be taken, that shall prevent the settlers from staying longer than necessary on the way and require them to move on, making only the ordinary camps that may be necessary for their crossing. There should be every care taken to have the Indians understand that by this passage there is no disposition to appropriate their land and that it will be continued no longer than absolutely necessary, after the first migration to the Oklahoma country is over. The military force should then secure the Cherokee outlet and require all persons unlawfully there to move on, either back to Kansas or over into the Oklahoma lands."

The Secretary in another part of the letter says he deems that the settlers are entitled to as much consideration as had been given to cattlemen and others heretofore who have been permitted to travel upon the outlet, and a higher regard to the outlet. It is urged upon the Secretary among other reasons for granting this permit that the settlers coming through the Chickasaw and other Indian lands are gathering on the immediate borders of the outlet, and that without restriction, thus putting those in Kansas who must pass through the Cherokee outlet, at a disadvantage. No movement will be allowed under this permit until full authority and instructions shall have been received from the military having charge of the matter.

RINGO'S REMORSE

The Base-Ball Catcher Attempts Suicide After a Drunken and Protracted Spree.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12.—Frank Ringo, the base-ball catcher, made desperate attempts to commit suicide yesterday afternoon at three o'clock by taking morphine at his residence, 1214 Virginia avenue. At three o'clock this morning, just twelve hours after he had taken the terrible narcotic, Dr. Lawson, of the city, called on him, and he was found in a state of unconsciousness. Ringo signed to catch with the Kansas City club and reported here for duty about the middle of March. For several months prior to that time he had not touched whisky, of which he is an inveterate drinker, and as he resumed practice he began drinking, and for the past two weeks has been on a terrible spree. Ringo was married on the first of last January to Miss Emma Williams, of Fort Scott, Kan. Two weeks ago Ringo's aunt's husband, E. S. Samuel, a prominent commission merchant of St. Louis, threw himself from the bridge over the river at Nashville, Tenn., and was drowned. Liquor in this case also was the cause of the act. Mr. Samuel having repeatedly endeavored to free himself from the curse, but in vain.

THE CZAR WOUNDED

Extensive Rumors of the Attempted Assassination of the Czar.

VIENNA, April 12.—The bourgeois here and in Berlin are greatly agitated because of the rumor of a recent attempt upon the life of the Czar at Gatchina. These rumors are not confirmed, although it is stated that an officer in command of the Czar's body guard has been wounded by the explosion of a dynamite bomb.

THE RUMOR IN PARIS

PARIS, April 12.—A rumor prevails on the Bourse that an attempt had been made on the life of the Czar, but no confirmation of the rumor had been received in any quarter in Paris, which would be likely to be promptly informed in case of an attempt.

WOUNDED BY A SHELL

REHARVEST, April 12.—It is rumored here that an attempt was made on Sunday to assassinate the Czar and that he was in fact wounded by the explosion of a shell. The most strenuous efforts are being made at St. Petersburg to suppress the facts.

CANADAY'S COMPANY

General Mahone and Senator Jones Sue Canada on Charges of Fraud.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—General Mahone, Senator Jones, of Nevada, and others have brought suit against W. E. Canaday, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, ex-Congressman Russell, of North Carolina, and E. R. Erick, formerly postmaster at Wilmington, in connection with the operations of the Wilmington Cressett and Lumber Company. All the parties are stockholders and the company was organized by the bill that fraudulent issues of the stock were made and the proceeds converted for private use. A receiver is asked for and an injunction against any further issue of stock. The suit is brought in the United States circuit court at Raleigh, N. C. While not so stated in the bill it is said that General Mahone and Senator Jones dropped about $15,000 each and Don Cameron about $12,000 in the enterprise. The bill makes a direct charge of fraud and conspiracy.

The Private Car Missing

CHICAGO, April 12.—Three handsome cloth-covered caskets at Mercy Hospital tell their own sad story. They contain the bodies of three victims of the Santa Fe disaster last Tuesday at Lorenzo. They are those of Mrs. J. F. Hart, her son, and her niece, Miss Alice Winslow, all of Brookline, Mass. Miss Winslow and Master Hart were killed outright. Mrs. Hart lived until yesterday morning, when her sufferings were ended. Friends from all over the city will be here to take charge of the bodies. Mr. Hart is still in a critical condition. He is delirious from the shock. Mr. Lamb, of Boston, and P. M. Palmer, the brakeman, are resting quietly and the doctors say they are out of danger.

Mother and Five Children Burned

CLAYTON, Ga., April 12.—The residence of W. F. Woods, two miles north of Clayton on the Franklin road, was consumed by fire Wednesday night after midnight, and with it his wife and five children. The fire is supposed to have caught from burning leaves near the end of the yard, set on fire the day previous. From the location of the partially consumed bodies of the five children it is thought they were burned while on the bed, just in the position in which they were sleeping. What remained of the body of the mother was found midway between her bed and the door near the middle of the house. The oldest child was aged eight and the youngest about two years.

FARMHOUSE TRAGEDY

Jacob Schaler Murders His Mistress and Takes His Own Life.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 12.—In Raymond's undertaking establishment there lies the body of Jacob Schaler. The bullet hole through his neck tells the story of the tragedy that occurred at the residence of both. In a little farm house, located four miles west of Kansas City, Kan., on the line of the Northwestern road and very near the track of that line, lie the remains of Mrs. Wilhelmina Seidrich, who was last seen alive last Friday afternoon.

When the report of a suicide and murder first reached the coroner yesterday afternoon a reporter went to the scene of the crime and ascertained facts leading up to the tragic deaths.

It appears that Mrs. Seidrich, a widow, owned a farm about six miles across the line of the Northwestern road, four miles directly west of this place. Between it and the houses of neighbors lie plateaus and wooded sections of land, and on this account but few people visited them. It was on the farm that Mrs. Seidrich was seen working about the house by children of a neighbor living a mile away. That was the last time she was seen alive. During Friday night, all day Saturday, all day Sunday and up to yesterday morning the cattle belonging to the farm were heard lowing, but not until noon did the neighbors consider an investigation necessary. As two of the farmers approached the house the cattle rushed toward them lowing and apparently in pain. One of them was unable to move his horse and a pistol, which he had taken from the house, was used to force him to the door. A bullet hole through her left breast and another through the stomach told the terrible method of her taking off. The terrible odor of decomposition had been in the air for some time. She had committed the crime on the morning of Friday, April 11, when she was fifty-five years old, and had been employed as a farm hand by the widow. Her body lay on the floor, her hands hanging from the ceiling, while the bullet hole in her back and a revolver near her outstretched hand made it almost certain that he had first killed the widow and then himself.

The neighbors were very reticent when questioned concerning the relations of the only two children, a son and a daughter, then purchased the little farm near Brant, Mo. After living there for some time, it is said that Miller hung himself. Mrs. Miller afterward married Seidrich and they lived together for several years before Seidrich's wife is said to have been due to a mistake in taking the physician's medicines too frequently.

About six years ago Mrs. Seidrich had a man named Potwin tending her farm. Schaler, who was forty-five years old, came to her in the fall of 1900, and Potwin was discharged. Schaler had lived in the same house with the old lady ever since that time, and had managed the little farm for a share of the proceeds. It is said by the neighbors that they frequently had quarrels over time matters, but nothing serious had occurred. When asked if the couple had been living together as husband and wife the neighbors had little to say, but the son, Adolph Miller, was quite emphatic in asserting that no such relations had existed between the two. Schaler had simply lived in the house as his mother's hired man. The son added that he was addicted to drink and frequently went on sprees that lasted for a week. The neighbors also said that Schaler had been drunk a great deal lately.

THE HOUSE IN WHICH THE TRAGEDY OCCURRED

The house in which the tragedy occurred about twenty-one years ago. It is said that a family moved into the house when it was built, and after living there for some years the neighbors discovered the dead bodies of the man and his wife. The theory was at that time that it was a case of murder and suicide, but the oldest residents of the locality could not recollect the names.

THE ART SMUGGLERS

NEW YORK, April 12.—Treasury Agent Simmons and his assistants spent several hours yesterday morning in the art rooms of Allyn & Son, on the east side, where art-smuggling operations have kept the custom house officers busy of late, but what the search revealed Simmons refused to state. That there have been important developments in the case of late is, however, clear, for the case is being dragged against Allyn & Son as the investigation proceeds, and he deplores the fact that none of the firm are within reach of the United States law. It will be weeks before the case is fully investigated.

MINNEAPOLIS MILLS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 12.—The Northern Miller says: "There is another slight decrease in the flour output last week, partly due to the head of water not being as good as most of the mills could use and partly to the fact that some of them ran only three days. The aggregate production for the week was 1,000,000 barrels, averaging 14,891 barrels, against 9,870 barrels the week before and 131,400 barrels for the corresponding time in 1898. The present week will probably make a better showing."

A Distinguished English

NEW YORK, April 12.—Thomas McCarthy, one of the planners of the Manhattan Bank burglary and who afterwards held up a train near Troy, for which he served seven years' imprisonment, was yesterday in London, where he is expected to remain for a long time.

LITERARY LITTER

Mrs. BURSETTE took a week to decide upon the name "Fanny" for her story. A new magazine for the blind, in raised Braille type, is about to be started in London. Folio for the blind, which will contain literary material of the highest quality. The young Princess of Wales, Princess Christian and Princess Louise, are frequent contributors of magazines, but the best literary magazine, says an English journal, is due by the Princess Christian.

To a correspondent who wrote to Whittier asking if the words often attributed to him, "Identify yourself in youth with some righteous, unpopular cause," were quoted correctly, he replied: "I am not sure whether the quotation is among my writings, but I fully endorse it. The truth I know by my own experience and that of my many friends. We have all had reason to thank God for the privilege of advocating unpopular truth."

AN OPEN QUESTION

Is Harrison a Descendant of Pocahontas? It is popularly believed that President Harrison is descended from Pocahontas and from the partisan military soldier and regicide General Thomas Harrison, who was executed in 1690.

Pocahontas, daughter of Powhatan, manifested a friendliness for the early white settlers of Virginia when she was but a girl. The story of how she saved the life of Captain John Smith, who had been captured and condemned to death by her father—how she, on several occasions, made known to the settlers their danger when about to be attacked—is well known to all acquainted with the early history of America. Her subsequent marriage with John Rolfe, an Englishman—her removal to England where a son was born, from whom numerous wealthy families of Virginia claim descent—is the basis of the opinion that President Harrison is one of her descendants.

Whether this be true or not it is, however, well-known that President Harrison is a descendant of a noted family, distinguished in the history of the United States. The election of another descendant of Harrison is already indelibly written upon the pages of American history, for General William Henry Harrison—the ninth President of the United States—was the grandfather of General Ben. Harrison. The election of another descendant of Harrison family is but another proof of the prevailing disposition of the public to return to healthy administration of public affairs so characteristic of the earlier years of the republic.

It Takes Days when food assimilation is so common, it is a comfort to find an article for the table that is thoroughly reliable. Walter Baker & Co's breakfast cocoa is eminent in this limited class. No chemicals are used in its manufacture and it is absolutely pure. It forms moreover a delicious and healthful drink, as refreshing as any nutritious, than tea or coffee, and free from the injurious effects that these beverages sometimes produce. And it is very cheap. The house of Walter Baker & Co. has maintained for more than 100 years a great and honored reputation for the excellence and purity of its manufactures.
