

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

Its powder never varies. Marvel of pure strength and wholesomeness, more economical than the ordinary kind, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitudes of low test short light alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 105 Wall street, N. Y. city.

FARM LOANS.

I have the agency for ten different loan companies, and can give you the benefit of any of their peculiar plans of making farm loans. Therefore I can make a farm loan quicker and at lower rates than any other agent in Webster county. I make option loans or straight loans for 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, or 7 years, also on first class city property. Compare my terms before placing your farm loan, and save money and regrets. G. W. BAKER, Rear Red Cloud Nat'l Bank.

What has become of "Riverside Park?" It is certainly one of the finest places in the state for a summer resort. Some enterprising citizen should look after it.
At the close of the kindergarden school last Friday, Mrs. Myers gave the children a fine entertainment in Mr. Altschuler's yard, in the shape of a picnic. The little folks enjoyed it hugely.
As predicted in our last issue, Mr. Moon has decided to lift the agricultural society's indebtedness, and will try and put it on its feet. It is a good move and should be commended by the people.
Our old friend, Nelson Cone, of Guide Rock, with his pleasant face and beaming countenance was upon our streets Monday. He is one of THE CHIEF'S staunch supporters and never fails to make us smile when in the city. He is a successful farmer and business man, and a good citizen. Come again Mr. C.
Several of the circus toughs tried their sharp games on our people, but they did not get in their work. Marshal Shinkle gave one a degree in the cooler, and ordered several others to take a run or they would be served in a like manner. Marshal Shinkle don't believe in foolishness, and is just about the size that can back up what he says. Good.
The more a newspaper man exerts his ability to please a whimpering public; the more good he does for the town the more he is criticised. Speaking of this a writer said: "The man who can run a newspaper without being criticised, censured, and threatened has never been found. He is a barred ideal, beautiful to think about, but incapable of taking on mortality and associating with vulgar humanity. It is as impossible for a newspaper man to please everybody as it is for everybody to please him, and the sooner he makes up his mind to this stubborn fact, the better for everybody concerned. If he works hard for public good, he receives private censure, if he compliments merit, he is censured by jealous demerit; if he approves morality, he is cursed by immorality; if he tries to be fair, he is censured by the unfair; if he makes a mistake, few are found to overlook it, or apologize for him. No matter how good his motive may be, how innocent his purpose or how studied his writings, he is picked to pieces, misrepresented, maligned, ridiculed, sometimes licked and seldom ever defended. He works from twelve to fifteen hours per day for a bare living, while other men get rich around him. He works up a marriage notice a yard long to a queen's taste for nothing, and is threatened with a libel suit, or a duel, if he records a drunken spree of the groom six months afterwards. Yes, it is impossible, we repeat, for a newspaper man to please everybody. As well attempt to chain the wind or stop the furious lightning."—Ex.

The Johnstown sufferers.
Red Cloud's charitably inclined people should call a meeting for the purpose of raising funds, clothing, provisions, etc., for the sufferers. The Mayor should call a meeting at once for that purpose. If there is a worthy object to lead a helping, this is one. Call a meeting by all means Mr. Mayor.
Crinkalaw Acquitted.
The second murder trial at this term of the district court, in Hastings, was begun this morning, and an end was reached tonight, by a second verdict of acquittal. On the 2d of last November, near midnight, two gamblers, generally regarded as disreputable characters, David Crinkalaw, alias Ed Hawkins, "The Kid," and Frank Fangler, who "had it in for each other," met in a saloon on the south side of the city, and after exchanging a few abusive words drew guns and opened fire on each other for blood. Several shots were exchanged. Everybody but combatants fled the room during the melee, and when the smoke cleared away Fangler lay stiff and dead, and his adversary untouched. The latter delivered himself to officers of justice, gave bail and fled the country. His whereabouts being discovered, he was brought back a few days ago to stand trial. It seemed to be a clear case of self defense, witnesses were scarce, and the case was soon passed into the hands of the jury. They hung for two or three hours, exciting the gravest fears of the defense, but they came in, finally, and rendered a verdict of acquittal.—Omaha Bee.
That Circus.
That one-horse "circus" that gave a show here on last Saturday, was a genuine thin institution. The word "circus" applied to that "slim Jim affair" is certainly a misnomer. People traveling over the country with an entertainment of that kind are certainly taking liberties with the people that they have no right to. However, a fellow "pays his money and takes his choice," but "chaw us" if we want any of that in our editorial stomach, but then we understand many of our leading citizens were unsuspectingly taken in and in turn heartily grinned at by the showmen who get their money and gave them an entertainment that was perfectly delightful (?) we are told.
Wife and Children Drowned.
Dennis Downey, a farmer living near Coles, Neb., passed through Omaha yesterday enroute to Johnstown, Pa. Downey believes that his wife is one of the lost in the recent horror. She left home two weeks ago to visit her mother in the doomed city, taking with her a small boy of 5 years. Two other children were left at home. Downey is almost heart-broken over the matter and has given up all hope, as the dispatches yesterday morning in the Johnstown list of the dead contained the name of Mrs. Mary Downey, who he says is beyond doubt his wife. The children are unaccounted for.—Omaha Republican.
Vance-Newhouse.
On last Monday afternoon, Miss Carrie Newhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newhouse, was united in marriage to Mr. Lou Vance of McCook, Rev. Geo. O. Yeiser officiating. It was a very pleasant event, and the young couple were the recipients of many costly presents. They departed on the afternoon train for McCook, where their future home will be. THE CHIEF wishes them much joy, and a life of happiness.
A New Serial.
With this issue of THE CHIEF we commence a new continued story entitled "A Moment of Anger" by that popular author, Robert Howe. It is said to be one of the finest and most interesting stories yet written. Lovers of good stories should not fail to commence with the first number of "A Moment of Anger." Extra copies can be had at this office.
Who Are They?
Messrs D. Caler, Yuser, and Kirkwood came down from Red Cloud Friday morning to spend the day and taste Superior's wonderful "selzer water," and after spending a very pleasant day and evening, they departed for their respective home.—Head-light.

A HAPPY EVENT.
The Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Knight, Daily Observed.
On Wednesday afternoon one of the most pleasant social events of the season occurred at the residence of our esteemed friends, G. W. Knight and wife, of Inavale, at which time and place, occurred the 30th wedding anniversary of this well-known and highly respected couple. A large number of intimate friends and invited guests were present, and the afternoon was spent in social chat, games, singing, and the like, every guest being determined to out-do the others in joviality and pleasure. At a proper time the happy bride and groom of thirty summers were brought forth, and Rev. Col. Moore, in a few well directed and witty remarks went through with an improvised marriage ceremony of his own make, and calculated to be decidedly binding if followed up according to the Elder's directions, after a few little pleasantness of that kind that were fully appreciated, Rev. Col. Moore gave the host and hostess a nice talk and congratulated them on their successful journey through life, all the guests warmly joining in the congratulations. After the address, Mrs. Knight was called, and in her usual happy manner said: "You all know that it is customary on such occasions to say 'our hearts are too full for utterance,' but that is not the case with me. It is said of me by my friends that I am never embarrassed, and I can talk a little [applause] and I take this method of thanking my friends for the presents before me." Mr. Knight followed in a few well chosen remarks, thanking one and all for the numerous presents.
After the ceremony had been finished the large number of guests were invited to partake of a bountiful repast, the tables of which bore the burden were positively laden with all of the good things that delight the inner-man and make the mouth of the epicurean water with envy, at the luxuriansness thereof. All did their duty in demolishing the good things, and especially our reporter, who kept quiet and "filled up" while the others with less experience talked. Dinner past the hour had arrived for the guests to return home and after hearty congratulations and wishes for happy returns of the occasion the guests departed for their various homes well pleased at the grand entertainment given them by Mr. and Mrs. Knight. May their pathway during the balance of life be strewn with choicest roses and many blessings. The following is a list of the numerous presents: Lap robe, H. E. Pond and J. L. Miller. Berry dish, Mrs. A. L. Funk and Mrs. A. C. Hosner. Pickle castor, Miss May Hummel, A. Arneson and wife. Fan, Mrs. Holdrege. Cake dish, Mesdames Miller and Grice, West and Myers. Vases and Pearl Knives, D. G. Groats and wife. Hand made lace, Mrs. P. Eddy. A fine plush sofa, L. Olmstead and wife, H. G. Sawyer and wife, O. B. Harvey and wife, R. R. Pitney and wife, Jas. Vance and wife, Wm. Irons and wife, Chas. Hunter and wife, M. Lester and wife, S. W. Hall and wife, H. H. Holdrege and wife, W. F. Fulton and wife, A. J. Hartwell and wife, C. L. Eddy and wife, Jas. Broomfield and wife, L. H. Hummel and wife, E. Vandye and wife, C. Vandye and wife, C. W. Daggett and wife, Wm. Orchard and wife, Mrs. Wolcott, Mr. Ladd and wife, D. Judson and wife. White velvet banner, Mr. Keeler and wife. Chair scarf, M. B. Mc Nitt and wife. Oil painting (8), Mrs. Turkington. Bread dish, Mrs. Funk and Bartis.
Messrs Price and Smith, representing themselves principally and several others in the abstract, entered our most dread abode one day this week, with hair ruffled and temper at a slant of 45 degrees, greatly agitated over an article said to fit them somewhat snugly, published in last week's CHIEF. The young men bristled porcupinish like, and invoked all sorts of bad things on our editorial head even to procuring an almanac for our edification, (of which we presume they had a large stock on hand) if we persisted in touching them up, but the managing editor declined the proffered aid, believing always that it is much better to deal in facts, and therefore prefer to give benefits to those who need them. If the shoe fits, they have our permission to wear it, otherwise forever hold their peace, for we shall do just about as we please in the matter, without regard to "Price" etc.
J. L. Kaley, was 36 years old on Monday, and in relating it to our reporter never dreamed that his good wife was at the same time preparing to give him a surprise party in honor of the event. Jake never "smelled the mice" but after finishing his repast strolled down to the center of business, and while there the Red Cloud legal fraternity dropped into his handsome residence, and there awaited his arrival. In a few minutes he came and a more surprised man never studied law in Red Cloud. Jake tumbled, and from that on a general good time was the result.

Four volumes of the last census have been placed in the Y. M. C. A. library, sent here at the request of Senator Van Wyck. Volume 17, "Waterpower," and volume 22, "Power and machinery," contain many things of interest to machinists. Volume 17 gives the estimated volume and horse-power of the Republic at this point, cubic feet per second, 730; horse-power, 10 feet head, 830. It also tells how a dam was built at Clay Center that holds its own against this raging stream.

The gypsies have folded their tents and skipped out much richer than when they came. Our people, that is a large number of them, were fool'sh enough to pay them their good hard money in lieu of having their fortunes told. There is about as much merit in their ability to cast the future of man, as there is hope of a peaceful tranquility in hades—of which there is but a slight chance.
Is Consumption Incurable.
Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says:—"Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."
Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says:—"Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Trouble. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at Henry Cook's drugstore. 5
